ETHIOPIA BACKS UP OIL DEAL

LENIENCY PUTS 412 CRIMINALS BACK ON STREET

Gain Paroles, but Fail to Reform.

Parole and probation have added 412 male criminals to Chicago's population in the last five months, according to a survey completed yesterday by the Chicago Crime commission. After two men who had been on probation, Edward Ryder and John Slattery, participated on Aug. 23 in a holdup of the Hickory Hills Golf club, in which a watchman was killed, the crime commission resolved to investigate Illinois parole and probation records to determine how many convicts failed to reform after receiving these forms of clemency.

The astonishing number of escapes from the St. Charles School for Boys, to which youthful criminals are sentenced, also aroused the crime commission. When a young man commits his first crime the criminal population is increased by one, the commission holds, unless that offender is placed in a penal institution.

An Even Tug of War.

Rudolph Dvorak, acting director of the commission, said the number of convicts being shipped from Cook county to various state prisons just about balances the number of those released at the expiration of their sentences. Chicago's police and courts are keeping even with crime, he asserted, but parole and probation put men on the streets who are branded criminals and who are free to roam the city at will, robbing or murdering at random.

Last April the crime commission prepared a list of 205 criminal repeaters who had been indicted in the period between Oct. 1, 1934, and March 31, 1935, nearly all of whom had been shown leniency by the authorities after previous crimes. Yesterday's list supplements that one and it shows that in addition to Ryder and Slattery, who were indicted on Thursday, 76 others whose previous crimes were regarded with tolerance by judges or parole officials have been indicted in the last five months.

Grim Series of Repetitions.

Of the 76, it was disclosed that 50 were granted probation by Criminal court judges. Of the 50, there were 6 whose sentences were shortened by parole on second or subsequent convictions. There were 26 parolees who were among those back again in the Criminal court on new charges of murder, robbery, burglary, rape and other heinous offenses.

George T. Scully, state superintendent of supervision of parolees, found in his records that since April 1 there have been 236 men paroled from the Joliet and Stateville prisons and 175 from Pontiac reformatory, a total of 411 sent back into district No. 1, which is the Chicago territory. The adult probation department records revealed that 149 men and 10 women had been granted probation by judges of the Criminal court in Cook county since April 1.

Total of 600 Gain Liberty.

According to the crime commission, the release of the 411 male parolees and the 149 male probationers, plus the escape of an undetermined number of prisoners, loosed upon the streets of Chicago some 600 enemies of society. The escapes included that of the notorious Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, killer and robber, who placidly strolled out of Joliet penitentiary.

The 411 parolees and 149 probationers make 560 convicts who regained freedom in accordance with the form of the law. This total was reduced to 412 by the reincarceration of 158 parolees and probationers during the five months studied.

Paroles revoked	89
Probations canceled	10
Resentenced to prison	53
Sentenced to Bridewell	6
Total	158

Moreover, according to Parole Superintendent Scully, there are now outstanding 129 warrants for the arrest of parole violators.

High Percentage Guilty Again.

Of the 560 men set free by parole or probation since April 1, Mr. Dvorak reports 76 have been indicted again. Fifty-three of these 76 again were sentenced to prison, among them 29 who were, or had been, on

HITLER DEFIED BY CARDINALS IN PASTORAL NOTE

'Obey God, Not Men,' Catholics Told.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Pictures on Page 12.)

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The Roman Catholic church threw down the gauntlet to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today. In all churches of the 23,000,000 Catholics of Germany the priests read the pastoral letter of the three cardinals and twenty-three archbishops, bishops, and other prelates. It was written in the cathedral at Fulda beside the relics of St. Boniface, the Devonshire monk who converted the German heathens to Christianity.

The wording of the letter was mild, but its implications represent the strongest criticism of Naziism voiced to date in the name of Christianity.

The bishops announced that they have sent a memorandum to Hitler warning him of "the danger of abuse of power and other interference and oppression of the Christian conscience."

Fear Vatican Interdict.

"We are anxious for the sake of our church," the pastoral letter declared, "but we are in still greater anxiety for the sake of the fatherland. Our church vanquished the old heathens and will not be upset by the new heathenism, but it is possible to remove the light of faith from countries which fail us in this hour."

This threat sounded ominous to the millions of Catholics who are terrified lest the Vatican enforce an interdict to break off relations with Germany.

"The number of enemies of the faith have become legion," and though they have divided themselves, the letter said, they have united in their determination to "undermine the foundations of the church while in all earlier religious struggles only minor tenets of the faith were involved."

Catholics are asked to refrain from reading newspapers and books or attending meetings in which the Catholic faith is besmirched and blasphemy is rampant.

Bemoan Gag on Press.

The pastoral letter bemoans the loss of freedom of the press, "which is restricted to such an extent that the formerly Catholic papers may no longer print religious articles, and, on the other hand, sometimes are coerced into printing articles which do not harmonize with the Catholic faith."

The bishops warn the Nazis that "the work of renewal of the nation cannot succeed if it is based on human opinions. We can see in other countries to what depths the populations sink when they have no faith in God," said the bishops, referring to Russia.

The bishops deem true respect for God's ten commandments sufficient moral guarantee for nations and criticize racial theories and other similar Nazi laws. "If the laws of the state are in contradiction to those of the nation and to God's commandments, then God's word must be heeded by the faithful. We are against the violation of state laws which are just, but we are against those who forgive everything done by their party comrades and who cover up everything party comrades do with a mantle of silence, while the sins of this or that Catholic are blamed on all Catholics of Germany.

Reject Political Ambitions.

With the utmost energy the bishops rejected the accusations that they have political ambitions. "There is lots of talk in official Germany against 'political Catholicism,' but there is little talk of politicians who interfere in church matters. There is a danger that the slogan 'political Catholicism' will make some official elements believe they can do as they please, forbidding processions and the ringing of church bells, and arresting nuns and monks without legal investigations. This is in open contradiction to the concordat."

"Hold fast in the faith when some say to you, 'Religion has nothing to do with politics and therefore political Catholicism must be exterminated,'" the letter asserted.

The Christian family must protect itself, the church fathers declare, telling mothers that they must teach the gospel to their children when schools forbid the reading of the Old Testament.

The Nazis insist that the entire youth of the country must belong to the Hitler Youth. "It is your holy duty," the bishops informed Catholics, "to send your children only into organizations which respect religion."

PLANE CRASHES IN FLAMES AND THREE ARE KILLED

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A Western Air Express transport plane, carrying a pilot, co-pilot, and stewardess, crashed and burned a few minutes after taking off from Union air terminal at 11 o'clock tonight.

The bodies of Pilot George Sherwood, Co-Pilot Fred Burlew, and Stewardess Donna Laylor were in the flaming fuselage as Burbank firemen arrived on the scene.

Western Air Express Operations department said the plane made a perfect takeoff, but went into a nose dive soon after it cleared the airport. It struck the ground with terrific impact, jarring the neighborhood near Empire street and Hollywood way, Burbank.

No passengers were in the plane. Weather conditions had been reported "fair" with overcast skies and some fog near the airport, but flying conditions eastward were excellent. The plane was a tri-motored Boeing craft.

Ickes Hastens Home to Await Body of Wife

CRASH PHOTOS.

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes will arrive in Chicago from Washington today to await the body of his wife, Mrs. Anna Wilmarth Ickes, who was killed Saturday afternoon in an automobile accident near Velarde, N. M. Mrs. Ickes' body will arrive tomorrow morning from Santa Fe, N. M.

The funeral will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow afternoon at the family home, 900 Private road, Winnetka, according to tentative arrangements made by Mrs. Ickes' daughter, Mrs. W. ReQua Bryant, 1137 Oak avenue, Evanston. The Rev. E. Ashley Gerhard, pastor of Christ Episcopal church, Winnetka, will officiate. Interment will be private at Graceland cemetery.

Mrs. Roosevelt to Attend.

Among those expected to attend the funeral are Mrs. Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, wife of the President; Gov. Henry Horner of Illinois, delegations from the state legislature, where Mrs. Ickes served three terms, and many others high in public life.

Mrs. Roosevelt, at Hyde Park, N. Y., yesterday canceled a planned picnic for the presidential party and newspaper men and announced that she would reach Chicago tomorrow in time for the services in the afternoon. The President telephoned his condolences to Mr. Ickes Saturday night.

Accompanying Secretary Ickes from the capital, where he was notified of his wife's death Saturday night, are Mrs. Ruth Hampton of Washington, for many years a friend of the family; William H. McCrillis, a Public Works administration official, and a secretary. Chicago friends were advised that Mr. Ickes wished no friends or relatives to meet him at the train. He plans to go into retirement at the University club for several hours after his arrival.

Condition of 3 Others Serious.

The condition of the three persons injured in the accident that caused Mrs. Ickes' death was still serious yesterday, according to reports from St. Vincent's hospital in Santa Fe, where all were taken. They are Mrs. Genevieve Forbes Herrick, noted newspaper writer who was formerly a member of THE TRIBUNE staf; Ibrahim Seyfullah, secretary of the Turkish embassy in Washington, and Frank Allen of Gallup, N. M.

Mrs. Herrick, it was said, suffered a fractured pelvis, but will recover. The injuries of Seyfullah and Allen, the latter driver of the car, were more severe, the physicians stated, than those of Mrs. Herrick. The diplomat, possibly, has internal injuries and Allen a skull fracture.

Diplomat Tells of Crash.

New Mexico state police officials were told by Seyfullah that Allen was driving about 60 miles an hour and was attempting to pass another car on the narrow highway when his automobile skidded on the sandy road shoulder and rolled into a ditch, overturning several times.

Whether Allen's car struck the other before skidding was not determined, and a coroner's jury at Espanola, a village near the scene of the accident, was unable to fix responsibility for the accident.

PROBLEM OF CALLING DAUGHTER SOLVED; SHE CARRIES RADIO

Schenectady, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—No matter where 5 year old Jean Darlington goes she can talk with her daddy. And no matter where she is, her mother can call her home to supper.

Radio is the answer. Jean's father is a radio-acoustical engineer. When Jean goes out to play she draws a little rubber tired wagon on which is mounted a combination radio receiver with loud speaker tuned to the wave length of Papa Darlington's private experimental station.

When meal time comes there is no need for Jean's papa to start looking for her. He merely throws current into his microphone and broadcast tubes, and wherever Jean happens to be she hears her father say, "Come on home, Jean, it's time to eat."

AMPUTATE ARM OF ROY KEEHN AS RESULT OF CRASH

Roy D. Keehn, major general of militia, commanding officer of the Illinois National Guard, underwent the amputation of his right arm at the elbow in the Passavant hospital yesterday. The operation was performed by Dr. James T. Case to halt the spread of an infection which developed after Mr. Keehn was injured in an automobile accident last July 14 near Beulah, Wyo.

Reports of the amputation were confirmed last night by members of the family at the Keehn estate, Kenroka, North Telegraph road, Lake Forest. Hospital attendants said that Mr. Keehn rallied well from the operation.

Car Plows Into Family Group; Two Are Killed

Plowing into a family group as they crossed Cottage Grove avenue at 64th street last night, an automobile killed an 11 year old girl and her mother. Two sisters of the dead child were pushed to safety by the mother as she was struck down.

The driver of the automobile, Corless Isbell, 33 years old, colored, of 4833 Langley avenue, was arrested by the Woodlawn police after witnesses said he was driving in excess of forty miles an hour.

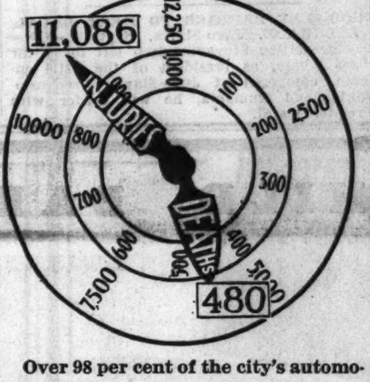
The girl killed was Eleanor Johnston. She died at the Woodlawn hospital a few minutes after the accident. Her death was followed by that of her mother, Mrs. Anna Johnston, 41 years old, of 632 East 88th place. The two other daughters of Mrs. Johnston, who were saved, are Norma, 9 years old, and Annabelle, 12.

Guiding Children Across Street.

The tragedy occurred as Mrs. Johnston was shepherding her three daughters from the northeast corner of Cottage Grove avenue and 64th street to the southbound street car safety island on the northwest corner.

THE MASSACRE

Chicago's 1935 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Isbell was driving north in Cottage Grove.

Seeing the speeding car approaching, Mrs. Johnston gave Norma and Annabelle a push, sending them out of danger. She was trying to shove Eleanor out of the way when the car struck.

The girl was hurled to the street, the impact fracturing her skull. The mother, who had no time to save herself, was struck squarely. Her body was tossed more than 50 feet.

Tragedy Ends Happy Day.

The accident brought a tragic end to a happy afternoon for the mother and her three children, whom she supports by working as a maid at the Illinois Central hospital. Mrs. Johnston and her husband, Albert, separated seven years ago. She had taken the children to a neighborhood theater and was returning to her home when the accident occurred.

The surviving girls were not informed of the death of their mother and sister. They are to be cared for by Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Storok, 547 East 91st place, an uncle and aunt.

Isbell, a mail carrier employed at the South Chicago postoffice, admitted that he was driving thirty miles an hour, although witnesses declared his speed was greater. Even thirty miles an hour, police said, was too fast for that intersection. Isbell was held for the inquest.

These deaths and four others, details of which are told on page 13 of this paper, brought the automobile death toll for 1935 in Cook county to 619. Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 480 persons had been killed in accidents within the Chicago city limits and 11,096 injured.

Champion Guzzler Leaves Hospital; Sets New Mark

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Emil [Feets] Cella drank half a gallon of beer in 17.2 seconds tonight and claimed a new record. It was the second time Cella had bettered the 32 seconds set at Milwaukee. His first feat—27.6 seconds—sent him to a hospital with a ruptured blood vessel in his stomach and put him on a milk diet for a week.

German Is Awarded $1,200 to Perfect His Bicycle Plane

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The Frankfurt Polytechnical society today awarded $1,200 as a consolation prize to Rudolf Duennbell to help him and associate engineers perfect his bicycle plane. Duennbell on Friday flew his contraption 774 feet at an altitude of 3 feet. He propelled the plane by the use of pedals.

[World Copyright: 1935: By The Associated Press.]

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 1.—Emperor Haile Selassie, citing Ethiopia's rights as a sovereign state, today said, "Surely the British government cannot interfere in a concession granted to the United States." The British yesterday advised the African emperor to "withhold" oil and mineral concessions granted Friday under a seventy-five year charter. The London foreign office said it considered such concessions a matter for preliminary consultations between the English, French, and Italian governments.

The conquering lion of Judah declared in an interview that he did not see why the concession granted to Americans should create international complications or involve the Anglo-Franco-Italian treaty of 1906.

"As a sovereign state we have the right to do anything we please in our own territory," he asserted.

U. S. Not Party to Treaty.

"The United States is not a party to the 1906 treaty in which England, France, and Italy merely pledge themselves to do nothing to encroach on the interests of others.

"This is one of the reasons I gave the concession to Standard Oil. As the agreement is already signed, sealed, and delivered, I do not see how it can be recalled if such a thing is suggested by the British government.

[Officials of the Standard Oil of New Jersey and of other Standard Oil units said they had no knowledge of the Ethiopian concession.]

"Surely the British government cannot interfere in a concession granted to the United States."

Rejects Being Puppet Prince.

Referring to a suggestion by George Bernard Shaw, noted British author-lecturer-playwright, that the "king of kings" should accept inevitable Italian conquest of his empire to save the league of nations and preserve world peace, the emperor said dramatically:

"I would rather kill myself, like Emperor Theodore sixty years ago, than become a puppet prince under the Italians.

"I would be unworthy of my great ancestors, beginning with Solomon, if I submitted to Italian vassalage. Nor can I, as sovereign of the oldest empire in the world, which had its beginnings before the flood, accept a British protectorate or an Anglo-French régime.

"I cannot accept any protectorate involving any infringement whatever in our sovereignty and political independence.

Ready to Accept Aid.

"If it is merely a question of foreign aid to safeguard our frontiers against Italy, naturally I would not refuse any eventual British offer of such aid."

Asked if he would accept international control by a commission under the league, the emperor replied:

"I have already declared I would accept foreign advisers proposed by the league, chosen and appointed by the Ethiopian government and responsible to us alone, to give advice on social, financial, hygienic, and educational matters and communications.

"We would do our best to carry out such advice, but we must reserve to ourselves the determination of improvements which are within our political, administrative, and financial capacity."

The interview was held in the emperor's modest palace study. Haile Selassie's two small dogs sat on either side of his majesty, replacing the lions which are now caged in the emperor's garden.

As he pleaded for his country's cause his voice broke and tears dimmed his brown eyes.

Plea to U. S. and British.

"Our Savior died to establish peace and brotherly love among men and nations," the emperor said. "Shall Rome, which claims to be the domicile of Christ's representative, be allowed to destroy by war those precious principles of peace and good will which were sanctified by the life and death of Christ?

"I cannot believe it. America and England, as great Christian nations, must prevent it. We are all members of the same international family of nations. Ethiopia belongs to the same Christian brotherhood of the world."

Turning from peace to war, Haile Selassie reaffirmed his unbounded faith in his army, asserting Ethiopia has sufficient resources and munitions to carry on war against Italy for some time.

The emperor was asked if he was ready to cede any territory to Italy for cash. The emperor replied:

Willing to Sell Land.

"I would facilitate another such arrangement, devoting the proceeds to social and economic improvements, provided such an arrangement would contribute to peaceful and complete settlement of the present conflict.

"The particular area ceded and the amount of compensation would necessarily be subject to negotiation."

"Are you ready, in order to avoid war, to give Italy the right to construct a railroad across Ethiopia west of Addis Ababa, connecting Eritrea with Italian Somaliland and granting Italy definite economic zones on both sides of the railroad?" Haile Selassie was asked.

"I do not wish to institute the practice of giving bribes in order to induce potential aggressors to refrain from war and respect their international obligations," the emperor replied.

U. S. Fighters Volunteer.

Haile Selassie said two colored American divisions have volunteered their services in Ethiopia against Italy, but that the government is not yet ready to accept such offers from abroad.

"Would you be disposed to give England complete control of Lake Tsana if England protected Ethiopia from Italian aggression?" the emperor was asked.

"Decidedly no," he exclaimed. "We cannot cut up Ethiopia like a cake, handing sugared parts to this and that country just to win their smiles and satisfy their sweet tooth.

"Would England or any other sovereign nation give up territory so willingly? No! I have taken an oath to the memory of the great Menelik to defend the empire until God calls me unto him."

Mussolini Sends More Troops to Africa to Serve in War

ROME, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A symbol of the determination expressed by Premier Benito Mussolini to recruit his armies to the highest defensive power of the nation, the trans-Atlantic liner Conte Biancamano loaded 3,490 troops and officers for East African service today.

The ship was set to sail almost immediately in the wake of the steamer Umbria, which left yesterday with 2,625 men and officers. These two sailings brought the total of troops departing during the week ending today to 12,744.

This tempo of departures was expected in military circles to continue indefinitly until Il Duce believes he has enough men in East Africa to meet any situation.

131,000 Troops in Africa.

The embarkations today brought the total of those who have sailed since early spring to 131,000 men. The sailings in the next couple of weeks were expected to fulfill the total of 200,000 men for East African service spoken of recently by Mussolini.

A war ministry order called to the colors all comissariat troops of the classes of 1909, 1910, and 1911 [men born in those years] as well as forgers and blacksmiths of all classes who have passed technical examinations in the last two years.

These men were the first of a new draft of 200,000 which Mussolini announced yesterday for the September quota to bring his total army to the amazing figure of 1,000,000 men.

Sons Report for Duty.

Dispatches from Asmara, Eritrea, said Il Duce's two sons, Vittorio and Bruno, together with his son-in-law, Count Galeazzo Ciano, minister of propaganda, had arrived there from Italy after having been greeted by the entire populace of Massaua. They were greeted by High Commissioner De Bono with his full colonial staf.

They immediately boarded one of the Diesel-engined trains which Mussolini has sent to East Africa to connect Massaua with the capital, Asmara, seventy-five miles away. Arriving there, they immediately reported to the airdrome for duty.

The press hailed Mussolini's terse remarks yesterday to his troops at Ronzone and to the populace at Trento, on the Austrian frontier, as an expression of the complete military and political philosophy of the Italian people.

Il Popolo di Roma asserted: "His words concerning absurd provocative talk of sanctions [penalties] rang like hammer blows upon the international anvil."

Il Messagero said: "A million men under arms and the great heart of the Italian people vibrating with highest enthusiasm: This is the answer to absurd talk of sanctions which Mussolini verily formulated before his king and peoples yesterday."

LEAGUE FEARS OIL GRANT WILL INCREASE WAR PLANS OF ITALY

GENEVA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Fears that Emperor Haile Selassie's granting of a great concession to American interests just before a critical council meeting might incite Premier Benito Mussolini to proceed with his military plans more vigorously than ever were voiced today in league of nations circles.

Geneva newspapers said that oil seemed destined to play a part in the Ethiopian conflict just as it did in South America's Chaco war.

"Will the league permit men to slay one another for the sake of oil?" one newspaper asked.

Some league quarters, however, took the position that the concession to the exploration corporation might checkmate Mussolini's hopes of economic expansion. Even if Il Duce should occupy Ethiopia, these sources argued, he would acquire something which already had been given away.

ARCHBISHOP BIDS LEAGUE TO USE ARMED FORCE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—A stirring warlike call to uphold the prestige of the league of nations by resorting to armed force if necessary was broadcast tonight by the archbishop of York, Dr. William Temple. Insisting "there is nothing unchristian in the use of arms to secure justice," the archbishop continued:

"For the league to employ force against an aggressive member is no more 'war' in the proper sense of the word than the baton charge of police against a mob engaged in destruction is a riot on the part of the police.

"If it becomes necessary to uphold law by force, it is important there should be enough force available. To use force and then be worsted will wound fatally the cause of justice. What must not be left in doubt is our purpose to operate the machinery of the league if our neighbors join us in doing so. We pledged our word and must not go back on it."

Nevertheless the archbishop insisted any action must be collective and not undertaken by Great Britain alone.

CLAIMS ETHIOPIA OIL VENTURE IS 100% AMERICAN

Rickett Tells of Plans to Exploit Land.

BY WILL BARBER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DIREDAWA, Ethiopia, Aug. 31.—[Delayed in transmission.]—Francis M. Rickett, the Englishman who secured valuable oil and mineral concessions from Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, today revealed some of the plans to exploit the African empire.

The capital of the African Exploration and Development corporation, which secured the concession is 100 per cent American. Rickett told THE TRIBUNE correspondent of the corporation's plans as he bounced along in a railroad car on his way to Djibouti, French Somaliland.

Plans to Start Work Soon.

Rickett, who is on his way to London, peered out of the window as the train neared Diredawa, the center of the concessionaires' territory. He glanced at the sunbaked scrubby land and the half naked spear-bearing people who in a few months, he believes, are likely to see Texas oil drillers hard at work.

The promoter of the concession, which according to reports in Ethiopia, is or will become the property of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, said he intended to commence exploitation as soon as possible.

[Standard Oil officials yesterday denied they had anything to do with the Rickett concession.]

Rickett said the first oil drilling will start near Damidzga, near British Somaliland. Explorations already have revealed large beds of asphalt, indicating the presence of rich oil deposits.

Shallow Drilling Planned.

The promoter said only shallow drilling—a depth of about 1,400 feet—will be required at Damidzga and in other parts of the territory. Oil is reported to lie there in large fields. It is said to be similar to the oil fields in Iraq, which are among the richest in the world.

The concession was obtained by Rickett, who is noted for his exploitations in Iraq, in the record time of one week. He came into Addis Ababa with a Red Cross physician. Hardly any one knew he was in the Ethiopian capital until the emperor announced he had granted the Briton's company the right to exploit the empire's oil lands.

An hour after the agreement was signed Rickett caught the train for Djibouti. The promoter expects the concessionaires to find precious stones, particularly emeralds. The corporation, he said, will build its own roads, telephone, telegraph and radio communications, schools, hospitals and houses.

The corporation will be entitled to have its own court. It will be presided over by an Ethiopian judge of the concessionaires' choosing. This is important in the settling of disputes between Ethiopians and foreign employers.

LONDON PROBES DEAL

LONDON, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Great Britain started an investigation today to learn to what extent, if any, British men and money were involved in Ethiopia's concession to the African Development Exploration company of the United States.

The results of this inquiry, it was learned from an authoritative source, were a most anxiously awaited feature of an expected report from Sir Sidney Barton, British minister to Ethiopia.

Barton has been instructed by the British government to "advise" Emperor Haile Selassie to withhold the granting of the concession, which was negotiated by a British promoter, Francis M. Rickett. The unofficial attitude was:

"If it is purely an American proposition, it is no concern of Britain's. But if English are in it—it is another matter."

The British government's quick instructions to its Ethiopian minister last night were interpreted in political circles as an attempt to placate the Italians and French who seized on the concession as an opportunity to accuse Britain of having selfish interests in Ethiopia.

Capt. Anthony Eden, minister for league of nations affairs, will leave for Geneva tomorrow to attend the league council session which opens on Wednesday.

160 EUROPEANS QUIT ADDIS ABABA; HUGE CROWD SEES THEM OFF

ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—One hundred and sixty Europeans, many of them Italians, evacuated this capital today—the largest number of white persons to leave in one day during the current Italo-Ethiopian crisis.

Thousands turned out to see them off. Two hundred American automobiles blocked the railroad station square, where stands a massive bronze Lion of Judah. There were many affecting scenes as relatives bade farewell to their kinfolk, many of whom had lived in Ethiopia for from twenty to thirty years.

One railway coach bore wives and families of officials and employés of the Franco-Ethiopian railroad. French authorities were encouraging as many of their nationals as possible to leave the country.

Among those who departed was Mme. Mombelli, wife of the first secretary of the Italian legation.

World Moslems to Study Ethiopian Row at Geneva

JERUSALEM, Sept. 1.—The Arab newspaper Miraat-Ash-Sharq said today a world moslem congress had been called for Sept. 13 at Geneva, presumably for discussion of the Ethiopian situation.

PATRIOTIC TALKS HEAD PROGRAM FOR LABOR DAY

Col. Roosevelt Flies Here to Speak in Rockford.

Patriotic addresses along political lines rather than the customary tributes to the working man and unionism will dominate today's observance of Labor day in the Chicago area.

Two political gatherings stand out in the day's events. In Chicago, the Chicago Federation of Labor, having failed to obtain Soldiers' field for its celebration, is contenting itself with urging participation in the south side parade of the Amalgamated Native Butchers' Union of North America, followed by a meeting in Sherman park. The largest affair here is the annual Republican rally at Riverview park.

Equal significance is attached to a second large Republican meeting in this area. Col. Theodore Roosevelt arrived in Chicago by airplane late yesterday afternoon and this morning will proceed to Rockford where tonight he will address a large crowd of Republicans from Winnebago, Boone, and Ogle counties.

Weather Causes Concern.

The question of the weather for the day is uppermost in the minds of the sponsors of these two outdoor meetings, but it was just as important to the hundreds of thousands choosing to enjoy the two day holiday according to their individual wishes.

Sunday crowds, particularly those at the beaches and in the parks, were below normal because of the unseasonable temperature, but the golf courses, tennis courts and bridle paths were reported to be much busier than they would have been if the mercury had been high. The Chicago zoölogical park at Brookfield attracted 50,310.

The Chicago weather bureau flatly predicted rain for today, but this forecast was not sufficient to dampen the Republican hopes for immense meetings in Chicago and Rockford.

In the west side parks of Chicago Children's day will be observed, and it is predicted that a quarter of a million boys and girls will participate in the fun in Columbus, Douglas, Garfield, and Humboldt parks. It is the opening of Festival and Homecoming week in these parks.

Tomorrow in the four west side parks will be Old Settlers' day.

URGE 30 HOUR WEEK

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—How to reëmploy the vast army of idle industrial workers, in the face of increased replacement of men by machines, was viewed as labor's most pressing problem by American Federation of Labor chieftains tonight.

Preparing to celebrate the holiday dedicated to the American workingman, these leaders saw the only answer in general adoption of a 30 hour week and higher wages.

William Green, federation president, called on congress to give labor a helping hand, and maintained this nation must overrule the Supreme court, if necessary, to allow congress to set minimum labor standards.

Fewer Men Do Same Work.

The increased production per man in industry from 1929 to 1933 was 27 per cent, he estimated in a survey of the causes of unemployment.

Only 83 automobile workers are now required to do the same job that took 100 in 1932, he said, while only 77 woolen and worsted mill employés were needed to do the same work that 100 did three years ago.

"At present our nation is endeavoring to cope with the result of this rapid elimination of workmen by paying out billions of dollars in relief, and billions more for the purpose of stimulating the nation's industry and commerce," he added. Meantime, he asserted, "the most highly skilled production engineers are employed in making every effort to discover methods by which still further to lower labor costs by increasing the worker's capacity to produce."

Frank Morrison, veteran secretary of the federation, said that a theory that workers replaced by machinery in an old industry would be absorbed in a new industry was faulty.

"The new industrial revolution operates within new industries as well as in established industries," he said in a Labor day message. "Low wage jobs, such as employment at gas filling stations and mass production industries, are no solution for unemployment of highly skilled workers and well paid creative labor which has been displaced by automatic processes that are yet in their infancy."

COUGHLIN BACKS NEW AUTO WORKERS' UNION TO 'SHARE THE PROFIT'

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, speaking at a massmeeting of automobile workers at Belle Isle park today, proposed the organization of an independent union in the industry with its slogan, "Share the Profits—Not Share the Wealth."

Referring to the convention sponsored by the American Federation of Labor to organize a new automobile workers' union, Father Coughlin said: "I have not come here to quarrel with the American Federation of Labor. Until recently that organization has sponsored a 30 hour week bill."

Organization of the independent union was not completed today. Charters for 25 chapters in the Automotive Industrial Workers' association, as it has been styled, were handed out by Walter Serement, financial secretary, who announced membership already has reached 26,000.

GUARD LIBERTY, IS PLEA OF WOLL, LABOR CHIEFTAIN

Aid of Churches Sought in Guarding Rights.

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Matthew Woll, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, in a Labor day message today made a strong plea for the protection of personal liberties and constitutional guarantees.

Speaking at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, Woll invited coöperation of the churches with American labor in protecting social liberty, and cited domestic and foreign political trends which he said offered "a challenge to both the church and to labor and to the ideals of social justice to which both are committed."

"No one of us," Woll said, "has experienced the galling shackles of political slavery and regimentation and, therefore, too many of us are giving ear to those who promise a social and political millennium as the bait for submission to political dictatorship.

On Threshold of Crisis.

"We assemble today upon the threshold of a crisis which is so grave that it stands as a challenge to both the church and labor and to the ideals of social justice to which both are committed."

Woll emphasized that there could be no greater disaster to any nation than for the people to lose confidence in themselves. He said this is "the greatest danger that confronts us."

"It is then," he said, "that the false prophets arise and the heydey of the demagog and the self-seeker dawns. . . .

"Should we surrender our personal liberty which has been guaranteed to us by the constitution of the United States and of the several states for some vague and nebulous thing called social liberty?"

Fears Greater Powers.

Woll said that the plea of social and economic advancement had been the basis of other new and greater powers of government, wherein democracy has been frowned upon.

Touching upon the NRA, its tendencies and directions, Woll drew from it a general labor policy.

"Labor," he said, "is rapidly coming to the conclusion that its experience with the NRA, when it comes to be summarized again, proves the old adage that labor can gain what it has the power to get and can make secure what it has the power to hold."

FOUND DYING OF BULLET WOUND.

Working Women of Mexico Are Granted Right to Vote

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The right of Mexican working women to vote and enjoy other privileges of citizenship was proclaimed officially by President Lazaro Cardenas today in an address opening the annual four month session of congress.

Although the constitution is not specific on that point, the president asserted the laws of the land grant women workers equal rights, and said their temperament "equips them to embrace sincerely and enthusiastically a generous struggle, placing aside all selfish interest."

Threat to Rule Averted.

Women and youths, Cardenas said, will be organized to participate in the government's program of social improvement, "thus aiding the revolution to penetrate homes and overcome family resistance."

The president reviewed recent political developments which he said "threatened to undermine the bases of our republican régime and destroy the principles of legal institutions."

He asserted the threat had been averted, without a necessity for violent measures, by his declaring himself "solely responsible for the political and social progress of the nation." The president did not mention by name former President Plutarco Elias Calles, one time "strong man of Mexico," who withdrew from the political scene after his dispute with Cardenas.

Appealing to the entire nation to coöperate in the government's work, Cardenas said peasants would be incorporated in the National Revolutionary party for protection of their rights.

Says Criticism Is Lessening.

The guiding principle of Mexico's foreign policy, he asserted, was "hands off" the internal affairs of other countries. In return, he said, Mexico expects and has received similar treatment in respect for its sovereignty.

Referring to criticism of Mexico's religious and educational systems, he said the "campaign of defamation of our institutions is decreasing" as the government's purposes become understood.

Fifteen rural school teachers have been killed during the year by "ignorant or fanatic persons," Cardenas reported, but he said socialistic education had already begun to show benefits.

The president expressed confidence that the people would accept and support such education, "shattering absurd prejudices and shaking off perverse influences so as to guarantee the future of our children."

N. WOODS DRAW CHICAGOANS FOR FINAL HOLIDAY

Warm Sun Follows First Frost of Season.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rhinelander, Wis., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Chicagoans in the north woods are enjoying the last summer holiday of 1935 under blue skies with fleecy white clouds. The sunshine is warm following a heavy frost in the tamarack marshes last night. Whether the clouds will develop a Labor day rain is something that only the government weather bureau dares forecast.

The shores of the hundreds of small blue lakes hereabouts are parking lots for automobiles, a large portion of the cars bearing Illinois license plates and Chicago windshield stickers. All available row boats are rented by fishermen and excursionists.

Many Beat Trafic Jam.

Some of the thousands who are ending vacations in these pine, birch and beech woods are departing for home today to avoid any congestion on the highways near Chicago tomorrow. Others, since the Chicago public schools do not open until Sept. 16, are postponing the return until later in the week. If enough dodge the prospects of congestion, there won't be any jams on the roads tomorrow, especially if the weather in Chicago discourages one day outings in the country.

The heavy tourist business—an industry that brings 250 million dollars a year into Wisconsin—is ending tomorrow just at the beginning of the prettiest season of the year in this lake and woods country. A touch of pink and red on maples in the low lands gives a hint of the blaze of color that will splash the landscape as soon as Jack Frost puts in a few more nights like last night.

Night by Wolf River.

THE TRIBUNE roadster spent the night parked beside a log cabin, with the Wolf river splashing by a doorstep.

The rising sun sparkled reflections on shrubs and wild grassy growths that had been frosted during a clear night of bright stars. Just to breathe deeply on a morning like this, with the air crisp and perfumed by balsams, is worth a week-end trip from Chicago. The summer vacation season—more lucrative to the resort owners than in any year since the high price era—is ending, but northern Wisconsin, brought within easy driving distance of Chicago by the development of roads and automobiles in the last few years, will remain an attractive week-end touring objective for another two months.

FOREIGN WAR VET CHIEF URGES LAW TO DEPORT REDS

Legislation requiring the deportation of alien communists and the punishment of their sympathizers will be proposed at the January session of congress, James E. Van Zandt, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, told disabled veterans at Hines hospital yesterday. His address, which he described as "a break with the American Legion," blamed the Legion for the failure of the Patman bonus bill in the last session of congress.

Discussing communism, Van Zandt charged that "responsibility for the Red menace in the United States rests with the American public, who always have considered it too lightly."

FLYNN TO MAKE PUBLIC TAX RATE DATA TOMORROW

County officials said yesterday that the 1934 tax bills will be mailed in time so that taxpayers will have sufficient opportunity to make payment before the penalty date, Nov. 1. At that time payments of the personal property tax and the first instalment of the real estate tax are due.

The mailing of the bills has been held up while the county clerk's office computes the tax rates. County Clerk Flynn said the rates would be completed and made public tomorrow.

According to Flynn, the 1934 rates will show a general increase over the rates for the previous tax year. Larger appropriations by the local governments are responsible for the increase, he asserted.

JUDGE LEWIS WEAKER AFTER SLIGHT RALLY

Judge Harry A. Lewis of the Superior court, who for two days has been near death in his home at 6629 Harvard avenue, was reported growing weaker yesterday by his attending physician, Dr. Frederick A. Lofton.

Dr. Lofton said that the judge rallied from a sinking spell yesterday morning, but then lapsed into a coma. Death is only a matter of hours, the physician said.

Judge Lewis, 66 years old, a member of the Superior court for 16 years, suffered an attack of cerebral thrombosis on Aug. 14. His right side has been paralyzed.

MAKE PRISONERS PAY BOARD BILL! WEBER SUGGESTS

State Representative Charles H. Weber [Dem., 6th] announced yesterday that he was drafting a bill which would require that prisoners in Illinois penal institutions be required to pay board, provided they have funds.

Representative Weber asserted that Henry J. [Midget] Fernekes, who escaped recently from Joliet prison, was reported to have a brokerage account in Chicago while he was a prisoner. Weber's measure would have the state auditor and the heads of penal institutions collect the board bill from such prisoners.

If Gov. Horner consents, the legislator said, the bill will be put in the call for the next special session of the general assembly.

R. I. GOVERNOR DEFENDS OUSTER OF REPUBLICANS

Discounts Recent New Deal Defeat.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Providence, R. I., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The man called the Hitler of Rhode Island is a dapper, well knit person, a bit under medium height, in the late fifties, with lightish hair and a gray closely cropped mustache around which his mouth turns upward at the corners in a Mephistophelian smile, though his manner is anything but sinister; a well bred, blue blooded, highly educated gentlemen, Theodore Francis Green, by name.

He is by way of being the Democratic governor of the tiniest and, what with the Democratic coup d'etat of last January and the Democratic defeat in the recent by-election, the most widely advertised state of the Union at the moment.

Head of Democratic Coup.

Gov. Green was the head and front of the coup d'état whereby the Democrats unseated enough Republican senators to give them control of both branches of the legislature, ousted the entire Republican Supreme court and replaced it with a court of Democratic majority, abolished more than 80 commissions manned by Republicans and replaced them with departments manned by Democrats, restored long divested powers of the governor and otherwise transmogrified the government of the state.

But the life of a Democratic dictator is not a happy one, you can take it from Mr. Green. Ever since the coup d'état he has accomplished an average of one reform a week, you can take it also from Mr. Green, but the Republicans and some Democrats are so unappreciative.

The Republicans particularly are downright hateful, asserting that Mr. Green seized the reins of power only for the purpose of putting out Republicans and putting in Democrats, that he has increased the number of jobs and put in Democrats to draw pay for doing nothing and that the state government is being run at a larger cost with less efficiency than ever before.

Republicans and not a few unreconstructed Democrats shudder at the thought of what was done at the state house between noon and midnight of last New Year's day. They say that on that day red revolution upreared its ugly head on American soil, that Democrats, drunk with power, ran riot, seizing not only the reins of government but control of state and city police forces and the National Guard, giving the country a taste of what will happen if the proletariat get a stranglehold on the nation. In a few hours a state that had for generations been a Republican fief became a Democratic fief.

In the by-election a Democratic district went Republican by a large majority, with the New Deal the paramount issue, while the electorate of the state rejected proposals of some 5 million dollars' worth of bonds to finance work relief projects, though voting funds for direct relief.

"The by-election," said Gov. Green today, "evidences, in my opinion, a certain amount of dissatisfaction with the New Deal, though wrongly so. The processing tax was blamed for the closing down of textile mills, many of which have been shut down since the Hoover administration.

"It's simply a case of a convalescing patient being impatient with the progress of his recovery. He is inclined to find fault, but if asked whether he wanted to change doctors he would refuse. I haven't the slightest doubt that President Roosevelt would carry Rhode Island today despite the result of the by-election.

"As for the bond issues the PWA, in trying to justify the expenditures, only made it look as if there was no necessity of PWA. Besides, our people are Yankees, you know. If you offer us something for $100 we will offer you $80. We asked 12 millions and the people voted us 7. If we had asked for 20 we would have got 12."

Ousted Judges Pensioned.

The new Supreme court, composed of three Democrats and two Republicans, is functioning by election of a legislature made Democratic by unseating Republicans though with what validity it is acting remains to be tested and the five Republican justices who were kicked out are drawing $8,000 pensions.

Pierce H. Brereton, chairman of the Republican state committee, says that the Democratic reverses in the election reflect popular protest against the ousting of the Supreme court and the entire "dictatorial program sponsored by the Democratic party. The violation of representative government is deeply resented." To Mr. Brereton Gov. Green is only a Rhode Island edition of Hitler or Mussolini or Stalin.

Half amused, half indignant at the attribution of dictatorship, Gov. Green, faultlessly attired in a pinstripe gray suit with a blue cravat flowing from a soft collared negligee shirt, swings in his swivel chair from a document littered desk to confront the interviewer. From the four walls of his spacious office the portraits of Rhode Island's early governors look down.

Says People Triumphed.

"Dictatorship!" he ejaculates with his blue eyes gleaming through pincenez glasses, and the corners of his mouth going up in that mephistophelian smile. "Why, my dear sir, the fact is that we overturned a Republican feudal despotism, an aristocratic oligarchy, a plutocracy that had existed from the very beginning of this state. The people triumphed at last over this ring of exploiters and not a moment too soon.

"To begin with, you must understand that the aristocratic tradition is as strong in Rhode Island as it is in Virginia. A large element of the population and what was the dominant element is descended from the original owners of great plantations. They inherit the Hamiltonian belief that only the few are fit to rule, that prosperity of the rich seeps down to the masses, as distinguished from the Jeffersonian that the rich rise from prosperous masses."

Governor Is Millionaire.

Incidentally, though he didn't mention it, the governor is one of them, himself having plenty of lineage. Collateral descendent of Nathanial Green the governor is a millionaire silk stocking, a graduate of Brown and Harvard universities, an instructor in law at Brown. He inherited wealth, accumulated more in the real estate business and in the textile industry, for the ills of which he has advocated various political cures.

"But the Democratic heritage of Roger Williams, the insurgent founder of Rhode Island and Providence plantations," the governor went on, "the aristocrats could not stamp out. It developed a breed that was to triumph in the end over the aristocrats.

"But it took generations. The Republicans owned this state body and soul from the beginning of the party as their aristocratic forbears had before them. This is the first time in our history that the governor and both branches of the legislature and the courts have been Democratic. Why, there was a time when it was positively unfashionable and quite dangerous to be a Democrat. The Republicans had all the offices and all the newspapers, except one. It came to such a pass that it was risky for a soda fountain clerk to express views antagonistic to the Republicans. Ere long he found himself out of a job.

Laws Passed to Order.

"Talk about a dictatorship! If there ever was one it was the Republican rule of this state. The dictator was not the governor, but the Republican boss, the most famous of whom was Gen. Charles Ray Brayton. A long line of Republican bosses ruled this state with a rod of iron. They dictated legislation. If any corporation wanted a law passed the boss got it passed—for a consideration; contribution to the campaign fund or what you will. The boss filled all the offices. He summoned the governor to his office to take orders.

"The whole scheme of government of the state was molded for the perpetuation of the Republican oligarchy. For many years there was a property qualification for voters, and there still is for voters on financial measures in the country towns. Representation in the legislature was proportionately greater in the rural districts, where the Republicans predominated, than in the cities where the Democrats predominated. Eventually Providence with half the population of the state was allowed 4 of the 42 members of the senate.

Whip Held by Senate.

"Once in a while, however, the Democrats managed to elect a governor or a house of representatives. This was a danger signal to the Republican oligarchs. They proceeded to take defense measures to keep the government in their hands. They chose the senate to be their citadel to hold, should the assault on the outer parts of the castle succeed. With the apportionment of senators favoring the Republicans they felt sure of holding the senate whatever might betide.

"To make a Democratic governor a figurehead they passed a law providing that if the senate should not confirm his appointee within three days the senate should fill the office. In my first term the only appointments I was allowed to make were those of my secretary and a member of the barber commission, which for some reason were exempt from the law. The Republican senate rejected my other appointments and filled the offices.

"The Republicans also created more than 80 commissions which functioned independently of the governor. The chairman of the finance commission was greater than the governor himself. This commission and the road commission had their own treasuries, distinct from the state treasury.

Democrats Counted Out.

"The Republicans controled the elections returning board and habitually counted out Democratic candidates for the legislature. In the last election the returns showed a Democratic house and a senate that was Republican by 2. We came by the proof that at least two Democratic candidates for senator had been counted out. Then we decided to act."

"We decided to take the government of this state away from the oligarchs who had usurped it so long. Yes, that was an eventful day—New Year's day. The five judges of the Supreme court, all Republicans, were outside my office in their robes, cooling their heels all afternoon waiting for my inauguration while things were happening in here. We were getting ready to do business.

Judges Sent Home.

"Finally a Superior court judge, Republican, of course, came to me to suggest that the Supreme court judges didn't know whether to stay or to go home. I told him to tell them that if they went home it wouldn't hurt my feelings. They went. The Superior court judge wanted to know if the Superior court judges were to go, too. Inasmuch as he was one of the two Republican Superior court judges I intended to elevate to the Supreme court, I told him they might as well stay."

The governor's eyes twinkled with amusement at the recollection and the Mephistophelean smile lighted up his countenance. Then he waxed serious again.

"Think of it. There never had been a Democratic member of the Supreme court since it was created by the constitution of 1843. They were political lawyers who knew they held office by sufferance of the legislature with its power of removal of judges. The legislature was always Republican until very recently, and the decisions in political cases always favored the Republicans. One year the Republicans would win a decision on a given set of facts. The next year the Democrats would lose a suit on the same set of facts.

Proof of Count Found.

"To get back to New Year's day. When we got our plans perfected we went into action. We produced the proof that two Democratic senators had been counted out. The senate seated them. Then we had a majority of both houses. Then both houses voted out the Republican Supreme court and voted in a court composed of three Democrats and two Republicans. They repealed the law giving the senate veto power over the governor's appointments.

"They abolished the Republican commissions and created 7 departments appointed by the governor. We have reduced the number of employés, reduced expenses, and balanced the budget for the first time in seven years.

"Now, if that is dictatorship, make the most of it. I think what we did compares favorably with the record of the Republican oligarchs. We gave them two members of the Supreme court; they never gave us any. We gave them 4 of the 9 Superior court judges. We gave them 4 of the 12 district court judges. I certainly think we were most restrained, and you would think so, too, if you had been here and heard the Democratic leaders in this office on New Year's day, carried away with triumph and urging me to 'throw 'em all out; sweep the deck clean.' We refused to do it and, of course, that has created a good deal of dissatisfaction in our ranks."

Confidence in Voters.

The governor thinks the people are with him; that the Democratic election reverses are not attributable to the coup d'état.

"I won their support on the radio," he said. "Every newspaper, except one, in the state was against me, and still is."

He declined to say whether he will seek a third term next year or run for the United States senate. The political gossip is that since the disastrous by-election the Democratic organization, headed by Senator Peter G. Gerry, Democratic national committeeman, has turned against Mr. Green because of his New Deal affiliations and is looking for another candidate.

DR. CHAIM WEIZMANN NOMINATED TO LEAD ZIONISTS OF WORLD

DR. CHAIM WEIZMANN.

LUCERNE, Switzerland, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, noted chemist and Jewish leader, accepted officially today the nomination for the presidency of the World Zionist organization.

His election was virtually assured, for the only other candidate, Dr. Nahun Sokoloff, former president, indicated he would withdraw because of advanced age. Dr. Weizmann announced he would concentrate completely on political leadership of the Zionist movement, dividing his time between London and Palestine. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish congress and for many years an opponent of Dr. Weizmann, announced his approval of Weizmann's selection.

The World Zionist congress adopted a series of resolutions criticizing the government of Palestine for inadequate coöperation with the Jewish population. The resolutions criticized the extent of grants for health services, the paucity of Jews in Palestine government health services, and rigid restrictions on entry into Palestine of Jewish physicians from Germany and elsewhere.

PRICE CUT PACT ENDS ARBITRARY RULE OVER MILK

Price agreements reached early yesterday between Chicago milk dealers and producers were viewed yesterday as a step towards placing the milk market on the same basis as other commodities after years of arbitrary price fixing. A reduction in the farm price of milk was approved by representatives of the Pure Milk association, farmers' agency, and the Associated Milk Dealers at the last of a series of conferences at the Union League club. The drop in the farm price was immediately reflected in the retail price by reduction from 11 to 10 cents a quart for standard milk and from 12 cents to 11 cents for vitamin D.

The new agreements also mark the end of the complicated classification system used for years as the basis for determining milk prices in the Chicago area. The pact substitutes a more simple system.

The new price cut, it was learned, is also regarded as an argument in behalf of the dealers in their present negotiations with the drivers' union over new wage agreements. The drivers are seeking higher wages and increased commissions, and hearings on the dispute are to start before an arbitration board tomorrow morning in the Palmer house.

ILLINOIS PAUPERS TREBLED AS DOLE DULLS WORKERS

66,500 "Unemployables" to Be Unloaded on State.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Now that the federal government has launched its program of putting 3,500,000 employables at present on the dole in America to work on 4 billion dollars' worth of Works Progress projects, state relief agencies are centering attention on the "unemployables" on federal relief who are to be returned to the care of the states.

In Illinois indications are that the "permanent pauper" group is about three times what it was before the depression, despite New Deal activities. Also, it appears that in the rural counties, which are close to the soil, food crops and the AAA, the pauper class has grown just as in industrial counties.

In Illinois, a residue of 60,000 to 70,000 unemployable cases is expected to be left when 225,000 employables are taken off the dole and put to work. The unemployables represent between 200,000 and 240,000 individuals. This is about the combined population of Peoria, Springfield and Rock Island.

State's Burden Grows.

Before the depression there were about 20,000 such cases, representing 70,000 individuals, most of whom were the responsibility of private welfare agencies.

Estimates as to this unemployable part of the population vary. But Gov. Horner's commission in its report on the relief problem gives a careful analysis. It figures about 66,500 "unemployables" on the dole, representing 225,000 individuals for whom the state must care.

In this residue the commission estimates that 38,000 now on the dole are over 64 years of age, and if old age pensions are provided, they will take care of 15,750 cases representing 50,000 individuals. In the list are about 39,000 persons who have sufficient income in normal times to take them off relief, while if adequate mothers' pensions are provided 35,000 children and 10,000 adults will be taken care of from this source. Some 1,580 cases are listed as eligible for blind pensions. In addition are 27,600 other cases, with 85,000 individuals, requiring other forms of aid.

Problem of Adequate Income.

As the WPA today plans its start next week on the $32,544,000 Chicago street repair program approved by Washington, one question at relief headquarters concerns how many families on the rolls will receive less in wages than they have been getting on the dole.

The schedule of monthly earnings under WPA has been set by the government. In Chicago, unskilled workers are to get $55 monthly, intermediate workers $65, skilled workers $85 and professional and technical workers $94. Not more than 8 hours a day or 40 hours a week are to be worked by those on monthly earnings, which are to be regarded as in the nature of a salary, workers to be paid for time lost due to weather conditions. On some projects a maximum of 130 hours a month is set for manual labor.

Some are now getting more on the dole than they will by WPA work. The relief commission will not make extra allowances for these. In many cases, it is held by the authorities, people on the dole are living on a higher scale than when working in normal times. An example cited is that of a laborer with nine children whose relief allowance for groceries alone has run $70 a month under the budget system.

Regions Most Affected.

In Chicago the largest proportion of people on the dole is found in the foreign, industrial and colored sections. It is most dense towards the heart of the city near the loop, and is less dense in the outskirts. In the subcommunity located south of Roosevelt road and west of the Chicago river is found the densest relief population in the city. It runs 58 per cent—more than half the people are on relief. It has the smallest proportion of literacy and its average of home rentals is lowest in the city.

High birth rate and the dole seem to travel together. The commission's tabulations show that all the subcommunities with highest birth rates are among those with the highest percentages on relief.

As to the number of aliens who are on relief the commission has no estimates, but a survey is being made.

Critics on All Sides.

Meanwhile criticism of the growth of the dole appears increasing. During the better part of a week spent by this observer in the neighborhood of relief stations the criticism seemed to come alike from those on relief and those who are not. Especially among the smaller earners, getting $15 to $25 a week, was the complaint heard that some of those on relief are managing to get along as comfortably without work as though they were holding jobs, and that prolonged periods on the dole appear to have lulled the desire to seek or take employment, unless it is a good steady job.

Clients on relief, on the other hand, spoke of landlords who boosted the rent when the client got a job for a day or two a week. Several of them took the view that the "system" would be improved if the dole were paid in cash instead of in orders for groceries, rent, milk, and coal. This, by the way, was the view taken by Gov. Horner's committee and by some members of the relief commission, who argue it would enable customers to shop around for foodstuffs and would reduce the administration overhead costs.

TENDERFEET TRY DIGGING OF GOLD FOR UNCLE SAM

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—A test is being made today to determine whether thousands of unemployed transients shall be given the opportunity to dig gold for Uncle Sam on a percentage basis. The start has been made in three northern California mines where about 200 men are on the job.

The result of their efforts, the state emergency relief administration announced, will determine whether nearly 8,000 others now in California relief shelters will take to the hills and gulches.

"There are a good many thousands of man-years of work in prospect," said H. A. R. Carleton, assistant state emergency relief administrator, "but the project will have to prove worthy before we undertake it on an extensive basis. We hope to know in thirty days."

Only mines that have been left idle are to be utilized. Most of those are privately owned, Carleton said, and would have to be operated on a royalty basis.

The work for the transients would not interfere with commercial gold mining, because gold is not a commodity subject to price fluctuations. The government takes it all, paying $35 per fine ounce.

KILLED IN AUTO CRASH.

Coldwater, Mich., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Henry Barclay, 18, of Detroit, was killed at Jonesville, near here, and Mrs. Joseph Bar, 32, of San Antonio, Tex., suffered a skull fracture in an auto accident on U. S. 112. She is not expected to recover.

SEEK $7,489,000 FOR 7 MORE WPA PROJECTS IN CITY

Hewitt Sees Winter Jobs for 11,700 Workers.

Oscar Hewitt, commissioner of public works, submitted seven city projects yesterday to the Chicago office of the Works Progress administration. They provide for the expenditure of $7,489,000 and the employment of 11,742 men through the winter.

The projects, most of which were suggested by Mayor Kelly, are included within the total of 119 millions that the city, park district and schools are seeking from the federal government. The 119 millions are in addition to the $32,544,000 of WPA funds already alloted to the city for resurfacing nearly 1,000 miles of streets.

The project for which the largest amount of money is sought is an undertaking to clean up all vacant lots in the city. If it is approved, Commissioner Hewitt said 5,385 men would be employed for ten months at a cost of $3,815,000. The project includes weed eradication next spring after the lots have been cleared of junk and rubbish.

Big Job at City Airport.

Next largest in size is a proposal to expend $1,874,000 in macadamizing the surfaces of the cinder runways at the city airport and in widening them, constructing a new east and west concrete runway and creating two parks on airport property at 55th street and Central avenue and 55th street and Cicero avenue. Ten months' employment would be given to 4,035 men.

Improvements are necessary at the airport, according to city officials, as it will be kept in use for hangars, repair shops and the handling of freight after the construction of the proposed downtown airport. Plans have been drawn and adopted by the city council for an island landing field on the lake front to cost $8,600,000, and it is to be submitted to the government as soon as the Chicago plan commission finishes some additional work on the application.

Construction of two steel scows would give work under another project to 150 men for four months at a cost of $46,000.

For Musicians and Actors.

In another project, the city would take over at the request of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission a proposal to employ 692 musicians and actors to give plays and concerts for the next ten months in hospitals, orphanages and at playgrounds. The cost is estimated at $718,000.

The remaining projects call for the employment of 1,463 men to demolish public and private buildings—only where the owners give the city the right to retain the salvage—at a cost of $1,023,000, and the painting of 243 city trucks by 17 men at a cost of $13,000.

Commissioner Hewitt and his staf worked yesterday to complete projects so that they would get into the hands of national officials before the Sept. 12 deadline laid down by President Roosevelt. WPA offices in Chicago also were open to handle any projects submitted.

CHICAGO TWINS WIN AWARDS AT NATIONAL CONVENTION IN IND.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 1—(AP)—More than five hundred sets of twins passed in review before judges and 5,000 spectators at the fourth annual convention of the National Twins' association here today.

Seventy members of the Zephyr Twins' club of Chicago were in attendance. Dorris and Lorris Alkire came from San Antonio, Tex., and received the award for the longest distance traveled. A group attracting interest was four sets of twins from one family, children of Mr. and Mrs Harvey Clark, farm folk of Markle. Ind.

Ben and William Whetmore of Fort Wayne were judged the most identical men twins present, with James and John Mitchell, Chicago, second, and James and Daniel O'Connell, Detroit, third.

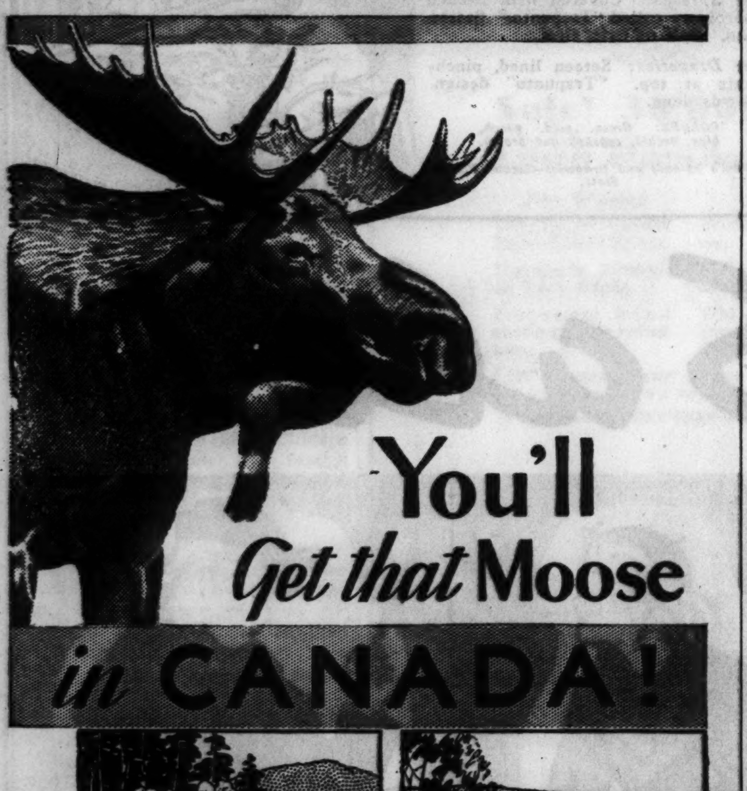
The oldest men twins present were Warren and Arren Penny, 86, of Convoy, O. Three week old Willard and Wilma Samuels, Mishawaka, Ind., won the award for the youngest twins present.

NOW 'GRANDMA'; VISITS PARENTS AFTER 38 YEARS

A family reunion was held yesterday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jerone, 727 West 25th place, to welcome the couple's daughter, Mrs. John Regnier, 760 Ninth street, Aurora, whom they had not heard from in 38 years. Attending the reception and reunion were twenty-two members of the family, including seven of Mrs. Regnier's children and ten of her grandchildren. Mrs. Regnier left her parents' farm at Champion, Mich., when she was 14 years old and never communicated with her family. Several weeks ago she wrote to family friends in Michigan and obtained her parents' address. Her father, an invalid for three years, is 84 years old, and her mother is 83.

Shot While in Auto by Stranger, He Reports

Charles Bezouska, 23 years old, of route 2, Hinsdale, a printer, was shot in the right ankle last night at 20th and Fisk streets. He told the police that a man he had never seen before opened the door of his automobile and fired on him. Bezouska was sent to the Bridewell hospital.



An autumn haze on the lake... paddles dip quietly. Up ahead a loon shatters the dead quiet... then silence again. Nerves are tense... what's around the next bend?

Your guide calls his weird call... echoes answer. Finger itches on trigger... Listen! A crashing in the bushes ...Nearer!...Then suddenly silhouetted against the sky...

There's your moose!... A bull as big as a house, and a spread of antlers that makes you gasp. The great head turns slowly toward you... What a target... and what a moment!

Around the fire your guide tells tall stories... you dream of the one you'll tell the boys at the club when you get home... That supper of trout was great ... and bed sounds pretty good.

Moose in large numbers are taken out of the Canadian woods every year. Or you may prefer smaller game. Great stretches of unspoiled hunting country are less than a day's travel from big cities.

Write us what sort of trip you are planning: what you are after, how long you can spend, when you are coming. We will supply you with details as to the best places to go, names of guides and outfitters, routes, and approximate cost.

OUR ENTIRE BASEMENT STORE 15,000 SQUARE FEET OF SPACE DEVOTED TO THIS EVENT!

This is the supreme sales event of THE HUB'S clothing history. From a standpoint of selection, timeliness and more for your money, nothing like this has ever before been attempted. Here are the amazing facts—we started back in March when woolen prices and manufacturing costs were at a low ebb and made arrangements then with woolen mills of national repute and makers of quality garments. We scouted the important style sources, Eastern Universities, Hollywood, wherever style leaders gather and collected the most advanced style news. Then with all these resources at hand, with all this style information and with full knowledge of advancing prices in the near future, we scored a merchandising scoop. We went out to get the greatest suit, topcoat and overcoat ever offered at $15; and believe us, with our 48 year old reputation for truthfulness, when we say "We got it." Tuesday, September 3rd, is a banner day at THE HUB, don't let anything keep you away!

ADVISERS CALL, AID ROOSEVELT WITH SPEECHES

He Starts on Speaking Tour Sept. 23.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today settled down to the task of whipping into shape a series of speeches in which he will seek to present to a doubtful nation late this month an explanation and defense of the first two and one-half years of the New Deal.

There was every evidence to support the assertion that the forthcoming transcontinental tour of the President, starting Sept. 23, will be, in effect, an opening of his campaign for reëlection, his renomination by his party being conceded. Even on this, the first day of his three weeks' rest at his home on the Hudson, consideration was being given, it was learned, to the manner and form of the President's appeal to the country for support of the drastic and far reaching changes wrought by his administration in the laws of the land.

Tugwell Follows Moley.

Prof. Raymond Moley, original head of the brain trust, and one of the less radical advisers admitted to the White House, imparted his counsel to his chief yesterday. Today, Rexford Guy Tugwell, under secretary of the interior, most visionary of the Presidential intimates, was closeted with Mr. Roosevelt. Tugwell came up to Hyde Park on the presidential special which left Washington last night and arrived here this morning.

During the next three weeks there will be a horde of other advisers, it was deemed certain, each offering his opinion of the most pursuasive arguments that can be uttered in an attempt to swing back into line a nation wavering in the once popular belief that the President could do no wrong, make no mistakes.

One of the most vexatious problems to be smoothed over by the President with his famous "sunny optimism," his advisers conceded, is that dealing with the average man's sobering realization that the New Deal is going to cost him plenty in taxes. Curiously enough, this realization came about as a result of the President's soak-the-rich tax bill which he signed last Friday.

Citizens Foresee Tax Burdens.

Even the most indifferent citizen saw clearly that taxation of the wealthy could not pay more than a fraction of the tax burden when he read that financial experts were unable to squeeze out more than 250 millions from hair raising increases in inheritance taxes and other levies upon the rich.

The hearings conducted on that bill in the senate and house disclosed that even confiscation of wealth would not run the New Deal more than a few days out of each year.

It was thus brought home, in most disturbing fashion, that the man with the small income eventually must contribute heavily.

The fact that unemployment still remains at more than 10 millions of persons is another matter which the President must try to explain, it was pointed out.

At his press conference on Friday, the President clearly evaded questions whether he had authorized the publication of an article in a national weekly magazine by George Creel, his old friend. Creel was a White House guest six weeks ago. In the article, he asserted, among other things, that the budget would be balanced, under the Roosevelt program, by 1939 with a 500 million dollar surplus.

FORMER SENATOR FRANCE ATTACKS NEW DEAL IDEAS

Port Deposit, Md., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ex-Senator Joseph I. France, opponent of former President Herbert Hoover in the 1932 Republican primaries, today fired the first gun of what he said was a campaign to force 1936 presidential candidates to "restore constitutional government to the United States." He said he would submit a sample platform and see what happened among the candidates for nomination.

In the "first plank" of this platform he warned against "further usurpation of the constitution" by federal officials "thirsting for power."

"There should be an amendment to the constitution providing that any proposed amendments," the ex-senator said, "should be submitted only after two-thirds of the total membership of both houses of congress have voted favorably upon the resolution to submit the amendment, and adopted only after the majority of the total registered vote in each of three-fourths of all the states have, through popular referendum, instructed their states to ratify the amendment . . ."

QUIZ INTO FOOD PRICES KILLED BY LONG FILIBUSTER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—A little publicized item in the third deficiency bill that Senator Huey P. Long filibustered to death at the windup of congress today was calculated by the New Dealers to give them even more political capital than they now are making by accusing Huey of stopping grants to widows, orphans and the aged poor.

This was an appropriation of $150,000 to finance a sweeping investigation by the federal trade commission of food handlers and distributors, as directed by the Wheeler resolution passed in the closing days of the session.

With the "scarcity economics" of the Agricultural Adjustment administration under fire for boosting prices to consumers and with housewives striking in various large cities, the New Deal sought by this investigation to divert popular antagonism from the AAA to the packers, millers, canners and other processors and manufacturers of foodstuffs.

Shown by Its Language.

This is shown by the language of the preamble of the Wheeler resolution, which had the backing of the administration. Here are some excerpts:

"Twenty-two large corporations reported making over 45 per cent of the gross sales of all corporations engaged in the processing and manufacture of food products in 1931."

"Monopolistic, oppressive and unfair methods of middlemen, warehousemen, processors, manufacturers, packers and handlers are in whole or in part responsible for the conditions. . . ."

Members of the commission said today that it was doubtful whether sufficient funds could be found to undertake an exhaustive investigation before the next session, but that they were ready to begin hearings and the examination of manufacturers' books immediately. The economists already are making their preparations.

Everything but Security.

It is believed certain in other quarters that enough funds will be made available to get the investigation under way in time for the commission to begin blasting the packers and processors before next year's campaign. Congressional leaders who conferred with President Roosevelt during the week said it was believed that funds for everything contained in the 103 million dollar deficiency bill except social security grants could be found somewhere in the vast unexpended balances of the New Deal.

As for grants in aid to states for maternal and child welfare, old age pensions, crippled children and the dependent blind, no money could be found, although the amount required up to Jan. 1 was only 25 million dollars. Senate Majority Leader Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas has been predicting "much suffering" and blaming it all on Huey Long.

The patent efforts of the administration leaders to profit politically from Long's filibuster offers at least a possible explanation of their generosity in permitting him to proceed in order after he had lost the floor on a violation of the rules.

Birthday Dinner to Honor Judge Kavanagh Tomorrow

Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh will be the guest at a dinner in the Hotel Sherman tomorrow night on the occasion of his 76th birthday anniversary. The dinner, besides being a birthday banquet, is in recognition of the 41 years that he will have served on the bench when his present term expires on Dec. 2.

BUTLER ASSAILS TAXING PROGRAM AS U. S. MENACE

Southampton, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Assailing by indirection the government's new tax program, President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university declared tonight that all wealth distribution programs "really should be called steal the wealth programs."

"It is not their intention to provide new and larger opportunities for fruitful labor, whether by hand or by brain," he said, "but rather to take by force some part of those savings which the work and the thrift of others have enabled them to build up."

"The vengeful desire on the part of government to place an inordinately high tax upon personal and corporate incomes and upon personal estates will shortly be seen to have a profoundly disturbing effect on the general welfare.

"On the surface, a policy of this kind simply strips individuals and families of especially large accumulations of wealth, but looked at more closely, it disturbs and disarranges the whole of the American social order . . .

"It must disarrange and cripple in a thousand unsuspected and unexpected ways the nation's industry and commerce; and when the end shall have been reached what will it amount to? Nothing but to satisfy the incredibly mean desire to punish those who are more fortunate than most of us."

National P.-T. A. to Meet in Chicago Sept. 16-19

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The National Congress of Parents and Teachers announced tonight that the annual meeting of its board of members will be in Chicago, instead of Rapid City, S. D., an originally scheduled. The members will convene Sept. 16-19.

75,000 WATCH MOLINE FLYER WIN GREVE RACE

California Favorite Is 3 Seconds Behind.

BY WAYNE THOMIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Municipal Airport, Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Seventy-five thousand spectators, a near record crowd, alternately groaned and cheered here this afternoon as they watched Harold Neuman of Moline, Ill., win the final heat of the Louis W. Greve trophy race in a neck and neck finish with Marion McKeen of California. Neuman's time was 207.292 miles an hour and McKeen's was 206.425.

Most of the watchers hoped that McKeen would win, for he flew a beautiful race in his Brown special racer, Menasco motor. He chased Neuman for 14 laps after losing a substantial lead when he became confused about the course while speeding down the back stretch of the first lap. During the race he closed a 27 second lead to a three second interval, the difference in their speeds at the end of the race.

Five Mile Course 25 Times.

The heat was for 15 laps of the five mile course, with $5,000 prize money to be split. McKeen was first off, but flew so wide that the whole field of six other planes passed him on that first lap. Gamely he started after them.

Michel De Troyat, the French aerobatic ace, was in the press box during the race and he began clocking the seconds between McKeen and Neuman, who settled into the lead each time they passed the stands. The first time Neuman was 27 seconds ahead.

The next lap he was only 20 seconds ahead and all the throng began to cheer for the little red machine and its pilot. The lead dropped steadily, 17 seconds, 15 seconds, 12. Then McKeen slipped into second place. By that time Neuman had seen his pursuer and was "pouring the coal" to his engine.

Lap Speeds Go Kiting.

Lap speeds steadily increased, 196, 199, 200 miles an hour. Then during the final 12 laps Neuman kept his speed at approximately 209 miles an hour, the most speed seen thus far at this meet.

By winning this race Neuman made a clean sweep of all three heats and wins the trophy with a total of 20 points. Roger Don Rae of Lansing, Mich., took second in the recapitulation, and McKeen, by virtue of his second place in today's race, the only one of the three in which he flew, took third.

Jim Ray, veteran autogyro pilot, showed the crowd the tiny new wingless cabin autogyro built by the Pitcairn company. The little ship, powered with a 90 horse power Pojoy motor, has a minimum forward speed of 16 miles an hour and a top of 120. In the slight north wind Ray made it hang motionless 50 feet off the ground.

Get Unexpected Thrill.

One of the unscheduled thrills of the day occurred when Earl Stein of Fostoria, O., one of the jumpers who attempted to land by parachute on a "target," dropped on the side of the press stand. Stein scrambled along the awning, then clutched an iron pipe just as he was being pulled off by his wind filled chute. He climbed in, wiped his face, and admitted the 50 foot fall from the stand had him more worried than his 1,500 foot jump.

The feature race of the meeting will be held at 5 o'clock Chicago time tomorrow when the fastest racing planes of the country will compete for the Thompson trophy and $15,000 in prizes.

Advance dope is that the race will be fought out between Roscoe Turner, transcontinental champion and winner of last year's race, in his 1,000 horse power Hornet engined Wedell-Williams-Turner racer; Neuman, in Benny Howard's Mister Mulligan, the high wing monoplane and Weed C. [Penny] Rogers, cousin of the late Will Rogers and pilot of the Delgado Maid, powered with a Curtiss D-12 600 horse power motor.

GIRL FOUND SLAIN IN DENVER HOME OF STRANGERS

Denver, Colo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Discovery of the body of a young woman in the home of James H. Neal, official of a Denver live stock commission company, puzzled police tonight.

The young woman, identified as Helen Walters, 25, of Denver, Lowe said, apparently had taken her own life.

"She is a total stranger to us," Neal told police. "I found an automatic pistol, which I have owned for twenty-five years, lying on the bed."

NEW DEAL GETS ANOTHER HOUSE OF THE McLEANS

Leases Town Mansion on I Street.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Leasing of a second McLean mansion to the New Deal today marked the accession of young John H. [Jock] McLean, 19, to the headship of that well known family.

The "I street town house," foremost social salon of President Harding's administration, now is following the "Massachusetts avenue mansion" of the McLeans into office space for expanding federal agencies.

"Jock really out over the I street deal," said Miss Georgie Todd, secretary to Jock's mother, Evalyn Walsh McLean. "So he's really head of the family now and is taking his place very well in that capacity."

Young Jock came home from a year's work on the Cincinnati Enquirer, paper built by the grandfather for whom he was named, to find the home where he was born, 2020 Massachusetts avenue, going governmental by taking in Undersecretary Rexford Guy Tugwell and his Rural Resettlement administration.

Young McLean hustled right up and hastened a similar fate for the family home where his sister, Evalyn B., 13, was born. That left Friendship, the suburban estate where his brother, Edward B. [Ned], 17, named for his father, was born—and where Alice and Nicholas Longworth started their honeymoon.

At Friendship, which has a rambling old house with hundreds of walled-in acres, Mrs. McLean sent her secretary down to speak for her.

"This is the home they really love," the secretary said. "The other two had been closed for years. Both were suffering from disuse. And the government makes a good tenant—it's impersonal."

LOVE SPURNED, YOUTH ENDS LIFE IN LOOP HOTEL

Howard Miller, 23 years old, of Los Angeles, Cal., shot and killed himself last night in a room at the Palmer house, where he had registered on Saturday. His relatives in Los Angeles expressed the opinion he had taken his life because of disappointment over a love affair.

Miller left a note asking that his mother in Los Angeles be notified. His stepfather, R. W. Fisher, told of the young man's blasted romance.

"On Wednesday," he said, "Howard brought his sweetheart over to our house for dinner. Later I learned that he proposed to the girl on the way home and that she told him she could not marry him. Late Thursday he drove away. His car was found in a downtown parking lot, but we had not heard from him since he left."

Miller was a clerk in the Los Angeles Home Loan office. In his room at the Palmer house was found a ticket stub indicating he flew here.

HAVANA WARNED OF TIDAL WAVE AS STORM NEARS

HAVANA, Sept. 1.—(AP)—The army meteorological service tonight issued an urgent bulletin announcing a hurricane had been located 180 miles east of Havana, moving slowly westward with increasing intensity. The center of the storm is expected to pass near Havana into the Gulf of Mexico tomorrow afternoon.

The peril to Havana is delayed, but the north coast is threatened. The army meteorologists warned Havana and Matanzas provinces that around noon tomorrow precautions should be taken against a tidal wave.

Squall Perils Yacht.

Daytona Beach, Fla., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Unable to cross the Ponce de Leon inlet bar because of rough seas the steam yacht Kestrel tonight was trying to ride out a squall as a coast guard cutter from Fort Lauderdale plowed northward to her aid and coast guardsmen watched her battle with the elements from shore.

A party of fifteen was reported aboard the yacht, which went out for a pleasure and fishing cruise today. There was an unconfirmed report, discredited by officials here, that one of those on the yacht fell overboard and was lost.

The report had it that Marvin Roth, 11, son of Mack Roth, merchant, had been swept overboard. Relatives said they had not been able to communicate with the yacht.

The cutter Pandora from Fort Lauderdale was not expected to reach the scene until well past daybreak.

YACHT OF RADIO COMEDIAN BURNS NEAR SEATTLE

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The 51 foot yacht Nokomis, on which Jack Benny was vacationing, was destroyed by fire on a cruise in Hood canal today, but the radio comedian and members of his party escaped unhurt.

SWIMMER FINDS WATER COLD AND POLICE COLDER

Buck Kelly, 40 years old, [illegible] North Wells street, didn't realize how cool it was yesterday when he divested himself of his clothing and went for a swim in the lake north of Oak street beach. The realization came to him after he returned to shore and discovered that all the clothes had been stolen. There he was, without even a pair of trunks. Facing the choice of sitting in the bushes or walking without outer garments through the Gold Coast, Kelly chose to walk. Persons who saw him notified the police and before Kelly had reached Clark street he was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct and locked up in the Chicago avenue station despite his explanations.

LENIENCY PUTS 412 CRIMINALS BACK ON STREET

Win Parole or Probation, but Fail to Reform.

probation; 19 who had enjoyed the clemency of the parole board; and 5 who had benefited from both parole and probation.

Of the remainder, one former parolee and 5 ex-probationers drew jail sentences; 8 ex-probationers and 6 ex-parolees are awaiting trial; and three won acquittals. One of the men acquitted was both a parolee and a probationer and two had been on probation.

Violation of parole, Mr. Scully pointed out, is itself not necessarily a crime. Some men are returned to prison at their own request for medical treatment. Others merely disobey parole rules. In the five months, Mr. Scully said, he has withdrawn four warants.

Probationers Recommitted.

The probation department, as the table shows, obtained only ten warants for violation of probation. This department is under the direction of the judges in Cook county, while the board of pardons and paroles is an agency of the state executive department.

A condition of probation in many cases is the restitution of misappropriated property. The reason for the ten revocations of probation are listed as follow:

Failed to pay as ordered	3
Failed to pay and is missing	1
Resentenced to Bridewell	3
Resentenced to prison	1
Reconvicted and fined	1
Convicted outside Illinois	1

The offenses for which probation had been granted those ten persons were listed as follows: Bigamy, 1; confidence game, 1; embezzlement, 1; larceny, 3; larceny of automobile, 2; robbery, 1; tampering with automobile, 1.

Cases in Point Cited.

Crime commission records showed that James Hampton, colored, who had been granted probation on July 23, 1927, after conviction of carrying a gun, and who subsequently served two sentences, had become acquainted in prison with Willie Black, colored, who was paroled from the penitentiary Jan. 21, 1929, was sentenced to prison again on June 20, 1930, and was again paroled June 23, 1934. On on being freed they joined with a third ex-convict and last April 22 killed John Breen, a watchman, during a holdup. On June 18 Hampton and Black were sentenced to 99 years' imprisonment.

The case of Edward Darlack, 27 years old, 1417 West 15th street, was also cited. On May 29, 1930, Darlack, was given probation upon his plea of guilty of burglary. On March 18, 1931, a warant was issued charging him with violation of probation but he was not arrested until this year, and then as one of the robbers who killed Policeman Thomas Kelma last May 31. On July 26 Darlack was sentenced to 199 years imprisonment for the murder, and 1 year to life on a robbery charge. Two robbery charges are pending against him.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Data on Feeder Costs.

Sept. 1, 1935.

TODAY, out here at the Tribune Experimental farm, near Yorkville and Plano, Clarence Thurow, farm manager, and I had our annual cattle conference down on the bank of the Fox river, where a farmer can talk about steers and crops and whittle without being interrupted. Louis Thurow was there with a good sharp knife and his scratch pad filled with interesting notes taken on the Thurow brothers' recent cattle buying trip through Iowa, Nebraska, and South Dakota.

It was a treat to watch the steers and listen to these two cattle feeding experts talk about "good heads," "mellow hides," "good pair of hind legs," "well set tails," and other fine points that mean much to a live stock man. These telltale marks of a fine feeder animal seem to be well represented in the 282 new arrivals at the farm. There now are 426 hungry white faced yearling steers whetting their appetites in the bluegrass pastures, getting ready to transform the big grain and forage crops into dollars.

Other cattle feeders may be interested in the cost figures jotted down in the farm manager's notebook. The new steers were bought in three different bunches—80 head from South Dakota, 42 from Nebraska, and 160 from the Kansas City terminal market.

The South Dakota steers, weighing an average of 525 pounds when taken off the train at Plano, were bought by the head, costing $45 a piece, or $3,600 on the range. The transportation and feed in transit amounted to $226.20, and trucking from Plano to the farm $8, making a total of $3,834.20 for the 80 head, or an average of $9.12 a hundred pounds.

The 42 Nebraska steers averaged 566 pounds when weighed at Harrison, Neb. They cost $8.50 a hundred pounds on the range. Transportation and feed in transit costs totaled $119.69, and the trucking bill from Plano to the farm was $4.20, making a grand total of $2,146.89, or an average of $9.02 a hundred pounds laid down at the farm.

The 160 steers bought on the central market at Kansas City averaged 586 pounds at the market and cost $7,878.36. Other charges included $3.99 for a draft; transportation, $292.87, and $16 for trucking from Plano to the farm. The total cost was $8,191.22, or an average of $8.73 a hundred pounds.

"Other farmers who are following our steer feeder operations and are interested in making comparisons of the costs of these various bunches of cattle should consider the fact that they were weighed at different places," said Manager Thurow. "The South Dakota steers, for example, were weighed at Plano after having lost a great deal of weight in the long trip from the range. They were weighed before being fed or watered after being taken from the cars. The Nebraska cattle were weighed at the loading point. The shrink was fairly heavy after being driven from the ranch to Harrison, Neb. They would have weighed even less after making the trip from Nebraska to Plano. The Kansas City cattle, weighed at the market, lost little on the trip to the farm."

The entire herd of 426 cattle will be on feed soon. The 144 head brought to the farm several months ago have been given silage since Aug. 20. The 80 head from South Dakota were offered silage on the same day, but it took ten days to get them to start eating this feed, strange to a range animal. The Nebraska steers and those bought at Kansas City will be started on silage soon.

Workers at the Yorkville farm finished their job of neighborhood threshing last Friday. This week they expect to start harvesting the second crop of alfalfa. Next week they will bale the oats straw scattered around the stacks. Soy beans will be ready to cut for hay in about another week.

⁂

Corn is still green. The Thurow brothers say the corn needs another two weeks of ripening weather to be out of danger of frost.

LONGSHOREMEN AT NEW ORLEANS PONDER STRIKE

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Joseph P. Ryan, head of the International Longshoremen's association, tonight said in all probability a general strike of longshoremen would be called at New Orleans next Tuesday and that, if so, indications were it might spread to reach proportions of the recent Pacific coast tie-up.

Ryan said he is waiting to hear from William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor.

CHURCH YOUTHS FIGHT BUROCRAT SCHOOL SUBSIDY

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Lake Geneva, Wis., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Members of the Episcopal Youth society of Chicago, known as Gamma Kappa Delta, in sessions here today, condemned present government tendencies toward socialism, burocracy, and fascism. The resolution adopted also pointed to methods of preventing spread of communism "by keeping patriotism alive."

Uphold U. S. Constitution.

"We denounce as unpatriotic," the youth resolution declared, "any effort to substitute for the constitution of the United States any system of dictatorship, burocracy, or state socialism under any guise whatever, and oppose all schemes depriving us of the rights guaranteed under the constitution."

The Gamma Kappa Delta organization, representing about 10,000 Episcopal youths of Chicago and vicinity, asserted that the "real question of the day, as presented by the President to American youth, is whether some new economic system, which is being offered, is better than the old." The youths scored "governmental domination" and frowned upon vast governmental expenditures which promise excessive taxation for the youth of today to pay in the future.

Would Earn Own Way.

"We hereby resolve," the statement declared, "that we do not want to be subsidized by the government or made dependent upon the government for our existence; rather, we are more interested in an opportunity for honest livelihood according to our abilities."

The Episcopal youths declared their belief that the real social reform needed is one which effects the hearts of the American people in form of change toward material things, coupled with a greater respect for the churches. The youths resolved to "exert our utmost efforts to further Christianity by further developing a Christian spirit between men which will contribute toward putting aside of avarice and greed and thus contribute toward a better and cleaner living, which inevitably will result in good government, peace, and prosperity."

When a Friend asks You—

Are you embarrassed? Do you hate to tell him "no"?

Send him, or her, to this friendly Bank. We specialize in the business of making personal loans to people. We lend in any amount from $50 to $500 to $5,000 or more.

Your friend can borrow here on regular banking collateral, or on his automobile. Or simply on his good character—in fact, most of our loans are made on that basis.

Because our terms are so liberal, and our rates are so low, in practically every case people are able to meet the payments promptly and regularly.

Ask any leading Chicago business man about the high standing and fair dealing of this bank. Thousands of them refer their friends or employees to us. Many borrow here themselves in substantial amounts, for personal reasons.

The next time a friend asks you for money, send him to us.

TRANS-ATLANTIC TRAVEL HEAVIEST SINCE 1929 DAYS

130,000 Sail for Europe in Three Months.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—The 1935 eastbound trans-Atlantic passenger business is the largest the American shipping industry has handled since 1929, the United States shipping board bureau announced today. A survey just completed by the bureau reveals that 130,000 tourists were transported to European ports in May, June, and July.

Of that number only about 56,000 have returned to the United States, leaving approximately 74,000 who will require westbound sailing accommodations during the brief period remaining before the end of the season.

The facilities of the American trans-Atlantic companies, says the shipping board, recently have been taxed to capacity and some lines have been forced to turn away hundreds of passengers because of inadequate tonnage.

Cabin Liners Popular.

The shipping board survey revealed the growing popularity of American cabin liners and combination vessels over the superliners of foreign registry, and their greater efficiency with respect to comparative tonnage and available passenger space. This is evidenced by the fact that they not only carry proportionately more passengers for their available accommodations than do any of their principal foreign competitors, but are carrying more for each 1,000 net registered tons of the vessel.

British flag lines control about 37 per cent of the passenger accommodations but carry only 27 per cent of the passengers, whereas American lines control only 8 per cent of the space but transport over 11 per cent of the trafic.

Favor American Ships.

"It becomes increasingly apparent, with each new season," the board said, "that the American traveling public appreciates the more familiar atmosphere of their own vessels. This growing demand for accommodations on American lines refutes the idea sometimes advanced that Americans are unpatriotic in choosing their means of transportation when going abroad.

"For the three month period mentioned the percentage of available space filled on the Manhattan and Washington, American ships, eastbound and westbound, was 72 per cent for each ship, for the Bremen and Europa, 57 per cent and 58 per cent, respectively, for the Normandie and Ile de France, 59 per cent and 45 per cent, and for the Berengaria and Majestic, 36 per cent and 28 per cent.

TROUT LASSOED BY MOVIE ACTOR TO WIN A BET

Sequoia National Park, Cal., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Rangers who patrol Uncle Sam's National forests generally are very reputable men, and cameras seldom lie—all of which leads up to a fish story.

Ellison made a bet, first taken as a joke, that he would make just as good a catch with his lariat as the most seasoned sportsmen would with rod and reel.

Accompanied by rangers, equipped with cameras, Ellison first tried with regulation tackle. The fish were too familiar with accepted lures, so Ellison brought out a small rope lariat. Politely, but with suppressed amusement, the ranger witnesses stood by.

Their smiling expressions soon turned to ones of amazement when Ellison deftly tossed a loop over the head and gills of a big trout jumping at flies tossed in the river. In a twinkling, Ellison had the big fellow beached. The catch was a steelhead or lake trout, weighing about 6½ pounds and measuring 28 inches. It was the largest fish taken this year in this region.

An inquest will be held today into the death of Mrs. Ruth Tolle, 21 years old, who leaped from a window of her third story apartment in the University hotel, 5519 Blackstone avenue, after a drinking party early yesterday.

Her husband, Clyde, 24 years old, a drug clerk, who is being held by the police for the inquest, said that he and his wife had entertained another couple at bridge where a number of drinks were served. As the party was about to break up, Mrs. Tolle ran to a room, locked the door and shouted that she was going to commit suicide, he asserted. According to her husband, before he could batter down the door, Mrs. Tolle plunged to her death.

TANKS ROAR AS FRANCE TESTS MOTORIZED ARMY

MOURMELON, France, Sept. 1.—(AP)—All roads echoed to the roar of nearly 3,000 tanks and armored cars today as concentration of troops was completed for France's autumn army maneuvers, its first big test of warfare on wheels.

More than 40,000 men assembled for the first mock battle, to begin at dawn tomorrow, in the region between Paris and the German frontier—scene of world war history.

For the first time in the history of French military action not a single horse will be used. Italian, Polish, Belgian, and soviet missions joined the camp of their French allies.

During the first week three motorized divisions of 20,000 men will participate in maneuvers to emphasize particularly speed in modern combat. The maneuvers are intended to answer one question — how far can motors carry a mass of troops over a battlefield in an average day?

Church Crowd Battles Barn Fire in Antioch

Churchgoers bound for late mass at St. Peter's Catholic church on Hillside avenue in Antioch yesterday joined with the fire departments of Antioch and Fox Lake to fight a $5,000 blaze in a barn opposite the church. The fire destroyed the barn, 35 tons of hay, and 1,000 bushels of grain. Twelve horses and cows were saved. The barn was owned by County Supervisor Barney E. Naber of Lake county.

GERMANY BACKS SCHACHT IN ROW WITH GOEBBELS

Economic Chief Reinstates Ousted Official.

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Nazi authorities apparently will support the action of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, minister of economics, in reinstating a Reichsbank official who had incurred the wrath of Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, minister of propaganda, it was asserted today by persons close to official circles.

These sources said, however, no definite steps in his rehabilitation as a citizen could be expected until after the Nazi party convention beginning Sept. 10.

The official, Emil Koeppen, was sent to a concentration camp for three months after Goebbel's Berlin newspaper, Der Angriff, had attacked him for evicting a tenant from an apartment house for nonpayment of rent.

Propaganda Funds Curtailed.

Financial circles heard rumors that Goebbels was really hitting at Schacht for curtailing funds for propaganda purposes abroad.

In reinstating Koeppen, Schacht ignored Goebbels, party leader for Berlin, addressing a statement to Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, as Prussian premier and chief of the secret police.

Schacht demanded complete restoration of Koeppen's honor, saying he had investigated the case and found Koeppen always had acted humanely toward his tenants and "there was no occasion for disciplinary proceedings."

Find Case Difficult One.

Gen. Goering was not in Berlin today, and his department officials said they had no authority to make any statement.

Well-informed circles intimated that considerable time probably would be required to find the "appropriate formula" for restoration of Koeppen's honor as a citizen since it presents peculiar difficulties. Koeppen, they pointed out, has been held up to public execration by the whole press as a result of Der Angriff's lead.

BEG YOUR PARDON

In the issue of Aug. 22 THE TRIBUNE printed a dispatch from Terre Haute, Ind., attributing to R. Clyde White, United States department of labor conciliator, a statement that a shakedown of Terre Haute employés was attempted by strike leaders there. The story said that a demand that employers pay off a mortgage on the Terre Haute Labor temple was refused, and that thereafter the recent general strike began. Mr. White writes that he made no such statement and that he was in Michigan when the alleged interview took place.

It was stated in an item yesterday that the barbers' price fixing injunction was issued by Judge Peter M. Schwaba of the Superior court. The injunction was issued by Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court. Judge Schwaba fined three barbers for violating the restraining order.

40 OF SOUTH SIDE 'RED' PARADERS HELD FOR TRIAL

Forty of nearly 300 persons arrested on Saturday during a parade which police charge was organized by communists to protest the invasion of Ethiopia by Italy were charged yesterday with unlawful assembly and disorderly conduct. The other prisoners were admonished and released.

The 14 women and 26 men against whom charges were placed will be arraigned in Women's court tomorrow. All the women, who paraded in defiance of police orders, denied that they are students of the University of Chicago.

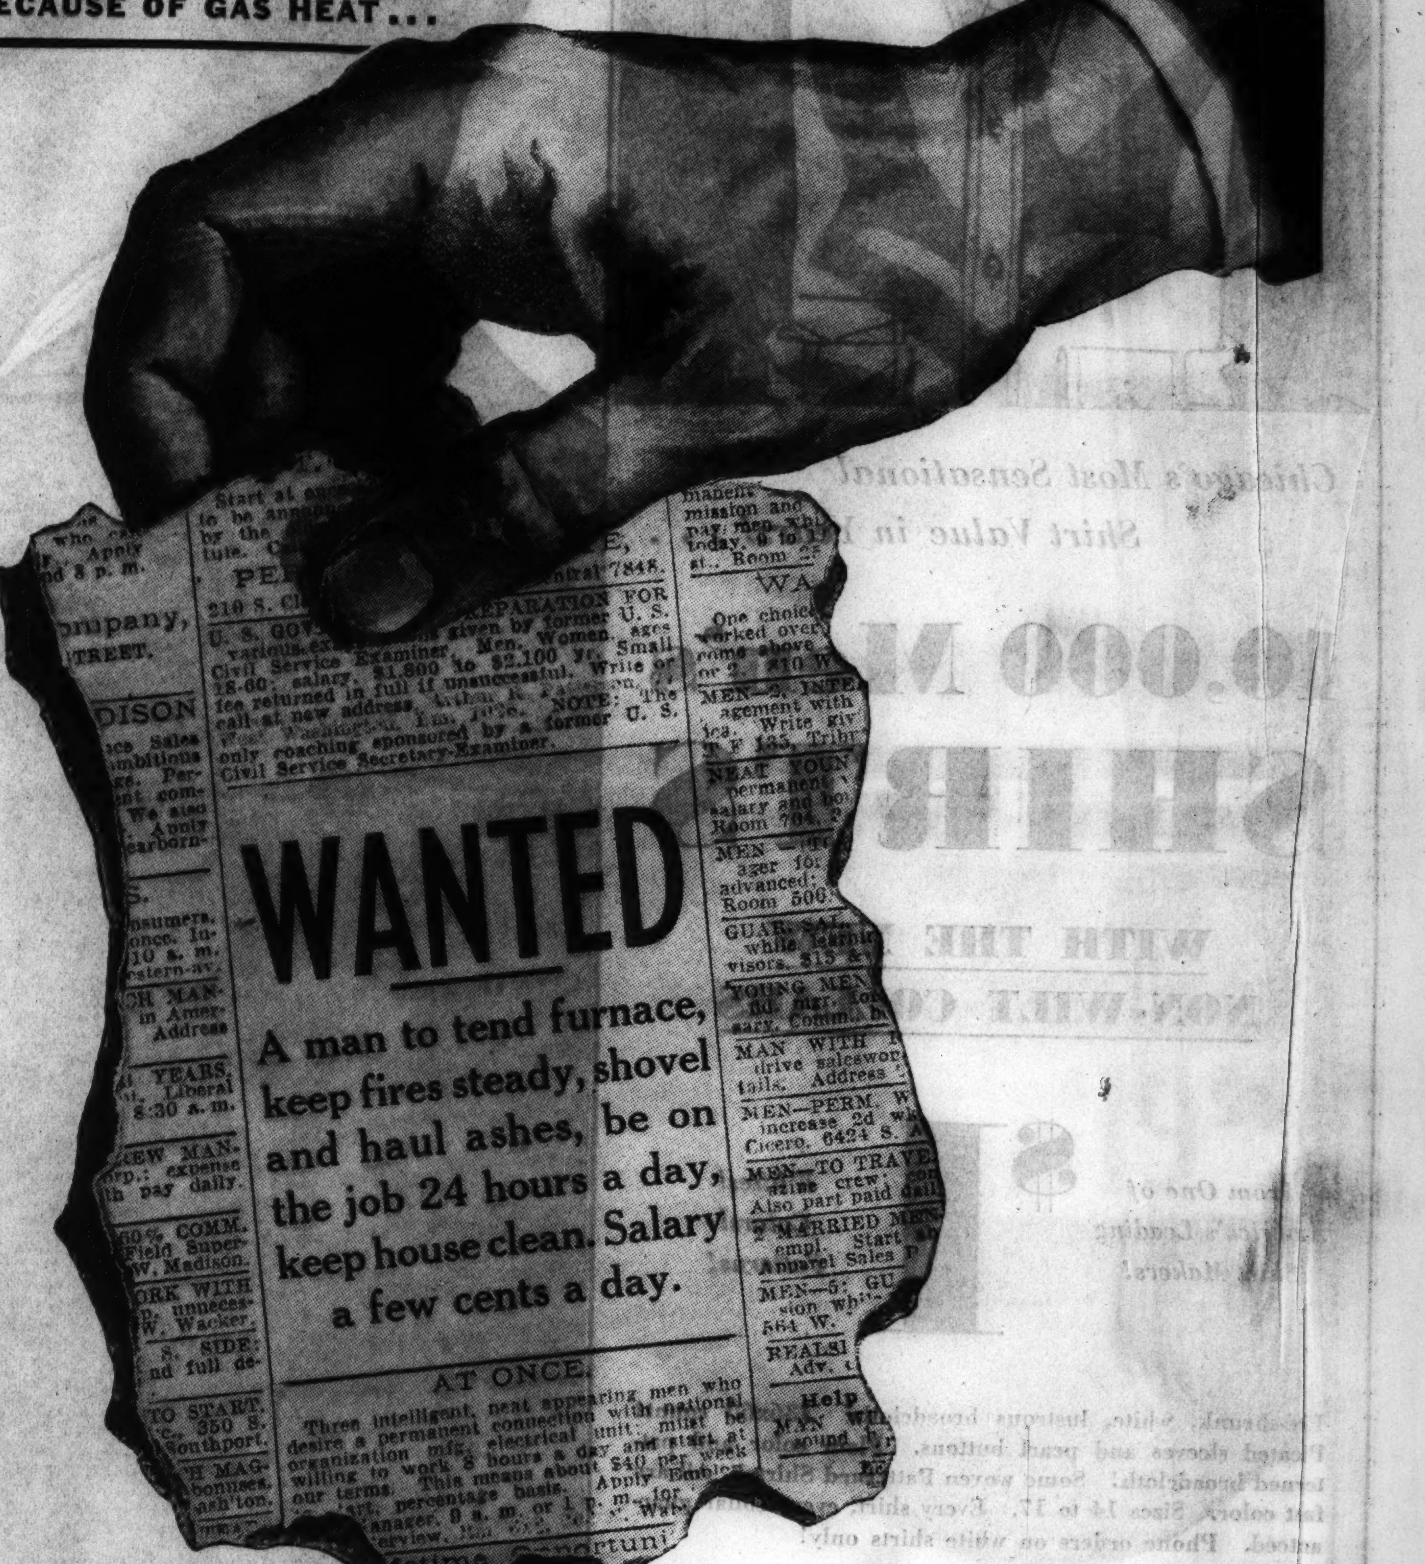
125,000 PEOPLE IN THE CHICAGO AREA ARE LIVING BETTER BECAUSE OF GAS HEAT...

A job nobody wants



WANTED

A man to tend furnace, keep fires steady, shovel and haul ashes, be on the job 24 hours a day, keep house clean. Salary a few cents a day.

but Gas Heat will take it!

IF this advertisement appeared in the paper you read daily, what would you say? Ridiculous! Nonsense! Absurd! But just think a moment.

You wouldn't want the job at that salary. Nor would anyone you know. Drudgery, back-breaking toil. Long hours, night work, no days off. And only a few cents a day for your trouble. Such an advertisement may appear ridiculous. Nevertheless, it's the job you actually hold right now, if you're still putting up with old-fashioned methods of heating.

Make up your mind to be rid of all furnace worries and work. For a few cents more a day, your family could be enjoying all the freedom and luxury of modern gas heat. Gas heat, of course, takes care of itself. It is clean and absolutely automatic. Once you have it installed, you're free from shoveling coal, tending the furnace and cleaning out furnace dirt. Gas heat gives you welcome hours of extra leisure. More time to play with the children, more time for the things you've always wanted to do. More time for sleep in the mornings, too. No icy trips to the basement. The furnace starts up in the morning automatically.

Let us show you how reasonably your family may enjoy gas heat. Its many advantages cost only a few cents more a day. Investigate now. Call your nearest Gas Company office and ask for free estimate.

The Actual Cost of heating this home with gas during the 1934-35 heating season was $158.38. It is the home of Mr. E. C. Wyman, 1510 Estes Ave., Chicago. Learn how comparatively little it costs to heat your home with gas. Call your nearest Gas Company office and ask for free accurate estimate.

AUTOS TAKE TOLL IN CHICAGOLAND HOLIDAY CRASHES

U. S. Death Toll 97

The nation's holiday death toll climbed steadily last night, with 97 dead and scores injured in automobile crashes throughout the country.

Automobile accidents began taking their Labor day holiday toll of deaths and injuries in Chicagoland yesterday.

Miss Agnes Fisher, 17 years old, of 3346 South Hamilton avenue was killed; her fiancé, Don Vannier, 18 years old, 3350 South Hamilton avenue, was probably fatally injured, and four other members of a holiday party from Chicago were hurt when their automobile was struck by a Rock Island railroad passenger train near Minooka.

Others injured and taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Joliet, where physicians held little hope for Vannier's recovery, were Wesley Saulter, 18 years old, 2931 West 40th street; Lillian Vannier, 15 years old, sister of Don; Arthur Middle, 18 years old, 3359 Irving Park boulevard, and Raymond Tamthear, 18 years old, 2415 West 67th street. Father F. P. Coupal, C. M., of St. Louis, a passenger on the train, administered the last rites of the Catholic church to Miss Fisher and Vannier at the scene.

Car Hits Tree; Woman Killed.

Mrs. Anna Hurst, 35 years old, 4334 South Sawyer avenue, was killed early in the day when the car in which she was riding with her husband, Thomas, and a cousin, Vernon Hurst, 19 years old, of Ekalaka, Mont., struck a tree near Cottage Grove avenue and the Lincoln highway in East Chicago Heights. Hurst, who was injured, said that he was blinded by the headlights of another car. His cousin was cut and bruised.

Fred Lemke, 55 years old, of Route 1, Bensenville, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile in York road a half mile south of Elk Grove. Lemke's body was lying in the road when a car driven by Alfred Eickelman of Bensenville struck it. Highway police said Lemke previously had been struck by a car whose driver did not stop.

Buster Palmer, 19 years old, 2207 Grove street, Blue Island, was killed when he was thrown from the back of a converted racing car in the suburb.

Head-On Crash Victim Dies.

Fred Stahlhofen, 40 years old, 5216 Eddy street, a printer, died in the Englewood hospital from injuries incurred Wednesday when his car collided head on with a truck at West 63d street and Harlem avenue. Charles Evers of Benton Harbor, Mich., driver of the truck, was charged with reckless driving and has been ordered to appear at the inquest.

Joseph Kantz, 52 years old, of Libertyville, was killed near Waukegan when his bicycle was struck by an automobile driven by Earl Clark of Gurnee.

Lelia Hawes, 31 years old, colored, of 661 East 50th street, was injured fatally in an accident involving three automobiles on U. S. highway 20 north of La Porte, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bedmark and Mrs. Bedmark's mother, Mrs. Katherine Wozasinski, all of 3441 Elaine place, were occupants of the other Chicago car. With Joe Blackwell, colored, who was with Hawes, the injured were taken to Holy Family hospital at La Porte, where Hawes died.

Collision Injures Chicagoans.

In another head-on collision involving a Chicago car, Joseph Wilusz, 52 years old, 3048 South Springfield avenue, was critically injured near Mishawaka. Wilusz drove his machine into a car driven by Stephen Creslowski of Detroit.

Also injured were John Zych, 44 years old; Mrs. Helen Zych, 42 years old; Mrs. Alice Zych, 20 years old, and Virginia Zych, 14 years old, all of 5215 Barry avenue.

Mrs. Ralph L. Harris, wife of Dr. Harris of 10415 South Irving avenue, was injured critically and her three children, Ralph Jr., 15 years old, Marion, 12 years old, and Richard, 8 years old, less seriously hurt, when their automobile, driven by Dr. Harris, collided with a bus on the Prescott highway near Ottawa, Canada.

Sergei Tarnowsky, 75 East Division street, a cello instructor, and Ennio Bolognini, 218 East Huron street, also a musician, were slightly injured last night when their automobile crashed into another at Mansfield, O. In the accident Marion Short, 40 years old, of Mansfield, was killed and his wife and son were hurt.

Joliet Convict Is Killed in Fall Off Scaffold

Falling 25 feet from a scaffold in the dining room of the Stateville prison near Joliet, Charles Monroe, 30 years old, a convict from Chicago, was killed yesterday. A plank on the scaffold slipped, throwing him to the floor. He was serving a ten year term for larceny.

COMES THE REVOLUTION —AND HOW.

WHICH TWIN WINS?

What we'd like to know is the future of the twin governments of the United States. One fellow gets kicked out of bed, and we'd like to know which one. Collectivist democracy or representative democracy? Corporations or departments? The chairman and the board or an independent congress, the courts, and the constitution?

Are we playing with novel ideas or is destiny playing with us?

When in the opinion of the Russian soviet corporation directors Russia needs more shoes and is ready to make more shoes the management puts more money in the shoe business. It may or may not get the shoes, but that is the way it is gone about. Ivan and Sonia need more shoes. They get them when the dictatorship is ready to produce more shoes. This is Mr. Tugwell's allocation of capital.

In a fashion, Mr. Tugwell already has done more allocating of capital then he appears to have done. We can return to that. It hasn't been in industry. It has been in agriculture. We may regard Mr. Tugwell as the Mr. Brittling of the New Deal. He is prepared to see it through. He knows his way to town.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation has decided that the United States needs more streamlined trains. Sam and Martha need streamlined trains, not shoes. Mr. Jesse H. Jones could decide this, as chairman. When he has decided it the matter is simple. He allocates some capital. In this case he furnishes the money to the Budd Manufacturing company. It will make the trains. The RFC will say what the design of the trains is to be. Railroads will buy the trains on the instalment plan. Mr. Jones will say which railroads. Brother Stalin, come over and see us some time.

Which twin is to be kicked out of bed? The Pullman company, General Motors, and other private corporations are making or preparing to make streamlined trains. Can they do so successfully against this allocation of capital by a federal corporation? Or do we get shoes and trains, bread and beeswax from our soviet?

Regarding the farmer's land as capital, as some economists' formulas would, let us consider bread and beeswax, pork, beef, and cotton goods. Has Mr. Tugwell in the AAA been allocating capital? He, along with Mr. Wallace, decides that domestic consumption of farm products will be so much. So many loaves and shirts will be required. Then he aims to base production upon this estimate. Part of his allocation is in reverse. It lies in the withdrawal of land from use, the withdrawal of capital means of production. The other part is the subsidy, the allocation of money to compensate for the withdrawal. Thus our people get their bread and shirts, much, is it not, as Ivan gets his shoes?

Mr. Tugwell and Mr. Wallace make bad guesses or they get unexpected help. The drouth falls in step with them. It withdraws more land from production. The combined efficiency is too much. Foodstuffs must be brought in from other countries. Prices rise. The AAA corporation mismanages cotton. Cotton fields are transplanted to other lands abroad. Our planters lose their markets. Also our mills shut down their spindles.

Some of us hold that whatever happens there is no better substitute for the free man. He has his planned society. It flows from his freedom. It is the price economy against the planned economy. He suffers at times, but not so much as under an all-powerful government controling him at all points.

The collectivist democracy may be given its accolade by the voters. It may then go on to whatever undertakings are within its prospectus. It may be given its quietus. It will then be withered at the root. It's possible that the issue will be made clearer between now and September of next year.

There are yearly and again decennial currents in the governmental life of man. They are turned here and there by his immediate needs and experiences. They are currents of this generation or the other. There are also tides. We may not know how they flow or why. These floods and ebbs take man beyond his comprehension. He can see the currents. He never sees the flow of tide. Hundreds of years afterwards it is to be seen what the ebb and flood has done. There are many rhythms in the progress of mankind. The greatest one is that which includes a century in its beat.

When Germany called in the Italian lawyers in the revival of learning in the middle ages it destroyed its own law. Its ancient folk laws went down. Roman law was adopted. The event is known as the Reception, and ranks with the Reformation in consequences. Fortunately, ancient Germanic law had been planted in England, where it survived. German scholars find it there. It was the law of the free man, and representative democracy grew from it, in England and in the United States. Its roots had been torn up in Germany and the autocratic state planted instead.

The Reception explains the short life of the German republic and of the Weimar constitution. It explains Hitler. The medieval Germans called in the enemy centuries ago, and he molded their thought, divorced them from their ancient habits, stamped them with his governmental discipline, and they still have him.

We find it difficult to believe that the American people, with their future in their own decisions, will call in the enemy. Where he is in he can be put out.

We can't believe that a future age will look back at our own Reception and wonder why we did it.

ESCAPES AT ST. CHARLES.

The director of the state school for boys at St. Charles pleads that he can't stop the escapes of his charges because they sneak off through the tall corn. This doesn't ring any too true in the face of the last available report on the institution [September, 1934], which shows 141 employés taking care of 457 boys. That seems almost enough help to picket every row in the cornfield.

Nevertheless, the long notoriety which the school has suffered over the escapes of its inmates suggests that the system under which it is administered may be even worse at fault than the personnel.

There have been radical changes in the population of Illinois during the last half century, which inevitably have influenced the type of boy committed to the school. Not only did immigration introduce racial stocks which mature more quickly than did the stock of the eighties and nineties, but increased urbanization, particularly urban slums, quickened the maturity of all so-called juvenile delinquents.

When the school was founded the typical delinquent boy was likely to be a confirmed truant, or perhaps a petty thief. His principal fault was a lack of training at home. An institutional home which supplied that missing discipline gave considerable promise of redeeming him for society, in the favorite phrase of the social workers.

Today the typical delinquent's fault is positive rather than negative. Worse than the neglect of his training at home is his training in crime on the streets. He may have been schooled in a gang of boy automobile thieves. His ambition too often is already fixed on a climb through the ranks of petty stickup men to the eminence of the full fledged gangster or labor racketeer. At the same calendar age of the delinquent of thirty-five years ago he is vastly older in experience, and he obviously requires much sterner treatment.

Two men's comments on the most recent series of escapes summarize the situation. Joseph L. Moss, a professional social worker, said: "St. Charles is not a prison but a place for education and correction. With few exceptions the boys sent there can be kept in with a minimum of restraint. If St. Charles is made into a prison the purpose of the institution will be thwarted."

Police Commissioner Allman said: "Boys bad enough to be sent to St. Charles are bad enough to be kept there."

The commissioner probably has the more realistic view of the typical boy at St. Charles today. While Mr. Moss assumes, perhaps incorrectly, that the earlier, less mature delinquent is still predominant at the school, he is quite right in his conclusion. To make St. Charles a juvenile prison would hamper, perhaps destroy, its effectiveness in dealing with that earlier type of boy who, while he is probably no longer in the majority, is still found at the school.

That both commentators are partially right means simply that St. Charles cannot function successfully both as a prison for criminals too young for admission to the state reformatory and as a correctional home. The discordant functions should be split. Separate institutions may be necessary, or it may be possible to operate a dual system in the present school by the combination of strict restraint with the privileges of an honor system.

THE $40.90 SEATS OF IOWA'S MIGHTY.

[Des Moines Register.]

All but two of Iowa's $40.90 chairs, shipped to their homes by members of the Iowa senate under the erroneous belief that they could be bought for $10 each, have been returned to the statehouse. The missing two also are coming back, their present holders declare.

Senators with a fond attachment to the swivel seats from which they participated in directing the destinies of Iowa had voted to sell the chairs to themselves for the nominal figure. Unanimously they recovered from this surrender to sentiment when the executive council announced that they had been excessively generous to themselves at the expense of the state, and that the sale price must be at least the cost of replacement.

The council's insistence established a precedent which it is to be hoped will be preserved. Practice in former years has been for legislators to adopt resolutions authorizing the purchase of state furniture at such attractive figures that one member of an earlier session is said to have availed himself of enough bargains to furnish a billiard hall.

If they can "knock down" to themselves the chairs in which they have sat there is no reason why the lawmakers by the same authority should not acquire draperies, light fixtures, carpets, desks, typewriters, and nearly any other equipment to which they have taken a fancy during their official familiarity with these objects.

It should no more be necessary to refurnish the legislative chambers than to regild the statehouse dome after each session of the general assembly.

Between the salary grab experience and the later chair-sale-and-return it should begin to become apparent that there is a limit to the prerogatives and to the perquisites that go with election to public office in Iowa.

Jest Tourin' 'Round—1935

Home again,
And nice to get back.
However,
There's no denying
That travel or touring,
Or whatever you want
To call it,
Broadens the mind,
Or at least makes the mind
Believe
It's been broadened,
Which is just as satisfactory,

One finds out so many Things
When he is touring 'round that
He would never have known
Had he stayed at home.
Now there was the manager
Of the hotel
In Pennsylvania
Who told us all about
Mr. Roosevelt's silent army.
He said the young men
Of the CCC
Were really an army,
Although they had no flags,
No guns and no spurs.
Nobody could really believe an army
Was really an army
Unless it had spurs,
But the hotel man in Pennsylvania
Said the guns and the flags
And the spurs
Had all been assembled
In Washington
And were ready to send out
Any day at all
To the CCC.

The hotel man said the CCC
Were already seasoned troopers;
That "Right about face" and "Fix bayonets"
And "As you were" and "Forward march"
Were simple things which Could be taught the CCC
In a few hours.
The main thing was to get
The men conditioned,
And the CCC were as brown
As old Mexican saddles
And as hard as nails,
And as soon as the rifles
And the flags and the spurs
Were shipped them
From Washington
They would be
A mighty army.

Now that's news
We never heard
At home,
But we found it out
In Pennsylvania.
And after that
We never approached a CCC camp
But what we waited for the challenge,
"Halt, who's there? Advance one
And be recognized."
But the CCC never halted us.
Instead they wriggled their thumbs
For a ride
And told us about the new flower gardens
They were making,
And the crow they had taught
To say, "Hurrah for Roosevelt."
And the camp dog who would Lie down and howl
Awful anguish when one of The CCC's would say,
"Suppose somebody walked up to you
And said, 'Hello, Mussolini!'"

Yes, the CCC seemed quite tame
And very gentle, and not
Like a fierce array
Of storm troopers endeavoring
To die
In the last ditch.
Still you can't always tell.

And what the Pennsylvania hotel man
Told us may at least
Be put in the card index
Under the caption that the newspaper
Used in the days of the Civil War,
"Important If True!"

And then we met another man
Up in the Adirondacks
Who sat on the front porch
Of his great summer castle
And said the country had
All gone to hell,
And that he would sell
Every summer home he had,
And he had seven,
And leave the United States
Flat on its back
And move to another country,
Only
The whole world had all gone to hell.
And so whichever way he Turned he was liable to land
Right plump down in that
Distinctly undesirable place
For a permanent residence.
Whereupon he called the Butler
Who brought another round
Of Manhattan cocktails
And everybody cheered up,
And somebody said that Universal Amalgamated Limited
Had gone up seven points
In two days
And that it looked liked
A mighty good buy.

The butler brought in another
Round of cocktails and the Financial section of the Morning newspaper,
And everything seemed so cheery
The butler brought in another
Round of cocktails.
And everybody stood up and sang,
"Oh say can you see
La la la la la la
La la la la la
La la la la la——"
Which is the quaint way we Americans have
Of singing our national hymn
When the stock market goes up,
Or we find we can buy
A new automobile
(On installment) or a new radio
(On same),
Or have just had a present
Of a bottle of Scotch Whisky.

How to Keep Well By Dr. Irving S. Cutter ◆◆◆

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Cutter will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual disease.

CANKER SORES.

DISEASE conditions which are not in themselves significant may utterly destroy efficiency. We are familiar with the crippling distress that may result from a corn on a toe or a painful callus on the bottom of the foot. An ulcerated tooth as a rule is readily removed, but if allowed to remain it often incapacitates the individual and sometimes leads to local or systemic disease that is serious in character. So it is with infections in the mouth. The tongue or the mucous membrane in certain areas may become so sore that the chewing or even swallowing of food is practically impossible.

The oral cavity is remarkably free from disease when we consider that it is a very busy place. Something is going on most of the time, whenever we are chewing, swallowing, or talking. Even during sleep the secretion of saliva continues, although at a retarded rate, and swallowing, with mouth movements, occurs. This is particularly true if irritation or inflammation of any character is present.

The term stomatitis covers a "multitude of sins." The word means inflammation in the mouth and usually refers to the well known canker sores. These are also called herpes and are in some instances similar to the "cold sores" that often appear on the lips.

A canker sore usually starts as a small, watery bleb on the inner surface of the cheek, or on the gums, or tongue. In a short time the blister breaks and leaves an oval, reddish area that within a few hours takes on the character of a shallow ulcer. When viewed in a good light it may appear slightly irregular in outline. The shade of the ulcer bed is usually grayish or grayish brown, with a surrounding reddish border. These areas are exceedingly sensitive and the slightest irritation causes an intense burning pain.

Sometimes the condition clears up spontaneously in a few days. The ulcers may, however, extend not only in area but in depth, and there may be an accompanying swelling of the tongue and cheeks. If more than one sore is present, eating may become a torture. Not infrequently individuals who are prone to be affected with canker sores will have several at the same time, and cases have been reported in which the ulcers have continued for months. Two or three will appear and heal within a few days, to be followed by a fresh crop.

When canker sores occur in young children they may cause symptoms of restlessness and fretfulness, and because of the pain the child will often refuse to eat. This means that whenever an infant fails to gain normally the mouth should be examined for possible infection.

The cause of the condition is generally believed to be some disturbance in the gastrointestinal tract, possibly due to a food allergy or sensitivity. Occasionally the sores will accompany or follow fevers and sometimes appear during convalescence.

Great care must be taken in distinguishing the condition from Vincent's angina, typical inflammation of the tongue [glossitis], syphilis [mucous patches], etc. Thrush, which is caused by a plant fungus, may be recognized by the characteristic appearance of the white patches which are generally raised above the surface.

The first rule in the treatment of canker sores is to correct digestive disturbances. Constipation must be overcome and the diet confined to plain, wholesome food without excess of sugars and starches; in fact, reducing the sugars and starches is sometimes all that is required. Care should be taken that the diet is adequate in vitamins, particularly C and A. Suitable mouth washes are recommended and the canker sores themselves may be cauterized with a 5 to 10 per cent solution of silver nitrate, or, if this is not available, a small crystal of potassium alum may be used.

Sodium perborate and potassium chlorate solutions are useful in promoting good mouth hygiene. Neither should be swallowed, and food should not be taken for half an hour afterward.

CHANGE OF LIFE.

E. H. writes: What are the symptoms of the change of life in women? Perhaps if we knew more about them we would understand better what to do.

REPLY.

The menopause, climacteric, or change of life begins about the forty-sixth or forty-seventh year in healthy women. The onset may occur earlier or later and be in no sense abnormal. Robust women may exhibit no symptoms, but the majority will complain of sensitiveness to heat and cold, periodic perspiration, and distension of the abdomen [erroneously thought to be gas in the intestines]. Nervous symptoms may be quite prominent. The individual may be more irritable, and occasionally periods of depression will occur. There is a tendency to magnify physical ailments.

We must remember that during this time the ovaries and the uterus are undergoing atrophy or shrinkage. General hygienic care is important. Mental and physical strain should be avoided, and overeating particularly guarded against. Coffee is often disturbing, and may be limited to one cup a day at breakfast. Injections of the ovarian hormone [theelin or folliculin] are often of value. Sometimes a mild sedative is helpful in allaying the nervousness.

TROUBLE WITH EAR.

M. P. K. writes: Nine years ago I had a sinus infection which was drained. I have no sign of sinus disease now, but I am completely deaf in one ear. Three months ago my good ear began to trouble me. I have been going to a clinic for treatment, but all they do is blow out the ear.

Is there any hope of my being able to hear again?

REPLY.

Evidently you have difficulty in keeping the Eustachian tube open, hence the blowing out treatment that you mention. As soon as the inflammation subsides the tube should return to normal, with improvement in hearing, unless some destruction of the hearing mechanism has occurred.

MAJORITY IMPROVE.

S. A. writes: Is there any hope for a patient with myasthenia gravis?

REPLY.

A recent report notes that forty-five patients with myasthenia gravis—a progressive muscle weakness not accompanied by wasting—were admitted to one of the large medical clinics of the country in the last three years. Of these fifteen are now able to carry on practically full time work and are entirely self-supporting, twenty-five are able to do light work, while only five are confined to the bed or a chair. The treatment consisted principally of fairly generous doses of glycocoll [the simplest of the amino-acids].

CLOSING OF ESTATE.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—An estate consisting of first mortgages and bonds to be divided equally among four heirs has been filed in Probate court. An administratrix was appointed and the estate is ready for closing, but the one heir will not appear to agree with other heirs how distribution of the property shall be made. 1. Can estate be closed without this heir if other three heirs are agreeable on division? 2. Will courts accept petition giving each heir one-fourth of the estate without stating which bonds and mortgages shall be given each? 3. If so, how will the heirs get title to anything to collect interest and principal when due? 4. What steps can be taken if other three heirs are agreeable to close estate without consent of fourth heir? M. C.

1. Yes, by selling the assets under court order and distributing the proceeds.

2. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing why he objects. If he claims that one of the other parcels is more valuable and you claim that they are all of equal value it would seem to be a simple solution for you to offer him first choice.

3. We do not understand the question.

4. See preceding answers. Ordinarily it is advisable to employ an attorney for probate proceedings. If you have employed such attorney he is in a better position to advise you than we are.

ILLEGAL ENTRY.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—[Friend of the People.]—I was a seaman, but for the last 19 years have stayed in America. Is it possible for me to take out citizenship papers and stay here? W. O. T.

It is assumed that the inquirer entered this country illegally 19 years ago. Under existing law, aliens who entered the United States without inspection prior to June 3, 1921, may apply for registration and legalization of their residence here. If the inquirer desires to do this, it is suggested that he call at this office for appropriate application blanks and further information.

NOTES AND MORTGAGES.

Chicago, Aug. 26.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How many years does a principal note secured by a mortgage on Wisconsin property run before becoming outlawed after maturity, providing no payments are made thereon, either interest or principal? 2. What procedure will be required in the following case: John Jones and wife borrow from Harry Smith and wife $3,000 and as security give Smith a first mortgage on their Wisconsin farm consisting of a $3,000 note made payable to Harry Smith and wife, a mortgage deed securing said note. During the life of this mortgage Harry Smith's wife, one of grantees in the mortgage, dies. Said mortgage is now due and Jones and wife are ready to pay and want a satisfaction or a release. Is Smith's signature sufficient or must the children, numbering four, all adults, join in this release? J. J. K.

1. The Wisconsin limitation period on a mortgage note is six years.

2. If it is an old fashioned common law mortgage the heirs of the creditor should sign the release.

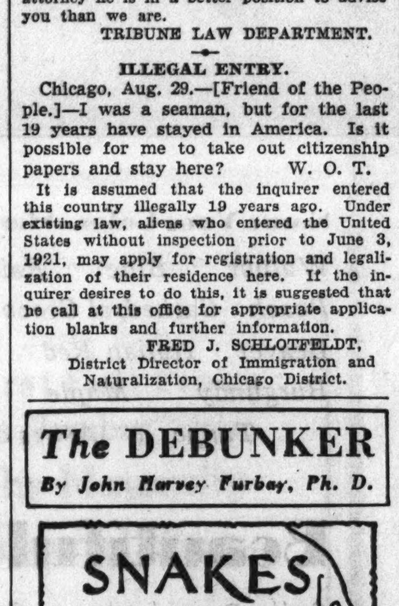
The DEBUNKER

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph. D.



A snake is no colder than any other object about us. It has no temperature of its own, and on a warm day is as warm as the stones and earth where it is found, while on a cold day it is as cold as the objects about it. There is no reason why people should regard snakes as "cold" any more than they would regard a stone or any other object as cold. It all depends upon the temperature of the air.

HENRY GEORGE'S BIRTHDAY.

Wichita, Kas., Aug. 30.—On Monday, Sept. 2, the birthday of Henry George will be honored by his followers in many lands. When "Progress and Poverty" was published it was recognized as a great book and almost immediately translated and published in every modern language, including partial editions in Chinese and Japanese. At a world's conference of Henry George's followers held in Glasgow, Scotland, delegates from twenty-two different countries were present.

More than forty years ago, upon request of the writer, Mrs. George selected the following as her choice of his words for Henry George's birthday. The quotation is from a speech in Sydney, Australia, in March, 1890: "If I go this night where I may over the civilized world I would find men who would gladly clasp hands with me. If it has been given to me to help forward a great movement it is through no merit of mine. It is not from my energy; it is not from my learning; it is not from my ability. It is from the simple fact that, seeing a great truth, I swore to follow it."

The central idea of the philosophy of Henry George is that governments must conform to the moral code if they are to endure and if the people are to be prosperous. These words of his express that mandate: "Unless its foundations be laid in justice the social structure cannot stand." This is at sharp variance with the universally accepted idea that governments may do as they please—that the king can do no wrong.

HENRY WARE ALLEN.

HEADLINES.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—The present time has been called hysterical. People are not calm. A slight loosening of the tenseness might take place if that form of loud printed shrieking known as the eight column headline were removed from the paper and so from our jaded gaze. The streamer is another form of unnecessary noise against which city people complain.

Furthermore, the removal of the streamer would enable the papers to regain those precious lines of space they lost when larger body type became general. The column headlines could also be reduced in size without damage to the reader's eyes, thus again restoring the precious lost space. PETER.

APPRECIATION.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The efficient aid which your public service department gives to the people of Chicagoland is so dependent upon the patient kindness, conscientious efficiency, and unusual ability of its manager, Mr. John Gillespie, that I sometimes wonder if these good people realize the debt that they owe him. A. M. L.

IS THERE A DOCTOR IN THE HOUSE?

Chicago, Aug. 20.—I am irritable and nervous. My blood pressure rises sharply each time I make a 15 cent purchase and pay a 6 per cent tax. Can Dr. Cutter prescribe, or must I patiently suffer and take it out on Horner at the next election? WALTER R. MASON.

A VISTA.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—If any vista in the Chicago parks is more beautiful than the one looking east from the fieldhouse of Independence park, Irving Park and Springfield, let us hear of it.

C. C. DEAN.

ON THE BENCH.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—I was so boiled up after the All-Star-Bear game last night I couldn't wait till this morning to blow off my steam.

To think that so many of those boys on the All-Star team came from so far and were such good players, and thousands of people paid to see them in action and then they were made to sit on the bench, as if great things were at stake.

It was provoking that men like Borries, Purvis, Carter, and a host of others were insulted by such treatment. Why, I would have gone to the showers when the coach offered to insert me at the last minute had I been in their shoes.

When I played on the Midway the Old Man used to have to keep eleven of us in there as long as possible because of necessity, but there was no excuse for it last night.

I would suggest that after this THE TRIBUNE handle the direction and coaching of the players itself. No coach's reputation or pride should be considered. It is the fans' game and should be given to them as the founders of the game intended. TRIBUNE SPORT FAN.

PET PEEVES OF A WORKING GIRL.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Neck breaking and ankle wrenching cobblestones and street car tracks at loop crossings.

The smart aleck driver who tries to make a light and stops in the middle of the street, making it necessary for pedestrians to walk nearly to the center of the cross street.

People who have the habit of walking on the wrong side of the walk on congested sidewalks.

Women with children who persist in staying downtown until office closing time and then have to pile on crowded trains, making every one uncomfortable.

People who never have their change ready when boarding cars or trains.

Restaurants in the loop which do not put on sufficient waitresses, making it necessary to use a whole noon hour to get a sandwich and cup of Java.

SUSPICIOUS.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—It would be a great idea if you would require your contributors to show their occupation or business connection, if any. Country Clubs Offer Men a Golfing Holiday

Mill Creek, Longmeadow to Open Hunting Season.

BY JUDITH CASS.

MOST of the country clubs seem to have followed the example set by the Chicago Federation of Labor in not planning the usual Labor day celebrations, but there will be golf events for the men at all the clubs, nevertheless. The Onwentsia golfers will play for the Byron L. Smith Memorial cup, upon which the winner of the Labor day tournament has his name engraved each year. The finals of the women's singles in the tennis tournament were to be played this afternoon, but the match has been postponed until next Sunday. The club had a dinner-dance Saturday night, as did several other clubs, including the Chicago Golf, the Indian Hill, the Exmoor, and the Knollwood, but one of the few clubs planning a dinner-dance for tonight is the Flossmoor club, which is climaxing a day of bridge for women and golf for men with dinner and dancing.

Today marks the start of the hunting season for the Mill Creek and the Longmeadow hunts, although for both the hunting will be informal until later in the season. At 11 o'clock this morning those members of the Mill Creek who aren't vacationing away from home will meet at the stables in Millburn for an informal drag, but since the field is certain to be small, no breakfast has been planned at the clubhouse to follow the drag. Prince Cantacuzene will be M. F. H. in the absence of the regular master of the fox hounds, Austin H. Niblack, who, with Mrs. Niblack, is spending the week-end at Charlevoix, Mich., as the guests of the Howard Linns. Mrs. Stanley Keith and her daughter, Betty, who returned recently from a vacation in Wyoming, are with the Linns this week-end also. The Niblacks and Keiths will return to Lake Forest tomorrow.

Clark J. Lawrence Back to Lead Longmeadow Hunt.

Clark J. Lawrence, M. F. H. of the Longmeadow hunt, returned to his home in Winnetka last Thursday from a summer on the Upper St. Regis in the Adirondacks, so he will be on hand to lead the hunt that will open the hunting season for the Longmeadow. The members will assemble at 7 o'clock this morning, but after today it will be 20 minutes earlier than that when they meet for their regular hunts on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturdays.

The Barrington Hills club has planned a novel entertainment for its men golfers today, a "Bring Your Own Give and Take Fruits of Labor Tournament." "Every man a winner," promised the announcement. The system, explained briefly, is that a man to be eligible for a prize must put up a prize, which must come from his business or his farm. The prizes have been on exhibition at the club over the week-end, causing no end of merriment, for they range from live stock to a pile of pills offered by John G. Searle, who is in the pharmaceutical business. A donor of live stock was responsible for the behavior of his prize over the week-end, which meant that Sheldon Clark, who donated a barrel of motor oil, and Leslie M. Hansen, who gave some bags of gravel, had fewer troubles over the week-end than did James R. Cardwell, whose prize is a large fat goose, Arthur S. Barrows, who donated a bull calf, and William E. Webb, whose entry fee was a sheep.

Exmoor and Knollwood Parties Next Saturday.

Both the Exmoor and Knollwood clubs are having large parties next Saturday, the Highland Park club a swimming meet and the Lake Forest one a fashion show and dinner-dance. The Glen View and Indian Hill teams have been invited to compete in the swimming meet, which will be held at 4 o'clock, followed by a buffet supper at 6:30. The Knollwood fashion show each year is one of the earliest of the many fashion showings that are planned for each fall and it always is one of the largest parties of the season at the club. Mrs. Richard Fleming and Mrs. Roscoe Parkinson are in charge of it this year, with Mrs. David Molloy, Mrs. Ralph Sargent, Mrs. George Brown, and Mrs. George Rossiter working with them. The show will be at the pool, with a dinner and dancing later at the clubhouse.

There are two luncheons on today's calendar which will keep both the debutantes and the older generation amused. Many of the younger crowd will be at the Indian Hill club this noon as the guests of Miss Lois Truesdale, who is entertaining for her debutante sister, Marjorie, and also for Miss Mary Louise Laird, who will be presented to society on Sept. 7. The other party will be the annual Labor day luncheon that Mrs. Hambleton Kirk gives at her Lake Forest house, Vallambrosa, for the "golf widows" among her friends.

Party for Miss Robbins and Her Fiance Today.

Mr. and Mrs. Dutton M. Morehouse [Louise Lackner] are entertaining at cocktails this afternoon in their Winnetka home from 5 until 7 o'clock for Miss Helen Robbins and her fiancé, William Whipple Miller, who are to be married this fall or winter. Mr. Miller, who returned a week ago with Miss Robbins from a canoe trip in Canada with some of his friends who live in Buffalo, brought back some souvenirs of the trip in the form of injuries to one of his legs. Promotes Horse Show

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Paul Magnuson Jr. is a member of the committee in charge of the horse show to be given next Sunday at the Dunham Woods Riding club in Wayne for the benefit of the Wayne fire department. The show will start at 10 in the morning and continue until 5, with an interval of an hour beginning at 12:30 for luncheon. This is the fourth annual show at the picturesque little club west of the city.

Front Views and Profiles

By June Provines

SALZBURG, Austria.—This ancient city of the prince-bishops, dominated by its gray stone fortress 500 feet above the town, is filled with visitors to the August festival. Long scarlet and white banners, hung from the baroque façades of the public buildings and palaces, fly above the heads of the visitors, who wander through the twisting streets, gaze into the shop windows at edelweiss pressed under glass and Austrian ceramics; find their way to the old section of the town where Mozart was born, at No. 9 Getreide-Gasse; linger in the Residenz platz to hear the giant music box of the Glockenspiel carillon play Mozart airs; sit chatting over schoppenwein at little tables under the chestnut trees beside the Salzach river, rushing and gray-white from its glacial waters.

* *

THE fragments of talk that fly about are in French, German, and English. Handsome motor cars carrying international licenses crowd the streets, and the trafic is complicated by hundreds of bicycle riders, some of them Salzburg working men and women going to and from work, some of them tourists with rucksacks on their backs. There is always a line of cars outside the shop of Lanz, leading Tyrolean outfitters. Inside the shop are mountain lads and peasant women buying their clothes, but in greater number are visitors eager to play peasant during their Austrian stay.

Foreign gentlemen buy tufts of goat's beard to put in their hats, woolen socks and Alpine jackets adorned with green felt leaves and buttons made of deer antler. Their wives and daughters buy peasant dresses of red and blue cotton with aprons, and charming high crowned hats of straw or felt. Many of them, too, order suits of wool and linen made to order, with slight variations in style to make them more suitable for wear when they return home. . . . That charming young woman in white linen, with scarlet embroidery—a Tyrolean mode—is Mrs. Cornelius Crane. The tall child beside her, with dark curling hair and a red peasant apron over her flowered frock is her daughter. And the tall young man talking to a priest from New Guinea is Mr. Crane.

There are other Chicagoans in Salzburg now—or arriving shortly. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed have arrived. Thornton Wilder, who has been on a walking trip in the Dolomites and who has been visiting Gertrude Stein, will arrive later for the music.

Mildred Gerber Sings Radiantly in Role of Lucia

Baritone from Cincinnati Wins Praise.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Lucia di Lammermoor" as presented by the Chicago Municipal Opera company in the Navy pier auditorium Saturday night presented several points of excellence and at least two of brilliance. One was the Lucia as sung by Mildred Gerber, Chicagoan.

This young artist made her debut in the same part at the Civic Opera house two seasons ago and made something of a sensation. It was no accident, as she proved this week-end. In spite of the fact that her published desire to sing the mad scene in lounging pajamas came to nothing and she appeared in the flowing robe of the conventions, she had done enough before to justify her appearance. A voice of uncommon purity and brilliance which seems to be under the best of control allowed her to put new life into the melodies and display passages of the old opera, and her success was immediate and unarguable.

Another notable feature was provided by a baritone, Angelo Pilotti, in the part of Lord Henry Ashton. Apparently he has not appeared in Chicago before, and is said to have been singing this summer in Cincinnati. Remember his name. He ought to be reaching high places in opera one of these days. His voice has quality, power, and the bead of youth.

Howard Preston took a special bit of applause for his third act solo, well and dramatically delivered. William Green, artistic director and the singer of the rôle of Edgar, was well acquainted with his part, though his voice sounded a bit tired. Hazel Sanborn, Giuseppe Cavadore, and Giuseppe Minerva were thoroughly competent. The chorus and orchestras were excellent, and the performance was well conducted by Dino Bigalli.

It may be that the season is too late for further performances on the pier, though this is not certain. At any rate, a start has been made of a kind that shows many possibilities for a prolonged season there next summer. One is permitted to hope that the possibilities will be realized.

George Dasch and his band will play the semi-final concert of the series in Grant park tonight. Jeannette van der Velpen, soprano, and Ernest Pechin, cornetist, two talented specialists, will be the soloists. The program:

1. March, "Our Chief"......E. C. Maxham
2. Overture, "Semiramido"..........Rossini
3. [a] Prelude in C sharp minor.... ....Rachmaninoff

Actress' Son, 14, Wins Movie Role by Pluck

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Sept. 1.—Pluck and courage launched Sandy Sanborn, 14 years old, on a motion picture career yesterday. The tow-headed youngster heard that William Dieterle, the Warner director, was hunting for a boy to play Paul Muni's son in "Enemy of Men." Without telling his family, Sandy went to Dieterle's home in Hollywood Knolls and rang the doorbell. The director answered. Sandy managed to inform Dieterle he wanted to be an actor—the lad made a good impression and Dieterle took him to the studio and made a test which resulted in his receiving the part. He lives in Hollywood. His mother is Virginia Southern, who formerly was an actress at this same studio when it was known as First National.

Eric Rhodes gave Hollywood a new romance to talk about today when he canceled a vacation to remain in the film colony as an escort for Katherine De Mille. They were recently seen at a première together and that the actor has shaved his mustache—at the suggestion of Miss De Mille, it is said.

In revealing the purchase of a Beverly Hills home, John Carroll, the new RKO player, announces that he bought it to bring his mother from New Orleans to live here. But if his romance with Steffi Duna continues at the pace it is going, look for them to take the marriage vows and settle in it.

On a two week motor trip up north Morgan Wallace, the screen heavy, came to the realization that hitch-hikers were an unfortunate lot, especially at night time. He evolved the bright idea of building a series of "pedacamps," offering sleeping quarters and meals. Wallace says he will begin with six of the camps spaced 40 miles apart. He will build dormitories for men and women with a community kitchen. If his idea pans out, he will be able to furnish meals for around 10 cents and good, clean beds for 20 or 30 cents.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury S. D. Gibbons and Mrs. Gibbons dropped in at the Trocadero. There, too, were Alice Faye and Vic Orsatti and Ann Darling and Arthur Stebbins.

Good Morning!

Sure and I have no trouble at all this fine morning in telling you the name of my favorite actress. [This fine morning! Tomorrow may spin a different tale.] She's Mary Gordon, age, I would say, between 60 and 70, and she plays the mother in "The Irish in Us." She was Nanny in "The Little Minister," as you may recall.

This picture is one of the most ingratiating comedy dramas that has descended on us for a long time. It is rich with homely humor and its hokum is the sort of hokum that the whole world loves. Acting and direction are aces.

The action concerns the Irish O'Haras, a mother and her three big sons, and those with whom their lives mingle.

Pat O'Hara's a policeman. Mike's a fireman. Danny, the baby, and his mother's pet, is a prize fight trainer—when he can find a fighter to train. The rest of the time he lives the life of Riley—a fact which burns up his big, toiling brothers and keeps his adoring parent constantly and fiercely on the defensive.

When the picture opens Danny has brought home a flower from the car barns to put into condition. Pat is that way about his captain's daughter—and all het up because Danny won't join the force and bring in some bacon, so that he, Pat, can feel free to wed and establish a home of his own.

Ensuing situations are amusing—and suspenseful, in their way. The film's big moments are attendant on Pat's discovery that he and Danny love the same girl and on a most remarkable prize fight in which the middleweight champion learns facts about life that ne'er before had he dreamed of.

The family scenes featuring Mrs. O'Hara and her three adoring sons are perfectly delightful! She loves 'em, bosses 'em, dances with them, sympathizes with them—and is not above showing them—or anybody who does them wrong—the back of her hand, if occasion offers.

Mary Gordon was the kick of the piece to me—and will be to you. I'm ready to bet.

Take the whole family to see "The Irish in Us." You won't be sorry.

Flannel Robes Use Color for Smart Contrast

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Comfortably snug and cozy for these first crisp fall breakfast hours, the newest of flannel robes use color for trim and contrast. They are made of smooth flannel, carefully tailored and cut with a good practical double breasted effect.

They can be worn open or buttoned 'way up to the neckline. Turquoise, navy, maroon, and scarlet are the best buys.

A brand new trick presented this fall is the ensemble idea of pajamas with the flannel robe. As flannel pajamas and a flannel robe were a bit too warm even for mollycoddles, some bright soul matched tailored satin pajamas to the flannel robes and the results are going out fast.

The pajamas, for instance, come in cherry red satin and are worn with a navy flannel robe with pipings around the collar, down the front facing, cuffs and pocket of cherry red. Or you can wear dusty pink pajamas with the turquoise robe piped with rosy pink. It's a grand combination and well worth the excitement.

Separate robes of flannel are sold with an ascot necktie of dotted silk and come in maroon, navy, and a bright scarlet.

More feminized versions of these practical wool robes come in fuzzy Shetland wool in lovely soft pastel shades. They, too, are tailored and cut generously to wrap well around the streamline, have either one or two pockets and a tie sash belt, and long, loose, cuffed sleeves. The blues and pinks are unusually effective in this old-fashioned warm material.

The Husband Snatcher

By Elizabeth York Miller.

SYNOPSIS.

After two years of marriage, Nancy and Dick Heritage are still greatly in love. Though Nancy is hated by her mother-in-law, Edith Heritage, she has come to live with them in their little house in Primrose Dene, near London. There is a gap of four years in Nancy's life which she had not satisfactorily accounted for. Nancy is informed by Mr. Sam Digger, attorney, that she has been bequeathed £5,000 by Miss Agnes Satchell, late governor of a girls' reformatory, where Nancy had been committed for four years. Nancy had been employed by a Mrs. Lane and was accused of theft. Sylvia, Mrs. Lane's daughter, was the real culprit. Sylvia threatened to kill herself if Nancy exposed her. Nancy foolishly took the blame, though she possessed a signed confession from Sylvia. Miss Satchell believed in Nancy's innocence. Nancy learns that her sole remaining relative, an aunt, has been killed in China. Dick and his mother are displeased when they learn that Nancy is expecting a baby. Edith Heritage is a friend of Mrs. Lane's. Sylvia, who becomes interested in Dick, assures Nancy that her secret of the reformatory is safe. She asks Nancy for the written confession, but Nancy had torn it up. Sylvia calls on Dick at the architect's office where he is employed and asks him to plan a house for her. They spend a great deal of time together. Nancy learns that she has inherited another small legacy from her aunt. Mr. Digger suggests that she pass the two legacies off as one. He also offers his help if she is ever in trouble. Nancy returns home unobserved and overhears Sylvia begging Dick to get a divorce. Mrs. Lane tells Edith Heritage Nancy's secret. Nancy confesses to Dick, who receives the story none too well, but threatens to obtain custody of his unborn child if she leaves him.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

LEGAL WEAPONS.

Edith Heritage was torn two ways. She still possessed enough money to enable her to live frugally in a cheap boarding house, and her dignity almost demanded that she should leave Primrose Dene.

But that would be tantamount to owning that Nancy had beaten her, and it would also give Nancy a clear field where Dick was concerned.

No, she would not go; she would stay on and continue to show her daughter-in-law how she felt about living in the same house with a woman who had once been committed on a charge of larceny to what was merely a politer name for prison.

The opportunity came when Nancy chanced to be in the upper hall when Edith was emerging from her own room, dressed for the street.

The elder Mrs. Heritage had the key of the door in her hand, and as Nancy stood there—trying, as it happened, to think of something half way pleasant to say—her mother-in-law bent down, inserted the key in the lock, turned it, and then put it into her handbag.

She said nothing to Nancy; she did not even look at her, but the inference was plain enough, and her action spoke with considerable more force than mere words could have done.

Slowly a burning flush suffused Nancy's face.

Dick's mother was implying that unless she locked the door, her room would not be safe from intrusion during her absence.

"Either she leaves this house forever, or I do!" was Nancy's mental comment.

Really, things had come to such a crisis that she honestly did not much care if she left Dick or not. It was only the baby that held her back, and not because of Dick's threat. She didn't believe he would even try to take the baby away from her, and if he did, and she had to fight for her rights she felt sure that her weapons were better than his. She could point to a mother-in-law who had driven her out of her own home.

Sylvia probably was waiting for him around the corner.

And then Nancy gave a little gasp of dismay, remembering that Dick possessed a pretty good weapon, too. He could, if he chose, lay bare her wretched past and suggest that such a woman was not the proper person to have the care of her own child.

Her baby was going to be born under a stigma. Its father believed that its mother was "a dirty little sneak thief"!

She had thought it hadn't mattered; that her knowledge of her innocence was enough. But was it enough for her baby?

A thousand times, no!

The whole affair took on a different complexion to Nancy Heritage from that moment, and she knew that it was her duty—the only duty she had in the world—to clear herself in her husband's eyes.

How could it be done?

Nancy did not know, but she went on her knees by her bedside and uttered a fervent prayer. Only God could show her the way.

* * * * *

There would be no picnic that day.

Nancy heard the telephone ring quite early and Dick rushing to answer it. She herself went into the kitchen to avoid hearing what he said. Her eavesdropping of yesterday had gained her nothing but unhappiness.

Mrs. Heritage had gone out, and Nancy was much too proud to ask her husband if he would be home either to lunch or dinner, but some plans had to be made. Neither could she take Minnie into her confidence; but Minnie knew that something had gone wrong with the household she served. Nancy's hearty manner did not deceive her for one moment.

Dick looked in at the door as they were trying to plan something which would keep if it was not wanted today.

"I say, Nance, I've got to go into town," he said in a casual tone for Minnie's benefit—almost too casual—"and I'll get something to eat before I come back. And—er—don't plan a gala dinner tonight. If I'm not home by 6 o'clock, don't expect me."

"All right, Dick," Nancy replied. "Did mother say whether she would be back or not?"

"I think she's invited herself to lunch with Sylvia," Dick said.

Nancy was on the veranda when Dick left the house. He had said he was going into town, but he still wore the gray pullover she had given him for his birthday, and his flannel bags.

Probably Sylvia was waiting for him around the corner somewhere, and they were going off together as Sylvia had intended all along that they should. He had made that remark about his mother lunching with Sylvia in order to throw her, his wife, off the scent.

He did not offer to kiss her good-by, and Nancy had not expected him to, but when he reached the gate he turned and spoke to her.

"I think, after all, you may expect me home to dinner," he said.

"I'm glad you could let me know definitly," Nancy replied.

He strode off down the street and she went back into the house.

This was going to be a busy day, after all. She made a cake and iced it, and gave Minnie more particular instructions about the evening meal. There would be a chicken and ice cream and a bottle of sparkling wine.

But Nancy doubted if she would be present herself to share the feast. A plan was forming in her mind, shadowy in outline as yet, but decided as to its purpose.

She remembered something Mr. Digger had said when he speeded her yesterday—that if she ever found herself in any serious trouble he would be glad to do what he could to help her. He had said, too, that he believed he would be able to help her. She had thought that rather curious.

Well, she was in trouble now, and at least he could give her some legal advice on the subject of Dick's right to take her child away from her.

Her duty in respect to that precious morsel of humanity was looming larger and larger. Nancy did not believe a great deal in what is called prenatal influence, but all this anxiety was telling on her nerves—and could not be good for the sacred trust she carried.

Forgetting it was unlikely he would be at his office even in the morning on a Saturday, she set off for the city after an early and hurried lunch.

It was not until she actually arrived at Gray's inn that she realized her journey must be fruitless. Of course, the offices were closed; everything was closed, and had she not been so absorbed in her problem she would have spared herself the bother of coming all the way down here.

Childishly, her lips quivered. God ought to have answered her prayer at once; it was such a very important one.

She stood looking about her in a woebegone, hopeless fashion. Very quiet it was in this old backwater of London. A black cat strolled out of the basement and strolled across Nancy's path.

"I wonder if you could tell me where Mr. Digger lives?" she asked. "I'm a client of his and I've got to see him. It's most important."

"Mr. Digger's a bachelor gentleman, miss, and he lives in residential chambers at No. 40A—just along toward the end of this row."

"O he lives here, too!"

"Yes, but you won't find him in, miss. You'll find him on the tennis courts at the back. Walk along until you come to the end and you'll see a little gate. It leads into the gardens, and Mr. Digger's bound to be there somewhere. He always plays tennis of a Saturday afternoon."

Girls, Cease Criticism of Your Fathers

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Girls, if you want to make a real hit with your dads don't be forever picking on the poor creatures.

Maybe you think your dad likes that "cute" way you have of rushing at him to straighten his tie, meanwhile indulging in the age-old feminine cluck-cluck: "Daddy, daddy, you certainly need some one to look after you!" True, it is your way of showing a loving interest in the pater, we know. But it is a pretty "pickish" way of doing it. While dad may grin and bear it, and remark inwardly on the ways of women with a man, he resents this constant censoring of yours about the shift or the color of his tie, his suit pressing needs, his pronounciation of words, et cetera. [You know what the et ceteras stand for as well as we.]

We have the word of one of them on this subject. "I love my daughters," says he [and we know him to be the most indulgent of parents], "but my son, he's cut from another cloth. He isn't fussy about whether my tie is crooked or not, whether my suit is freshly pressed or not, whether my English is Simon pure or not. I'm his dad and that's enough for the boy!"

A recommended formula is to ask one's self how you'd like to be met by a "loving" dad whose first comment would be: "Your hat looks like [you supply the word dad might use if he were that kind of dad]." Or "Gosh, woman, don't you think it's time that dress went to the cleaners?" Or "Woman, your English is terrible!" You'd have the man hauled up before the judge on cruelty charges if the poor wretch ever tried such tactics on you.

Country Clubs Offer Men a Golfing Holiday

Mill Creek, Longmeadow to Open Hunting Season.

juries, which were not severe, were received while shooting rapids. Miss Robbins has not set a date for their marriage because she is waiting to learn the date of the return of her father, Percy A. Robbins, and her brothers, James and Peter, from Alaska.

James Miksak Jr. is another young man who has an injured leg. He broke his ankle while playing tennis at Dunham Woods last week-end and instead of being out in Wayne again for the Labor day holiday he will be resting at home. He left St. Elizabeth's hospital, where he has spent the last week, yesterday.

A telegram to Mrs. Francis M. Knight of Highland Park announced the marriage of her sister, Miss Elizabeth Perkins, and Murray Eugene Borish, on Friday. The wedding took place in Duxbury, Mass., where the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Perkins, have been spending the summer, and was very quiet, owing to the severe illness of Mr. Perkins. Mr. and Mrs. Borish left after the ceremony for Williamsburg, Va., where they will live.

Three Chicago Couples at Lac du Flambeau.

Vacationing at the Island club at Lac du Flambeau today are Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Donnelley, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Laflin, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Pirie. The Howard Fentons are spending the week-end with Harold Swift at his summer home at Lakeside, Mich.

Curtis Dawes and his bride of a few months arrived in Evanston last Saturday to spend the Labor day week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Dawes. Young Mr. and Mrs. Dawes will return to New York state this week.

Miss Betty Fulton, daughter of the James D. Fultons of Glencoe, is sailing today with Mrs. Hewitt Brown and Mrs. Theodore Gary for a month in Paris. Miss Fulton, who has been attending summer school at the University of Chicago, will return to Glencoe by Oct. 5.

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin W. Ryerson are spending the Labor day holidays at the Chicago club in Charlevoix, quite a short trip compared to the one they were planning to take. They had hoped to visit Mrs. Albert Beveridge in New Hampshire for several weeks, but after postponing the trip east several times they had to give it up, for the present at least, because Dr. Ryerson's professional duties are keeping him close to Chicago.

The young John Lord Kings [Theodora Shaw] are at Charlevoix for the week-end, also. They are staying with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. King, who will return to Chicago about Sept. 15.

John MacLaren Simpsons Give Gay House Party.

Probably one of the gayest parties at Desbarats, Ont., today is that of Mr. and Mrs. John MacLaren Simpson, who are giving a house party at Red Mitten, the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Uri B. Grannis. Mr. Simpson is the proud owner of a lovely new yacht, which he bought from Thorne Donnelley just ten days ago in time to cruise up to Desbarats with his contingent of guests. With the Simpsons are Miss Jean Schweppe, Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Taylor, Prince and Princess Nicholas Galitzine, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Fentress Jr., and Dustin Grannis. They will be up there another week.

One of the nicest house parties this week-end at Desbarats is being given by James O. Heyworth at the summer home of his mother, Mrs. James O. Heyworth. Among his guests are Mr. and Mrs. Daggett Harvey, the former Jean Wilhelm.

CONQUERING CONTRACT

By P. HAL SIMS

ATTENDANT EVILS.

The confidence with which some players go up with kings is positively astounding; but it is a sad commentary that those who rush in usually come out at the top of the heap. Under ordinary circumstances, with K 10 9 and missing A Q J, one should dabble a bit with the nine spot before whamming down the king. The circumstances of today's hand, however, are not precisely ordinary.

The bidding:

SOUTH	WEST	NORTH	EAST
Pass	Pass	1 Cl.	Pass
1 Sp.	2 Ht.	2 Sp. [1]	Pass
3 Di.	Pass	3 N. T.	Pass
4 Sp.	Pass	Pass	Pass

First. North should double two hearts. If his partner can stand it, the set should be terrific. Even with South's unfavorable hand, West goes down two.

West opened the king of hearts. The way the hand was not played, South led a small spade, went up with a king, cashed the A K of diamonds and played back a spade. Five-odd was thus made.

When the small spade is led from the South hand West puts on the nine spot. Having K 10 8, the temptation is to play the ten, but here West has overcalled on what cannot be a hand of the first water—does he lack the ace of spades as well? Palpably absurd! If South had plenty of entries back and forth, and double stops in the three outside suits, he might well finesse just for something to do, but South cannot stand heart ruffs. What happens if South does finesse? What did actually happen on the hand?

East won the ten of spades with the jack, to his own great surprise, and played back a heart. South ruffed and swung another spade. West took the ace and returned yet another heart. Down to two trumps, South felt he could not afford to trump. He discarded the six of diamonds. West continued inexorably with the jack of hearts. South trumped. He cleared the ace and king of diamonds and the ace and king of clubs. The ten of clubs was then shoved temptingly under East's nose, but East refused to bite. He played low. South could discard or South could ruff. If he discards, he must extract West's queen of spades and, being unable to leave the sanctity of the dummy, must give up the queen of clubs at the end. If he ruffs and pushes through the ten of diamonds, let us say, West trumps with the queen of spades and dummy must overtrump with the king. That queen of clubs is still lost.

That was how South went down on a hand that should be spread for five.

TOMORROW'S HAND.

BY MARY MEADE.

Here are three salad recipes to enable peach enthusiasts to get more of that fruit into their menus while the season lasts:

Peach Puffs.

12 large peach halves, peeled
1 cup mayonnaise
1 egg white
½ cup sliced almonds

Fold the mayonnaise into the stiffly beaten egg white, blending the two thoroughly, and pile in the centers of the peach halves. Sprinkle with the shredded almonds and toast under the broiler for about one minute, or until delicately browned and puffed. Cool and serve on crisp lettuce.

The next is a decorative affair which resembles a fat yellow flower with a green pepper stem. It's made by placing a fresh peeled peach half, rounded side up, on crisp salad greens. Each half is outlined with a mixture of cream cheese and mayonnaise piped through a pastry tube and garnished with a tiny green stem of green pepper. Additional mayonnaise, thinned with a little peach juice and whipped cream, is served separately.

Then, even simpler and, to our way of thinking even better, is a minted fresh peach salad. We make it like this:

Minted Peach Salad.

6 large peaches
¼ cup lemon juice
1 bunch fresh mint
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 tablespoons whipped cream
Few grains salt
2 drops almond extract

Peel and halve the peaches and place each half, rounded side up, on crisp greens. Sprinkle each half with a mixture of half the lemon juice and half of the mint, chopped, and garnish with a few whole mint sprigs. Serve with a dressing made by folding the whipped cream, remaining lemon juice, salt, and almond extract into the mayonnaise.

Bodice Presents Major Interest

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Here is a lovely new design for one of your first fall dresses. The plain, well cut skirt, the bodice that buttons up the back, the three-quarter length sleeves, and the neck cut a little below the normal neckline in a rounded outline, all are attractive features. The original dress was made of black satin, and had a smart bow of velveteen perched on the left shoulder. Wool-like silk, woolen novelties, and satin back silk will make up attractively.

The pattern, No. 3349, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measure. Size 16 requires 3¾ yards of 35 inch material, with ⅝ yard of 35 inch contrasting, and ½ yard of 35 inch lining for the sleeves.

Generosity? Never Heard of It, Says Any Normal Baby

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Today we have an 18 month old baby who is discontented and selfish! Wants other children's toys! Won't let other children have her toys! What are these modern babies coming to?

But it is perfectly natural for a baby 1½ years old to want toys that she sees; a cozy cloth bunny, a soft rubber ball, a string of spools. The fact that they belong to another baby is something she can't grasp at all. Property rights haven't yet come into her consciousness.

And it is equally true that she does not want to share her toys. That implies a social consciousness which no baby has at that age.

Could you imagine an 18 months old baby thinking: "I love my soft little bunny, but I think, from the grunts and sounds that that other baby is making that he wants it, so I will let him have it?"

Don't expect your 18 month old baby to be generous. Then you'll be able to understand her and therefore manage her, so that in time she will achieve the attitudes about her own and other children's possessions that we call generous.

We have several booklets on the young child's behavior, such as "The No Habit" and "Don't Touch." Either will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

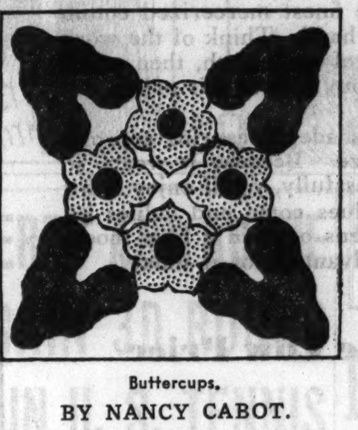
Dainty Buttercup Blossom Adapted to Lovely Quilt



Buttercups.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Of all the flowers given recognition in the quilt field "Buttercup" is one of the loveliest and heretofore neglected as far as needleworkers were concerned. The design shown today has been painstakingly copied by a woman in Indiana for a quilt block. She cleverly adapted the buttercup leaf and simplified it for beginning quilt makers, yet it has retained the beauty of the natural leaf.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

Frequent Brushing Is Secret of Beauty in the Child's Hair

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"I am much dissatisfied with my two small daughters' hair," a mother writes. "One child is 2 years old and the other 4. They were born with straight hair, but I am determined to make it curly. I have to shampoo their hair every day to make it curl up on the ends. I have to finger wave it every time they take their hats off in order to keep it from straightening out.

"Please do not tell me to brush their hair, as that would destroy every vestige of curl."

This request gives an idea of the lengths to which mothers may go in their eagerness to make curly headed beauties of their youngsters. It's all right, too! Perfectly human! But the method of washing the hair daily to force curls is wrong. Youngsters do not need to have their hair washed more than once a week.

Instead of sparing the brush for fear of destroying every vestige of curl, using it vigorously daily is the very thing to produce curls, if anything on earth will. Time and again, parents have brushed curls of permanent nature into their youngsters' hair. This is done by brushing the hair up and "sidewise-up," and brushing with vim and vigor, brushing just as hard as the youngster can take it.

Finger waving the children's hair is not right. You don't want that look to their heads. If a curl simply won't be and can't be brushed into the hair, better let the youngsters go straight haired. Some of the straight haired ones are as adorable as curly tops. But brush, anyway, for the scalp and hair health. And remember, mammas, the child's diet and health are revealed in the condition of her hair.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

Because we believe so fervently that laymen, and certainly those medical men who are eternally trying to make the beauty shop justify its existence, should give much more thought to the relationship of personal upkeep to psychological wellbeing we were tremendously interested in a recent article in a beauty trade publication.

In it Maie Lounsbury Wells describes the part modern beauty culture plays in the fight against mental disease, with particular reference to the success of the beauty shop in the state hospital for the mentally sick at Kankakee. There were howls of protest when it was first established; there were those who could not see the point in manicuring the nails or curling the hair of women who were deranged. The venture has since proved its worth on two counts. It is helpful to hospital routine in that it offers efficient sanitary care. But, more than that, it has proved monumentally helpful in rehabilitating those women who had lost interest in themselves.

Beauty treatments as therapy, according to Mrs. Wells, are a valuable factor in the treatment of insane women. Through the restoration of a sense of personal pride countless women shut in their "private world" of deterioration and untidiness have again known normal womanhood. And even those who cannot leave the institution get a sustaining benefit in beauty treatments.

But, perhaps, it's this paragraph that tells Mrs. Wells' story, and in any case this is the expression of our own belief: "The beauty shop keeps alive the interest in personal appearance without which any one—normal, subnormal or abnormal—slides down the ladder of mental balance."

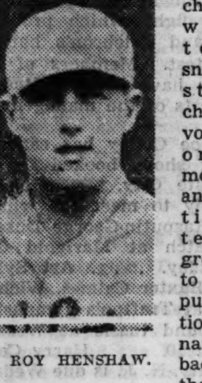
BRUINS GAIN ON GIANTS, CARDS IN TITLE CHASE

Henshaw Stops His Favorite Foes.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



ROY HENSHAW.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 1.—Roy Henshaw, the tiny lefthander who specializes on the Pirates, took charge of their winning streak today and snapped it at ten straight. He choked off his favorite enemies on eight hits, mostly harmless, and in the meantime his Cub teammates progressed to an 8 to 2 victory that put the three National league pennant contenders back into an area that could be covered by a blanket. It made eleven victories for Henshaw and his sixth over the local troops.

The downing of the Pirates, incidentally the 13th time in 20 for the Cubs, was most opportune for reviving Chicago title hopes. Because the pacemaking Cardinals went blooey at Cincinnati, the third place Cubs are again one and one-half games from the top. Because the Giants did a dive before the Phillies, the Cubs are only half a game out of second place. But the real value of the day's development was that the Cubs shaved one game from the difference between themselves and the world champions in the loss column.

Pirates Blow in Eighth.

Cy Blanton, the Pirate ace, who was out seeking his seventeenth victory, instead was handed his tenth defeat. He gave Henshaw quite an argument for a better portion of the afternoon. At the end of seven innings Blanton was in arrears by only one run, the difference being due to a fielding blunder. But whatever strain Henshaw might have been laboring under was removed in the eighth. The Pirates cracked wide open with three more errors and the Cubs picked off a juicy cluster of five runs.

The Cubs, having done their share of jittering yesterday, refrained from such tactics on this occasion. In fact, they leaned backward in their efforts to assist Henshaw in conducting a high class party. This was especially true of the infield, which, because of Phil Cavarretta's hand injury, included Stanley Hack at first and Freddy Lindstrom at third, with the regular occupants at the two other positions. This worked out well on attack, as well as defensively. Lindstrom's double gave the Cubs a lead they never relinquished, and later on he drove in one run on a fly ball and once was robbed by Bud Hafey with two on.

Pirates Threaten in First.

The Pirates had Henshaw squirming for a few moments in the first inning, but he adjusted his course as soon as he saw Boss Grimm wigwag the bullpen occupants. Waner singled to center and Vaughan did the same. The two singles came after the first two men had been retired and the possibilities of serious damage were erased when Suhr died on strikes. The Pirates continued to remain quiet through the second and third.

Six Cubs dropped in succession in the first two innings, but they blossomed forth with two hits in the third and a run slipped home. Lindstrom opened with a two bagger into the left field corner and took third on Jurges' long fly to Jensen. The infield drew in for a play at the plate and Henshaw bounced the ball toward short but it slipped off the tip of Vaughan's glove for a single, Lindstrom scoring. Galan forced Henshaw and stole second, after which Herman walked. Klein sailed a liner straight into Waner's hands.

GIANTS HELD TO FOUR HITS; PHILS TRIUMPH, 6 TO 1

Davis Shows Old Form; Drives In 2 Runs.

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Curt Davis, a Giant nemesis this season, flashed some of the form that made him a pitching sensation last year to give the Phillies a 6 to 1 victory today. Beating the Giants for the fourth time, Davis yielded only four hits and helped win his own game by driving in two runs.

The defeat not only cost the Giants a chance to tie St. Louis for the lead, but left them in imminent danger of losing second place to the Chicago Cubs, who defeated Pittsburgh to reduce New York's margin to a half game.

Travis Jackson made two of the four Giant hits and belted his eighth homer of the year in the fourth inning to save his club from a shutout.

Roy Parmelee, New York's right hander, was knocked from the mound for the seventh time in a row. He went only 2 2-3 innings, and in that time the Phils piled up four runs on seven hits.

REDS, 4; CARDINALS, 3.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Paul Derringer pitched the seventh place Cincinnati Reds to a 4 to 3 victory today over the league leading St. Louis Cardinals, but St. Louis retained its one game margin over New York as the second place Giants lost to Philadelphia.

Derringer held the Cardinals in subjection, allowing only two hits until the seventh, when he blew up, letting Frisch, Medwick, and Collins score on singles. He was relieved by Don Brennan, who allowed no one to reach first during the remaining two and two-thirds innings. It was Derringer's seventeenth victory of the year. Score:

SIR MALCOLM TO MAKE TEST RUN OVER SALT TODAY

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City race driver, yielded the Utah salt flats to Sir Malcolm Campbell today for an attempt to set a land speed of five miles a minute.

Finding the snow white expanse temporarily slick, Jenkins canceled plans for a 12 hour run in an effort to regain records lost to John Cobb of England this summer.

Sir Malcolm plans a test run of 250 miles an hour or so over the 13 mile straightaway in his 6 ton Bluebird tomorrow morning.

Cardinals Win from Calumet Eleven, 20 to 0

The Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football league defeated the Calumet All-Stars, 20 to 0, at Roosevelt High school field in East Chicago yesterday. It was a nonleague game and the Cardinals' first real scrimmage of the season.

Hal Pangle, fast stepping back from Oregon State, and Gil Berry, former Illinois star, led the Cardinals' attack. The Calumet team is made up of former college stars.

Berry made three successive first downs in the second quarter. In the same quarter the Cardinals made their first touchdown when Pangle went over. They scored seven points in the third quarter when Bill [Red] White, former Colorado half back, scored.

Paul Pardonner, ex-Purdue quarter back playing his second year with the Cardinals, kicked the extra point. Mike Mikulak, full back, brought his power into play in the final quarter and went over the top for the Cardinals' third touchdown, after which Pardonner again kicked the extra point.

FRIENDS of Joe Louis report that he will marry Miss Marva Trotter, 19 years old, of 6326 Eberhardt avenue, on Sept. 25, the day after he fights Max Baer in New York. . . . Miss Trotter, a graduate of Englewood High school, in denying the report said she and Joe were only good friends. . . . She first met Louis when he was training for his match with Lee Ramage at Chicago Stadium last December. . . . Henry Rothier, 1932 international Golden Gloves champion, has returned to his native Belgium. . . . He writes this department that he hopes to conduct an amateur tournament in Antwerp and to develop a team capable of making a showing against Chicago's champions. . . . Reds Pollock, who made several nice gains for the Bears against the All-Stars Thursday night, said he was scared stiff when he first carried the ball. . . . Pollock comes from Penn Military college and never had played before such a vast gathering or against such widely known opponents. . . . Rogers Hornsby has been offered the job of coaching the Temple university baseball club. . . .

Al Lind, center and co-captain of Northwestern's football team, may be shifted to guard this fall, a position he played as a sophomore. . . . It all depends on how Leon Wegner, 6 foot 1 inch sophomore center, progresses during the first weeks of practice. . . . George Edward Turbeville, rookie pitcher with the Athletics, whose home town of Turbeville, S. C., was named after his family, is ambidextrous. . . . He pitches right handed, but when he throws long distances he uses the left arm. . . . Sparky Adams, veteran Columbus infielder, plans to retire at the end of this season. . . . "I have been in baseball 17 years and I think it is time to quit," he says. . . . George Philbrook, a football and track star at Notre Dame in Rockne's playing days, is serving as line coach at the University of Portland. . . . Only three left handers in modern billiard history have held world championships. . . . They are Alfredo de Oro, pocket billiards and three cushions; Charles Ellis, three cushions, and Augie Kieckhefer, three cushion champion ten times. . . .

How do you like this for an all Irish team in the major leagues: Hartnett, catcher; Terry, first base; Carey, second base; Cronin, shortstop; Lary, third base; the four Moores, outfielders; Lucas, Brennan, Collins, Kennedy, Sullivan, Malone, and Murphy, pitchers? . . . What about the Germans, the Latins, and the Slavs? . . . Let's hear from you. . . . More than three times as many words were filed out of Soldiers' field Thursday night as at the 1934 All-Star game. . . . The Western Union alone reported an increase from 19,000 words to 65,000. . . . Eddie Collins is reported to receive $40,000 a year for his services as general manager of the Boston Red Sox. . . . Bill Karr, the Bears' right end, wanted to see A Century of Progress Exposition in 1933, but his father would not give him car fare. . . . Later Bill said he wanted to try out with the Bears and Mr. Karr gladly supplied a railroad ticket. . . . After the Fair Bill reported to Coach George Halas just to keep right with his conscience and his father. . . . Much to his surprise he was offered a contract and won a job as regular end. . . .

Dorothy Andrus Beaten in Women's Division.

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Three of America's leading challengers for Fred Perry's crown as United States singles tennis champion were tested in sternly fought third round matches of the 54th national tournament today before a highly demonstrative audience of 5,000.

They were Wilmer A. Allison, Don Budge and Frank Shields, seeded one-two-three among American players. Budge won in straight sets from Wilmer Hines of Columbia, S. C., but Shields needed four sets to down Henry Prusoff of Seattle. The veteran Allison had to call on all of his resources and mastery to subdue Henry Culley of Santa Barbara, Cal., in four sets.

Culley Surprises Allison.

Culley, who spent most of the last two years abroad developing his game, took the gallery and Allison completely by surprise when he won five straight games in the opening set. Allison bestirred himself to win three in a row, but Culley, with a sizzling service and accurately executed ground strokes, prevailed in the ninth.

Allison got over the shock in a hurry and put on pressure. Culley, however, was ever dangerous, and out-smarted the Davis Cup veteran in a thrilling exchange from close range in the fourth set. Twice they stood less than twenty feet apart and whaled the ball. Each time Culley scored with a placement. But these were only two points. Allison in the end got most of the others and won, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.

Budge and Shields had plenty of anxious moments. Budge couldn't get his cannon ball service working in the early stages and quickly found himself trailing, 2-5. His backhand, too, was slightly errant, but once he got both functioning the outcome was never in doubt.

Shields Has Trouble.

Aware of his opponent's backhand weakness, Prusoff aimed everything at that mark and caused Shields plenty of grief. Shields' retrieving qualities and booming delivery served him well as he won, 7-5, 7-5, 2-6, 7-5.

While all this was going on Perry eliminated Leonard Hartman of New York, 6-4, 6-3, 7-5, and two seeded men and two seeded players in the women's division were beaten. John Van Ryn of Philadelphia swamped A. Martin Legeay of France, 6-0, 6-3, 6-3.

Gene Mako of Los Angeles, a member of the Davis cup squad, beat Clifford Sutter of New Orleans. Sutter won the first two sets and then virtually crumpled up before the Pacific coast youngster's strong game. The scores were 4-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

HOME AGAIN.

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, I've finished my pinch hitting for R. H. L. over on the editorial page and I'm back ready to do some hard work for you again, only I hope there isn't any to do for a few days until I get accustomed to my surroundings and catch up with sports happenings.

On the whole, I'm rather glad to be back and to have an expense account again. You see, I don't know whether R. H. L. has an expense account or not because he never says anything about it in his column, while it's one of my major worries. Apparently I'm out 64 cents. You see, there was a lot of mail to be answered and I used up all his stamps and those I secured from Miss Stone, and I was ashamed to ask her for any more. So I bought 64 cents' worth myself and, of course, I can't charge them to you. But perhaps R. H. L. will give me the 64 cents.

Another thing, I got my clothes all wet at your All-Star football game and I had to have them pressed. Of course, since I wasn't working for you but for R. H. L., I can't put the pressing on my expense acct. But if I hadn't had them pressed I don't think you would have let me come back to the department. They looked so terrible.

I thought your All-Star game was very good and quite interesting, although I had hoped to see more of the All-Stars in action, especially after they had traveled so far to get here. Perhaps the All-Star coaches were so anxious to win they didn't realize that most of the people didn't care so much which side won just so they saw the fellows they had read so much about.

But they didn't win, anyway, so what was the good of keeping all the heavy fellows in to stop the Bears and keeping the lighter fellows on the sidelines? But, of course, it's easy enough to second guess and don't think I am criticizing even if I did get wet and have to pay 50 cents for having my clothes pressed.

Well, Arch, I don't think of anything else that I need tell you, but as soon as I get the culture I absorbed in R. H. L.'s sanctum toned down a little let's go out to dinner and talk over the fall events, including the Louis-Baer battle and the football schedule. I'll be all right in a few days, but now I am still a little tired. Hoping you are the same. Regards. Harvey T. Woodruff.

SIMMONS' HIT BREAKS TIE IN EIGHTH INNING

Chicagoans Gain on Third Place.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

AL SIMMONS.

The White Sox, possibly suffering from the reaction of Vernon Kennedy's no hit game, started yesterday's contest in a most clownish mood. But they recovered their accustomed dignity after the third inning and when the shooting was over they had beaten the Cleveland Indians, 9 to 6, thus sweeping the two game series.

Al Simmons, who has suffered considerably before Sunday turnouts this year, shared offense honors with Jocko Conlan and Zeke Bonura. Al singled in the third inning to drive in two runs, he scored the tying run from second base on a wild pitch after reaching first on a single in the fifth inning, and in the eighth, with the bases full, the count three balls and two strikes, and the score tied, he singled to right, scoring two runs and putting the third scorer on third base.

Big Zeke Gets Three.

Bonura's contribution to the gala occasion, which placed the Sox a half game behind the Indians in the battle for third place, was a double which drove in the first two Chicago runs and a single which drove in a run in the third inning. Zeke made another hit, but it did not figure in the scoring.

Conlan made a double and two singles and was hit by a pitched ball. He scored three of the Chicago runs and his double placed a runner on third, who scored later.

Les Tietje was the winning pitcher, though Whit Wyatt and John Salveson were called on after he was laid low by a line drive in the eighth inning, a session in which the Indians made four hits, but failed to score. Tietje entered the arena after Babe Phelps had collapsed with one down in the second inning. C. Brown was the losing pitcher, though he faced only one batsman, Dykes, in the eighth.

What! Four Errors?

In the third inning Tietje was embarrassed by the fourth Chicago error, but in the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh innings not an Indian got to first base. He had started to wilt a bit in the eighth, but had two out, as the result of a double play, when he was knocked out by a shot from Roy Hughes' bat, and had to be carried from the field. An examination revealed that he had suffered only a severe bruise on the knee and will not be incapacitated for long.

After the accident to Tietje, an infield hit off Wyatt loaded the bases with the score tied at 6 all, but Pinch Batter Wright lined to Washington and that really cooked the visitors' goose.

The season series now stands at ten victories for the Indians and nine for the Sox. It was the first time the Indians have dropped a series since Steve O'Neill was appointed manager a month ago.

Poor Babe Has Trouble.

MYRTLEWOOD, CLANG RACE IN MATCH TODAY

Sprint Tops Holiday Card at Lincoln Fields.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Two southern gentlemen—John F. Clark Jr. of New Orleans and Brownell Combs of Lexington, Ky.—forgot all about the cotton and tobacco market situations yesterday and eyed with concern the antics of our Chicago weather man.

Mr. Clark, as a diversion from his cotton growing and cotton market activities, owns a few race horses. One of them is the fast thoroughbred, Clang. Mr. Combs, too, endeavors to get a little relaxation from his tobacco planting and market operations by breeding and racing some blooded horses. In his stable is the thoroughbred filly, Myrtlewood.

They're Full of Speed.

Now, about a month ago Mr. Clark's horse Clang indicated that he was the fastest horse in the world at seven furlongs when he equaled the world's record at that distance by running seven-eighths of a mile in 1:22 at Arlington park.

A few days later Myrtlewood, over the same course, ran six furlongs in 1:09 2-5. No other horse has ever run three-quarters of a mile so fast.

And so the reason becomes apparent why the two gentlemen from the south last night were viewing the weather with concern. Their two prize horses are going to be pitted against each other in a match race at Lincoln Fields this afternoon at 6½ furlongs, and weather and track conditions are all important because there will be no match race between them should the weather man turn sour and provide a track that will be a quagmire of mud.

Myrtlewood at 4-5.

Myrtlewood doesn't happen to fancy muddy going and her owner reserved the right to call off the match if the track is very muddy. Otherwise these two world's record holders will come together and the betting last night indicated that Myrtlewood will win, because she was at 4 to 5 in the wagering with Clang at 6 to 5. Col. M. J. Winn, the boss at Lincoln Fields, hung up a prize of $3,000 in order to make Messrs. Clark and Combs a little more enthusiastic about bringing their world's record holders together.

The eighth running of the $5,000 added Marquette handicap at a mile and an eighth is down as the actual feature on the final day's program of the Lincoln Fields season this afternoon and it attracted a stylish field. Yet the match race has brought about so many arguments and so much advance wagering that it threatens to overshadow it in interest.

Sweeping Light Choice.

Eleven were named in the overnight field for the Marquette. Sweeping Light, winner of the Lincoln handicap ten days ago, probably will parade to the post as the favorite at about 5 to 2, although he will carry 118 pounds, four more than he had on his back in the Lincoln.

In that race Sweeping Light and Prince Torch were at equal weights, each having up 114 pounds. Sweeping Light beat Prince Torch just by the length of his head. In the Marquette today Sweeping Light will be giving Prince Torch four pounds.

Some Like Navanod.

Others in the Marquette field to muster some backing were Top Dog and Tearout, 3 year olds; Banish Fear and the veteran mare, Late Date. There also was a little action centered around Navanod, from Tom Worden's stable. The Worden stable horses are in the midst of a fresh winning streak and that might have been the cause of the whisperings.

Labor day crowds at Lincoln Fields have averaged around 25,000 for the last half dozen years, yet today's card, with the match race between Myrtlewood and Clang as an added attraction, likely will be watched by an even larger gathering of holiday racegoers.

GRAND CIRCUIT OPENS TODAY AT INDIANAPOLIS

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 1.—(AP)—With the phenomenal 3 year old trotter, Greyhound, and its veteran driver, Sep Palin of Indianapolis, as feature attractions, Grand Circuit racing will open here tomorrow at the Indiana state fairground track and continue through Friday.

Palin, who maneuvered Greyhound to victory in the $33,000 Hambletonian, pronounced the trotter in excellent condition today. At the Illinois state fair the famous gray son of Guy Abbey stepped a mile in 2:00 to win the Review futurity.

Topping the Labor day bill here will be the Horseman futurity, 3 year old trot [estimated $4,500], in which the gelding will have such worthy competitors as Silver King, Pedro Tipton, Warwell Worthy, and Tilly Tonka.

Others entered in the classic tomorrow include Prince John, Calumet Foray, The Ritz, Calumet Ferrona, Guardsman, Chica, Judge Brewer, Flamey Volo, Truella, M'Liss, Arlington, Don Ce-Sar, Calumet Finery, Velvedere, and Jeremiah.

CHATT CAPTURES DISTANCE FLY CASTING EVENT

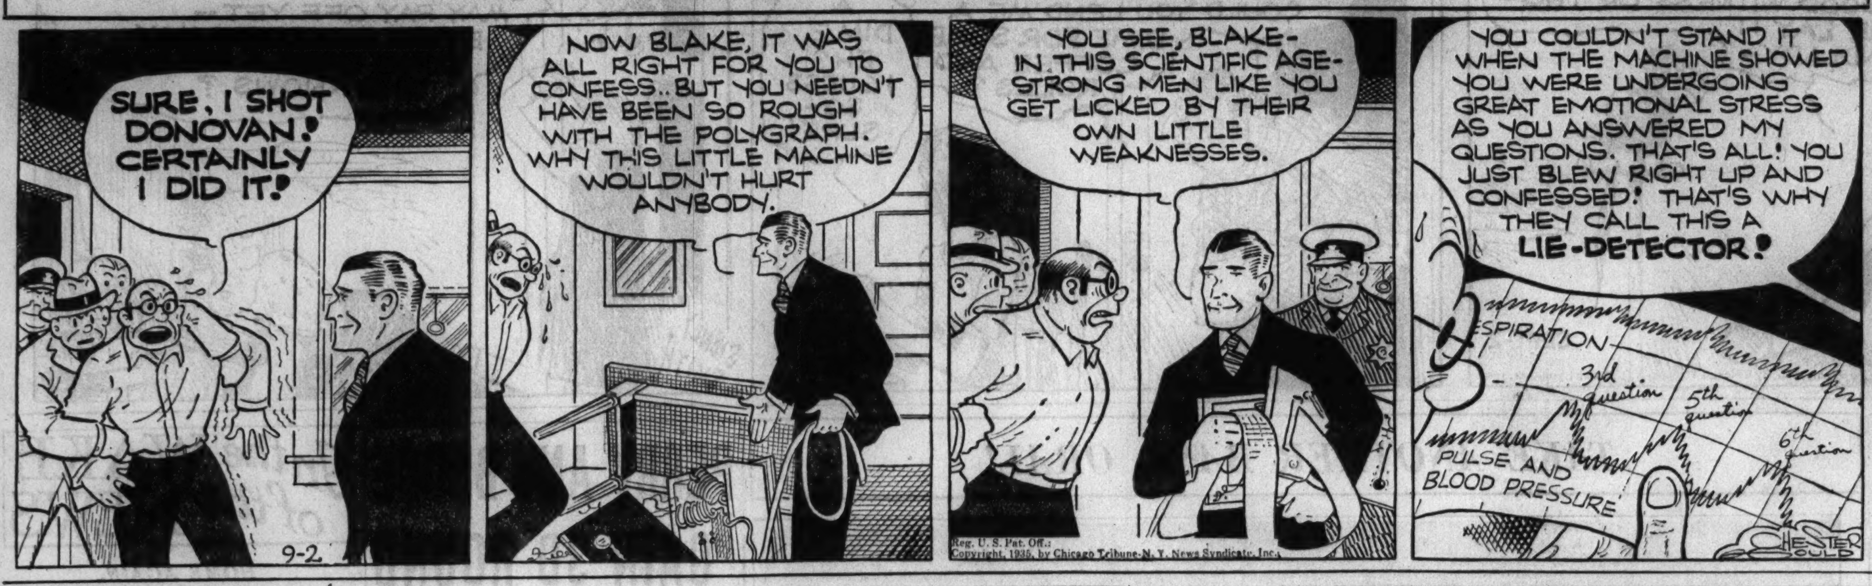
DICK TRACY—Seeing Is Believing



SURE, I SHOT DONOVAN! CERTAINLY I DID IT!
NOW BLAKE, IT WAS ALL RIGHT FOR YOU TO CONFESS.. BUT YOU NEEDN'T HAVE BEEN SO ROUGH WITH THE POLYGRAPH. WHY THIS LITTLE MACHINE WOULDN'T HURT ANYBODY.
YOU SEE, BLAKE- IN THIS SCIENTIFIC AGE- STRONG MEN LIKE YOU GET LICKED BY THEIR OWN LITTLE WEAKNESSES.
YOU COULDN'T STAND IT WHEN THE MACHINE SHOWED YOU WERE UNDERGOING GREAT EMOTIONAL STRESS AS YOU ANSWERED MY QUESTIONS. THAT'S ALL! YOU JUST BLEW RIGHT UP AND CONFESSED! THAT'S WHY THEY CALL THIS A LIE-DETECTOR!

Bring on Those Golf Tourneys! Glenna's Ready

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare of Philadelphia, American women's golf champion for the sixth time, today was planning on further conquests.

Unlike Bobby Jones, who quit after scaling the pinnacle of men's competition with his grand slam in 1930, and Virginia Van Wie, who retired after capturing the women's title three years in succession, Glenna hopes to keep marching on indefinitly.

"I'll be back next year and probably for several years to come," she smiled as she tucked the big silver cup under her arm yesterday after turning back the 17 year old Patty Berg of Minneapolis, 3 and 2, in the finals at Interlachen. "My goal? O, I don't know. Certainly I wouldn't mind winning this title ten times, but——"

Makes Good in Comeback.

Except for her first championship in 1922, her triumph yesterday, scored before 6,000 of Patty's home towners, undoubtedly was the sweetest of all to Glenna. She came to Interlachen determined to prove that a great golf champion could take time out to get married and raise babies and still come back to defeat the best of the rising young stars. And she accomplished her ambition, defeating the youngest and probably the most promising of new stars in the semi-final and final matches.

Over the week's play, Glenna discovered that the young stars she met usually outdrove her by 15 to 30 yards and putted evenly with her. Yet none of them could duplicate her iron shots. Invariably, Glenna won holes by arching beautiful irons to within easy putting distance of the cup. That was how she moved through the field, never once having to go to the final green.

New Stars Appear.

In addition to Patty, who has been playing golf only three years and who surprised even her home town by giving Glenna a stiff battle all the way, several young players revealed great promise during the week's struggle. Among them was 18 year old Beatrice Barrett, also of Minneapolis, daughter of Professional Bill Barrett. Beatrice was defeated by Mrs. Vare in the semi-finals, 2 and 1. Another was Marion McDougall, 20 year old Portland miss, who removed Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews of Coral Gables from the picture with a quarter-final triumph. Charlotte Glutting, a veteran now with four championship tournaments behind her, was vastly improved. She lost after a three hole overtime semi-final duel with Patty and her magic putter.

Interlachen also captured its second crowd championship. In 1930 a record for national open galleries was established, and last week a new high was set for the women's tournament with approximately 20,000 watching the play.

SAVE CAVALCADE, BOLD VENTURE IN RACE TRAIN FIRE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Arsonists were being sought tonight by Detective Sergeant Jim Powers and Fire Chief Chris Noll after a fire today nine miles north of here aboard the New York bound Saratoga Special, a horse car train, carrying such horses as Bold Venture, star 2 year old, and Cavalcade, the 3 year old champion of 1934.

The blaze, which was discovered in one of the horse cars and confined to that car, killed two thoroughbreds belonging to Max Hirsch, owner and trainer of Belmont, Long Island, N. Y. One was Commemoration, a 3 year old, and the other an unnamed gelding sired by North Star.

Cavalcade was in the car immediately ahead of that in which the two far less valuable racers were destroyed.

PLAY SEMI-FINAL GAMES TODAY IN C. Y. O. LEAGUE

St. Adrian's, St. Mary of Celle [Berwyn], Good Shepherd, and St. Michael's [South Chicago] today will meet in the semi-finals of the C. Y. O. Baseball league race by virtue of their quarter-final victories yesterday.

A double-header at Normal Park, 61st street and Racine avenue, is expected to clarify the title situation in the C. Y. O. diamond race for 1935. St. Mary of Celle will clash with Good Shepherd, while St. Michael's, the team that upset the defending title holder, St. Hyacinth's, in yesterday's quarter-final round, will try to dispose of the powerful St. Adrian's nine, which has reached the finals for the last three years.

Scores in the quarter-final round:

St. Adrian's, 9; St. Pius, 0.
St. Michael's, 14; St. Hyacinth, 7.
St. Mary of Celle, 15; St. Gabriel's, 0.
Good Shepherd, 8; Queen of Angels, 7.

Shell Capacity Is Limited for Dove Shooting

BY BOB BECKER.

Illinois hunters who are planning on hunting mourning doves or rails this month should first alter their repeating shotguns so that they will not take more than three shells at one loading. Both the mourning dove and the rail are classed as migratory game birds. As such the birds cannot be hunted by guns that take more than three shells at a time, according to the federal regulation.

All of our migratory game birds, including ducks, geese, doves, rails, jacksnipe, and even the lowly coot will hear none of the "rat-tat-tat-tat" gunfire this season that accompanied the hunting of last season. The law says no one can hunt these birds with shotguns "capable of holding more than three shells . . . at one loading."

Avoid Last Minute Rush.

Any hunter who is planning on using his old automatic or repeating shotgun this fall will find it advisable to check on methods of altering his repeater right away, especially if this gun is to go to a gunshop for this or any other work. There is bound to be a last minute rush for gun alterations or repairs, thus making it difficult to get one's pet weapon out of the shop in time for an early hunt. If the hunter plans on doing his own job of changing the shell capacity of a repeating gun he can obtain advice on the job and the plug required from almost any gunshop.

While a few Illinois hunters are barging through the marshes to pick up a few rails or invading fields for dove shooting, the Illinois department of conservation, still considering the stringent duck hunting regulations for the year, has issued an interesting diagnosis of the figures on last year's duck kill. It coincides with an analysis published by this department more than a week ago in which it was pointed out that only about 12 per cent of all ducks killed last year were taken over so-called baited ground. The department figures that only about 11 per cent of all ducks shot last year were taken over baited grounds or waters. It points out that the survey's own figures refute their claims of unusual killing over baited grounds, especially in view of the fact that approximately 499,151 duck hunters shooting over unbaited grounds killed 5,340,000 ducks, or an average of 10.7 birds per man.

Objects to Possession Limits.

The Illinois department of conservation also feels that the "possession limit of only one day's bag will lead to much law violation and waste of game birds," because the average hunter will not visit the shooting grounds at an expense of $50 to $100 to shoot ten birds.

LEJECK TO MEET MURPHY TODAY FOR TENNIS TITLE

Eddie Lejeck and Chester Murphy will meet this afternoon at Hamilton park for the championship of the Hamilton park 23d annual Labor day tennis tournament.

Lejeck easily defeated Bill Parkhill in their semi-final Saturday, 6-0, 6-1, 6-2. Murphy displayed some excellent tennis yesterday in winning his semi-final from Charlie Shostrom, 6-4, 6-0, 6-2.

ENGEL, LA MONTE FIGHT TONIGHT ON NORTH SIDE

Michaels Meets Sharkey in Semi-Windup.

George Engel, the Plymouth boxer, in the midst of a winning streak, will attempt to add to his laurels tonight at the expense of Bob La Monte of Chicago, in a scheduled eight round bout at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The agreed weight for the contest, which is expected to develop into a slugging duel, is 147 pounds.

Jackie Sherman vs. Mickey Nolan [4], 148.
Jimmy Richards vs. Joe Wiley [4], 134.
Paul Miller vs. Al Williams [wrestling].

Billy Celebron and Laddie Tonelli will conclude drills today for their ten round headliner at Western stadium tomorrow. Felix Kolk, who has been given a half interest in Tonelli and the latter's stablemate, Geno Salvatore, says Tonelli has reached his peak for the fight, which probably will be his and Celebron's hardest professional test. Members of the Chicago Cubs have been invited to attend as guests of the management.

Promoter Joe Coffey has canceled his wrestling show, booked for tonight at White City. . . . Nango Singh is likely to meet the winner of the Ivan Rasputin-George Dusette wrestling match at Marigold Gardens Wednesday. . . . Art Sykes, Elmira, and Baxter Calmes, Wichita, are training at Trafton's gymnasium for a ten round tussle at Western stadium Sept. 10. . . . Harry Carleton, Jersey City, N. J., is due Wednesday or Thursday for a ten round contest with Bobby Pacho at Marigold a week from tonight. . . . Otis Thomas, who made a successful pro debut by beating Adam Smith here in June, is preparing for his second, probably against Frank Vogel, on the Sykes-Calmes card. . . . Jackie Sharkey intends to undergo an operation on his right hand some time this week.

Joe Savoldi will be in town a week in advance of his heavyweight wrestling championship encounter against Champion Danno O'Mahoney at Chicago Stadium, Sept. 16, Co-Matchmaker James C. Mullen said before he left on a business trip to New York over the week-end. . . . Mullen will return Tuesday or Wednesday to aid his partner, Nate Lewis, complete promotional details for the O'Mahoney-Savoldi match. . . . Lorenzo Pack, who knocked out Al Boros for the second time, this time at New York last week, is seeking a scrap in Chicago to be held next week. . . . Plans to offer shows regularly at Arcadia Gardens during the indoor season are being completed by Stadium officials.

Eight amateur bouts involving sixteen Catholic Youth organization boxers will be held this afternoon at Model farm, Mundelein, Ill.

YANKEES TAKE THIRD STRAIGHT FROM A'S, 5 TO 3

Johnson and Foxx Each Hit Home Runs.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The New York Yankees made it three victories in a row over the Athletics today, 5 to 3. The setback was the seventh straight for the Macks.

Bob Johnson and Jimmy Foxx accounted for two-thirds of the A's run output with homers into the upper left field stands in the fourth inning. Their other run was a gift from Blondy Ryan, whose wild throw in the fifth let in Cramer, who had tripled.

Wilshere walked the first three men to face him in the ninth, but a strikeout and a double play kept the Yanks from increasing their total. Score:

SENATORS WIN IN 14TH.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Buck Newsom singled to drive in the winning run today as he won a 14 inning pitchers' battle from Lefty Grove and the Boston Red Sox. It gave the Senators a sweep of the two game series.

Both teams scored one run in the fourth inning and from then on each pitcher hurled scoreless ball until the fourteenth when Newsom's single brought in Powell with the deciding run.

Boston scored its only run when Werber scored on Johnson's infield out. Powell singled to bring Schulte home with Washington's first run in the same inning. Grove yielded 12 hits and Newsom 9. Score:

SWEDEN WINS LITTLE OLYMPIC GAMES AT BERLIN

A crowd of 20,000 saw the Swede Jansson throw the hammer 169 feet 61-5 inches, to better by four inches the effort of the German Blask, who had established a new German record.

Sweden wound up with 56 points, Germany 52.5, Hungary 40, Japan 33, and Italy 26.5.

The Japanese Nishida was the sensation of the meet as he vaulted 14 feet 1.4 inches. His teammate, Suzuki, won the 100 meter dash in 106 seconds, while another, Oshima, world record holder, covered 50 feet 1 13-16 inches to win the hop, step, and jump.

SOX DEFEAT INDIANS, 9-6; SWEEP SERIES

ball for the first of the Sox harvest of errors. Vosmik singled to center, scoring Galatzer and Averill. Dykes made a nice one-handed catch in front of the Sox dugout to get Trosky's foul. Hale singled to center for the fourth hit off Phelps. Knickerbocker fanned and Hale was caught off first, Sewell to Bonura.

The Sox tied the score in their half of the first inning. Conlan opened with the first of his hits. Simmons flied to Galatzer and Conlan reached second on Piet's infield out. Appling walked. Then Bonura doubled to the right field corner, scoring Conlan and Appling. Zeke, however, was out when he tried to reach third on the smash.

Little of Everything.

Phelps escaped in the second inning, but not until he had absorbed further torture. Hughes opened with the fifth Cleveland hit. Brenzel bunted to Phelps, who made a low throw to second, Hughes and Brenzel both landing safely. Hildebrand grounded to Dykes, who threw to Piet and forced Brenzel, but when Piet threw the ball away for the third White Sox error, Hughes scored and Hildebrand pulled up at second. Galatzer walked and the bases were full when Averill lined a short single to left center. At this point Phelps was escorted to the bathhouse and Tietje took over the pitching. Vosmik flied to Washington, Hildebrand scoring. Trosky flied to Conlan.

Hale reached second at the start of the third inning on Dykes' two base throwing error, making it four Sox errors before the seventh batsman had been retired. Knickerbocker doubled to right, scoring Hale, and went to third on Hughes' sacrifice. Knickerbocker and Brenzel clicked perfectly on the squeeze play, Knickerbocker scoring. Hildebrand was called out on strikes.

Sox Bounce Back.

The White Sox third was a boisterous affair which netted three runs. Tietje set off the fireworks with a line single to center and stopped at third on Conlan's second hit, a double to right. Simmons then lined a long single to right center, which scored Tietje and Conlan. Simmons was forced by Piet. Piet reached second while Knickerbocker threw out Appling. Bonura then singled to left and Piet scored. Dykes forced Bonura.

The next scoring outbreak was in the fifth, when the Sox tied the score. With one down Simmons cracked a single off Knickerbocker's shins and took second while Piet was being retired on a high bouncer by L. Brown, who had succeeded Hildebrand at the start of the fourth inning. Simmons scored from second on a wild pitch, after which Appling walked. Bonura made his third hit of the game and his sixth in as many times at bat on a high infield bouncer, Appling stopping at second. The inning ended when again Dykes forced Bonura.

Tietje Carried Away.

Trosky singled to left to start the eighth. He was the first Indian to reach first since the third inning. Hale hit into a double play, launched by Piet. Knickerbocker lined a single to center. Hughes smashed a single off Tietje's left knee, Knickerbocker stopping at second. Tietje collapsed and had to be carried from the field. Wyatt went in to pitch and Winegarner batted for Brenzel. Piet made a nice stop back of second to get Winegarner's grounder, but could make no play, and the bases were full. Wright batted for Lloyd Brown and lined to Washington.

C. Brown was the Indian pitcher at the start of the eighth and when Dykes socked him for a double to right, he was replaced by Lee. Dykes went to third on Washington's sacrifice. Then Sewell was given an intentional pass. Rookie Fred Tauby, fresh from Dallas, batted for Wyatt and fanned.

The Clincher—By Simmons.

Sewell stole second and Conlan was hit in the ribs by a pitched ball, filling the bases. After a three and two count, Simmons lined his third hit, a single, to right, scoring Dykes and Sewell and sending Conlan to third. This precipitated a straw hat shower. Piet singled to center, his first hit of the series, Conlan scoring and Simmons taking third. Appling flied to Galatzer.

Whitehead, Jones Face Tigers at Detroit Today

The White Sox will play morning and afternoon games at Detroit today and at 9 o'clock tonight will push off for New York, the second stop on their six city trip.

Phelps showed signs of exhaustion as he took the mound at the start of the game. Because of the Piet ceremonies he had an especially long and arduous warmup, considering his physical condition.

Dodgers Score 7 in 2d; Beat Braves, 8 to 4

Boston, Mass., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers pounded Ben Cantwell for seven runs in the second inning today and just went through the motions the remainder of the distance to trounce the Braves, 8 to 4, and sweep the two-game series here.

CARDS PREDICT RECORD MONTH AT BOX OFFICE

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Is Sam Breadon, president of the world champion Cardinals, happy as he contemplates the prospects of another National league pennant and world series?

"This will be the biggest month in the history of the Cardinals if the Redbirds continue to hold their own in the pennant race," he said today.

"Even in 1926, when we were on the road to our first pennant, interest wasn't any keener than today, and we had no depression then.

"One reason why September will reach a new high total, if weather and other conditions are favorable, is that we have 30 games to play at home during the month. That's almost unprecedented."

Play Opens Today for Amateur Baseball Title

Thirty-two ball teams, league winners in the Chicago Baseball federation, will start play today in a series of games to determine the amateur baseball championship of Chicago. Games will be played in four sections of the city, at Humboldt, Waveland, Calumet, and Hamilton parks. Eight teams will play at each of the four parks, beginning at 10 o'clock.

single scored for the Cubs again in the third. Hartnett looked at a third strike for a starter. Demaree's bounder leaped over Traynor's head for two bases. Hack walked. Lindstrom lined to Hafey. Jurges then singled to left, sending Demaree home. Henshaw's fly to Jensen ended the inning.

Two were out in the fourth when the Pirates suddenly cooked up a threat that for a few moments appeared to warrant Henshaw's removal from the premises. However, he escaped with the damage confined to one run. Suhr started it with a double to center. Traynor doubled to left and Suhr hurried home. Then Henshaw pitched himself into a full house by passing Young and Padden, but Blanton, who has produced only nine base hits all season, struck out on three pitched balls.

Cy Goes to Sleep.

Another of Blanton's faults is his lack of alertness as a fielder, and this helped the Cubs to a run in the fifth. Herman bounced a single off Traynor's glove with one out and Klein singled to left. While Hartnett was at the plate Padden tossed a ball back to Blanton, who was dreaming or something. The ball rolled into center field, the runners took second and third, and Padden was charged with the error. The miscue put Herman in position to score on Hartnett's fly to Hafey. Padden took Demaree's pop foul for the third out.

Hafey brought the Pirates up to within one of a tie in the home fifth. He belted his homer, a real line drive, over the left field fence when Henshaw tried to sneak over a third strike. Waner lofted to Jurges for the second out. Vaughan then bunted past Henshaw, and as Herman has a habit of playing deep on the grass, he had no chance for the play. Henshaw finally recovered the ball, and after Vaughan was already across first threw wild in that direction. The runner took second, but Suhr rolled to Hack.

Pirate Misplays Help.

Demaree opened the Cub eighth with an infield hit to Young. Hack bunted and Traynor's trick arm threw wild to first, Demaree taking third. He scored on Lindstrom's fly to Jensen. Jurges doubled to left, and Hack intended to stop at third, but continued to the plate when Jensen fumbled the ball. After Henshaw had fanned, Galan singled to right to send Jurges across the plate. Herman also singled. Klein tapped gently in front of the plate, but Blanton not only was leisurely, but threw wild. Klein, who was given a hit, went to second on the error, while both Galan and Herman scored. The end came on Hartnett's fly to Waner.

Long Island Four Beats Westbury at Polo, 13-4

Westbury, N. Y., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Cyril Harrison and Ivor Balding led the Long Island polo team to a 13 to 4 triumph over a Westbury four before 2,000 today. Harrison accounted for six goals and Balding made five for the winners who scored in every period. Terance Preece scored the other two goals for Long Island. For the losers G. H. [Pete] Bostwick stood out.

Cubs Home for Two Games with Cincinnati Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pittsburgh, Pa., Sept. 1.—The Cubs went home tonight for a stretch of 20 games starting tomorrow with a double-header against the sixth place Reds. The Labor day pitching will be intrusted to Lon Warneke and Bill Lee. Tony Freitas and Gene Schott will pitch for the Reds.

Augie Galan has suddenly gnawed his way into the eating championship of the Cub outfit. Chuck Klein agreed to foot the bill if Galan could surpass a mark of four chickens consumed on a previous trip here. Klein paid because Galan quit only after eating five and one-half fowls in addition to trimmings, such as potatoes and salad.

The spurt by the Pirates helped considerably at the gate today. About 18,000 showed up and they gave Manager Pie Traynor a big hand. A month ago the same folks were giving him the bird.

ENGLAND SENDS CHALLENGE FOR AMERICA'S CUP

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Although no official admission was made by the New York Yacht club today that a challenge for America's Cup had been received on behalf of Charles R. Fairey, prominent English yachtsman and airplane builder, it was learned that one had come by cable on Aug. 19 from the Royal London Yacht club, of which Fairey was made commodore just prior to his decision to challenge.

Formal action on it has not been taken. The cablegram was acknowledged by George A. Cormack, veteran secretary of the New York club, and the written challenge awaited. The customary procedure has been for the commodore of the club to appoint a cup committee to take up the matter. Commodore Junius S. Morgan is in Europe. His going abroad, coupled with the announcement in London of the challenge, led to the belief that he would discuss the matter with Fairey in London.

HARTNETT DROPS OUT OF BIG SIX; VAUGHAN GAINS

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Two former members of the Big Six regained their places yesterday. Mel Ott of the Giants and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees, each hit once in three attempts to maintain their marks of .344 and .340, respectively, and moved into third place in their leagues.

Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs and Buddy Myer of the Senators, who had been third in the two circuits, both failed to hit, Hartnett losing five points and Myer four. Arky Vaughan touched the .400 mark again with two hits in four times at bat to lift his average one point. Standing:

Falcon, Skipit, Kristina Win in Yacht Races

At the Chicago Yacht club, the club's full fleet of six eagle class sloops raced for the E. Ross Gamble trophy, on time allowance. Clarence Clark's Falcon, sailed in record time by its skipper, Payson Mayhew, new secretary-treasurer of the Eagle class association, took first place. Skipper Mayhew's working crew included his fiancée, Gladys Ramsay; Fred Sperner, and Mike Michaelson.

The six nautical mile triangular course off Belmont harbor was traversed twice by the Falcon in 2 hours 4 minutes and 49 seconds. Second place was taken by Leeds Mitchell Jr.'s Quienna. Orn, Dr. George Davis' entry, which won Saturday's race, now leads the Gamble trophy series with 9¼ points. The final race this afternoon will decide the series.

Skipit Wins at Sheridan Shore.

Tom Waage and Charles Knight won in their Skipit in the second Shipping Board trophy race at the Sheridan Shore Yacht club yesterday. In crossing the starting line, Skipit's mainsail became torn, but the crew continued the race and defeated 22 other stars for first place.

A windward and leeward course of 12 miles was covered by the winner in 1 hour 45 minutes and 5 seconds. The Hayford-Jones star boat, Twinkle Ditto, was second.

In the two races sailed so far by the stars Silver Spray leads with 46 points. Bowman's Bonnie B., with 44 points, is second. The final race is to be sailed at 10 o'clock this morning off Wilmette.

Kristina Wins in Snipe Class.

Paul Hansen sailed his snipe class sloop Kristina to victory in the Wilmette divisional snipe class race yesterday. Eight boats competed in the six mile triangular race. Kristina's time was 1 hour 19 minutes 49 seconds. Gladiator, sailed by Tom Johanson and Ted Smith, was second. Summaries:

FORT SHERIDAN WINS CENTRAL POLO TITLE, 15-8

Rallies to Beat Oak Brook Quartet.

Four hard riding poloists from Fort Sheridan won the Central Circuit championship yesterday, defeating the Oak Brook Polo club, 15 to 8, in the tournament final at Oak Brook before 5,000.

Once it got started there was no stopping the army combination of Capt. Edwin Greiner, Maj. C. A. Wilkinson, Lieut. Col. Harry D. Chamberlin, and Capt. Larry G. Smith. Besides proving uncanny ball hawks, they set a terrific pace that forced the Oak Brook players to hurry their shots and sometimes to miss them altogether.

Start Off Poorly.

The soldiers were off to a bad start, and at the end of the first chukker they were trailing Oak Brook, 4 to 0. Paul Butler, team captain, got two goals and Jim Hannah and Prentice Porter one each.

It was then that army perked up. Maj. Wilkinson knocked in a pretty back hand shot and before the second chukker was over he took a pass from Capt. Smith to score again.

Two more goals by Maj. Wilkinson, both after Oak Brook fouls, and one apiece by Lieut. Col. Chamberlin and Capt. Greiner gave Fort Sheridan a 6 to 4 lead at the half.

Enter National Meet.

Another free shot was converted into a goal by Maj. Wilkinson in the fourth period. Each of his teammates also counted to give Fort Sheridan a commanding lead.

The two clubs played on fairly even terms during the final two chukkers, but Fort Sheridan by then was too far out in front to be threatened.

By winning yesterday, Fort Sheridan earned the right to represent the Central circuit in the national intercircuit meet which, with the national 12 goal tourney, will be played at Oak Brook during the next two weeks. Lineup:

FT. SHERIDAN [15].		OAK BROOK [8].
Capt. Greiner	No. 1	James Hannah
Maj. Wilkinson	No. 2	George Bates
Lt. Col. Cham'lin	No. 3	Paul Butler
Capt. L. G. Smith	Back	Prentice Porter

Score by chukkers:

Fort Sheridan..............0 2 4 4 3 2—15
Oak Brook....................4 0 0 0 2 2— 8

BABE RUTH PLAYS IN POLICE GAME AT MINNEAPOLIS

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Babe Ruth took another fling at baseball today and the largest Minneapolis baseball crowd in many years, 13,000 fans, turned out to see him as the Minneapolis police defeated the St. Paul police, 10 to 4, in the annual game between the two departments.

The Babe played the whole nine innings, four and a half with each team. He didn't hit a home run, but nobody seemed disappointed, and the autograph business was as brisk as ever. Ruth looked a bit rusty from his three month layoff and got only one hit, a line drive double to left center in the fourth. He walked two times, popped out on another occasion, and was fanned by Peter Guzy, Minneapolis hurler, in his last appearance in the eighth.

PLAYS GOLF HERE TODAY.

Babe Ruth, the retired home run king, will return to Chicago today to play golf at the North Shore Golf club. He so assured officials of the club when here Saturday before continuing to Minneapolis for a day. The club has named Herb Lorber to be Ruth's special host for his day of golf.

MILBURN SHAKEN AS HURLINGHAM BEATS WESTBURY

Port Washington, N. Y., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Devereux Milburn, veteran international polo player, was severely shaken up today when thrown from his pony during a match in which the British Hurlingham team defeated Westbury 9 to 8 in an open championship test game.

Milburn went down in the fourth chukker, the pony falling on him and he was carried from the field unconscious. Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who was White House physician during the administratin of Woodrow Wilson, administered first aid and Milburn later drove to his home, Billy Post taking his place in the game. There was no evidence of broken bones.

The British scored four goals in the first chukker and although the Americans came strong in the later chukkers they were unable to overcome the hard riding Britons.

PARKS AND HAGEN WIN.

Barre, Vt., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Sam Parks Jr., national open champion, and Walter Hagen, today defeated Jack Deals and J. B. Stewart, 4 and 3, in an exhibition.

SWEDISH KIN OF BELGIAN QUEEN JOIN MOURNERS

Astrid's Parents Met by Crowds in Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Prince Carl and Princess Ingeborg of Sweden arrived today to join the royalty assembling for the funeral Tuesday of their daughter, Queen Astrid of the Belgians, who was killed Wednesday in an automobile crash in Switzerland.

Brave Rain and Sun.

Trains, automobiles and bicycles brought thousands to join the ever growing queue, estimated to number 10,000 persons, who circled the royal palace awaiting a chance to enter the "Thinkers hall" and pay their last respect to Astrid.

The palace gates were opened at 9 a. m. to permit passage through the death chamber of the thousands who stood outside all night.

Many persons carried stools and food. Even invalids stood by, awaiting their turn, undeterred by the rain and chilly winds of last night and the broiling sun of today.

Ambulances Called.

Occasionally ambulance men pushed their way through the crowd carrying women who fainted from exhaustion or who were overcome by emotion.

Police said the crowd seeking admission today was larger than that at any time while the late King Albert, who died in a mountain climbing accident, was lying in state.

The grief stricken mother, with her husband, entered the funeral bed chamber accompanied by King Leopold, husband of the late queen. The king was so overwhelmed by the demonstration that he appeared to be on the verge of breaking down.

Court mourning was decreed today for a period of six months, the first three months of which will be observed with full ceremony.

REPORT SHOWS GROWTH OF CITY HALL'S LIBRARY

The city's reference library, situated on the tenth floor of the city hall, added 6,559 pamphlets and books to its collection during 1934 and loaned 25,433 volumes and documents to 15,494 persons during the period. These totals are shown in a report of the library's activities compiled by Frederick Rex, librarian.

The library now has 163,521 volumes and pamphlets on its shelves, according to the report. It is one of the largest institutions of its kind in the country, offering its services free to the general public as well as to city officials.

As an indication of general interest in the library, Mr. Rex declared that he and a staf of five assistants answered 7,500 inquiries and reference questions during the year, and replied to 2,900 letters from the public and 310 letters from city officials.

In addition to such routine activities, said Mr. Rex, the library provided historical and reference data for various city booster campaigns, for the 1934 world's fair, the Chicago birthday celebration, and numerous city council problems and interests.

The municipal reference library costs the city $12,000 a year. It was established under Mayor Carter Harrison Jr. in 1900 as a reference bureau, and grew to library proportions in 1913.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. MARY KIBBE IN HER 92D YEAR

Mrs. Mary Logan Kibbe, for many years a resident of Chicago, died yesterday in her 92d year at the home of a granddaughter, Mrs. Robert M. Lee, 330 Waukegan road, Lake Forest.

Mrs. Kibbe, the widow of the Rev. James A. Kibbe, was born on May 5, 1844, in what is now Sprague, but was then called Baltic, Conn.

Mrs. Kibbe was a cousin of Gen. John A. Logan, and a niece of Joshua Giddings, famous Ohio statesman, and of President Millard Fillmore.

Funeral and burial services will be private.

Charles S. McNeal Dies of Heart Attack at 62

Charles S. McNeal, 120 East Walnut street, Hinsdale, former president of the Garden City Sand company of Chicago, died yesterday in the Presbyterian hospital of a heart attack. Mr. McNeal, who was 62 years old, was born in Chicago, but had resided in Hinsdale for the last 39 years. Surviving him are his widow, Mary, and three daughters, Alice, Margaret, and Mrs. William Noble, all of Hinsdale. The funeral will be held in the home at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow. Burial will be at Bronswood.

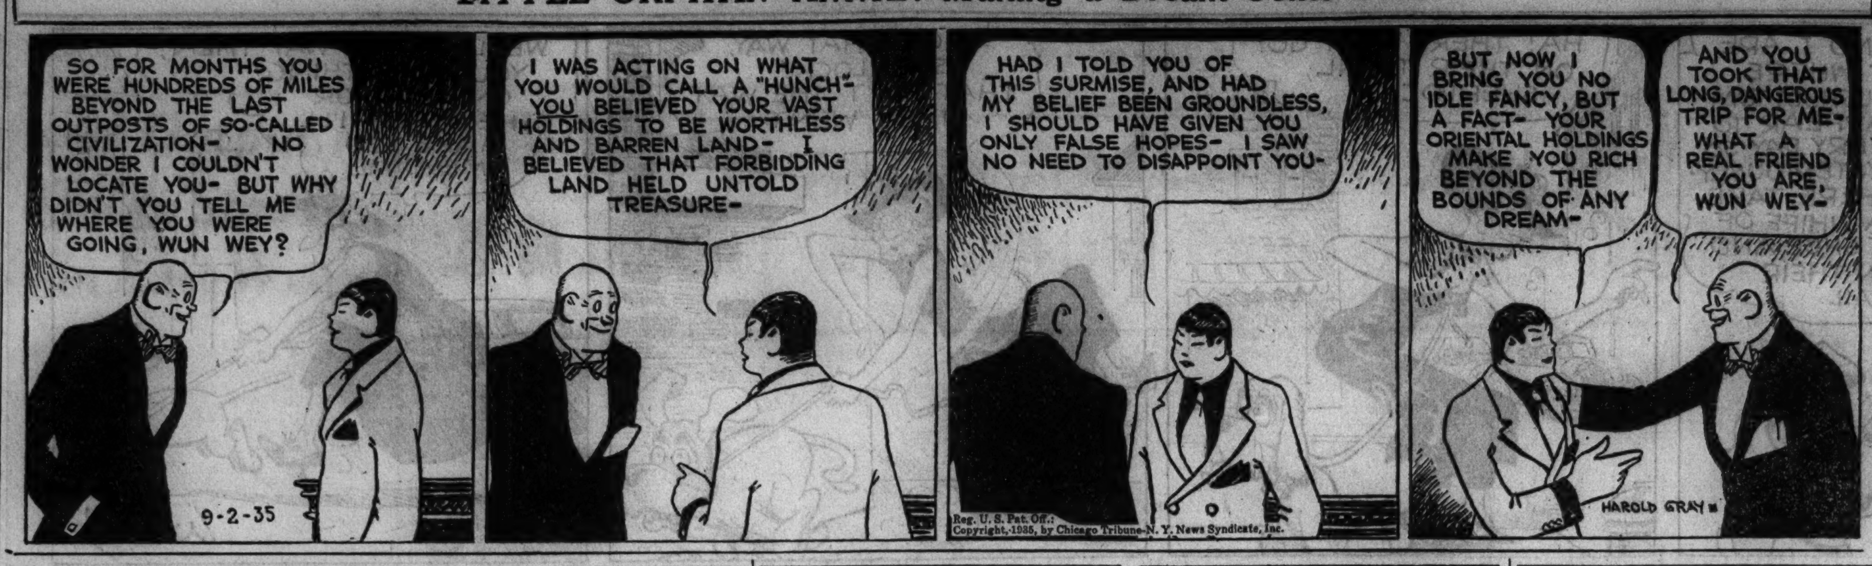
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Making a Dream Come True



SO FOR MONTHS YOU WERE HUNDREDS OF MILES BEYOND THE LAST OUTPOSTS OF SO-CALLED CIVILIZATION— NO WONDER I COULDN'T LOCATE YOU— BUT WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL ME WHERE YOU WERE GOING, WUN WEY?
I WAS ACTING ON WHAT YOU WOULD CALL A "HUNCH"— YOU BELIEVED YOUR VAST HOLDINGS TO BE WORTHLESS BARREN LAND— I BELIEVED THAT FORBIDDING LAND HELD UNTOLD TREASURE—
HAD I TOLD YOU OF THIS SURMISE, AND HAD MY BELIEF BEEN GROUNDLESS, I SHOULD HAVE GIVEN YOU FALSE HOPES— I SAW NO NEED TO DISAPPOINT YOU—
BUT NOW I BRING YOU NO IDLE FANCY, BUT A FACT— YOUR ORIENTAL HOLDINGS MAKE YOU RICH BEYOND THE BOUNDS OF ANY DREAM—
AND YOU TOOK THAT LONG, DANGEROUS TRIP FOR ME— WHAT A REAL FRIEND YOU ARE, WUN WEY—

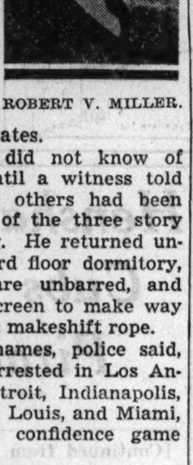
ROBERT MILLER, SWINDLER, FLEES FEDERAL PRISON

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Mildly interested street loungers today watched Robert V. Miller, reputed international swindler, slip down a rope of bedsheets and flee from the federal detention prison.



ROBERT V. MILLER.

Miller, whom police listed in an arrest record in many American cities and several European countries, had been held under $50,000 bail since arrested May 13 on a charge of possessing counterfeit money and plates.

Prison officials did not know of Miller's escape until a witness told them. Miller and others had been taken to the roof of the three story building for airing. He returned unnoticed to the third floor dormitory, where windows are unbarred, and tore a hole in a screen to make way for himself and his makeshift rope.

Under various names, police said, Miller has been arrested in Los Angeles, Chicago, Detroit, Indianapolis, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, and Miami, frequently on confidence game charges.

MRS. HAMMOND DIES AT 76; HEAD OF NOTED FAMILY

Mrs. Mary Electa Hammond, 76 years old, mother of C. Herrick Hammond, state engineer, and of Brig. Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, president of the Whiting corporation, died on Saturday night while visiting another son, Robert S. Hammond, Hubbard Woods, at his summer home in Glen Lake, Mich. She had been ill for three weeks.

Mrs. Hammond, who was a resident of the Kenwood district for 50 years, had spent the last several years traveling and living with her five sons. She was the widow of Charles L. Hammond, real estate dealer, who died in 1918.

Besides the three sons in Chicago, Mrs. Hammond is survived by two other sons, Col. John S. Hammond of New York, chairman of the Madison Square Garden board, and Harry S. Hammond, also of New York.

The body of Mrs. Hammond will be taken to Crown Point, N. Y., for funeral services and burial Tuesday. She was born in Vergennes, Vt., and later moved to Chicago with her father, Herrick Stevens, who operated the old Madison house, one of Lincoln's stopping places.

FELICE LYNE, 45, FORMER STAR OF OPERAS, IS DEAD

Allentown, Pa., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Felice Lyne, 45, who achieved her greatest success in opera in London and Paris, died today at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Sandford T. Lyne.

Her coloratura soprano voice won her much distinction as a school girl singer in Kansas City in the early 1900's. She went to Paris to study under Marchesa. There she was heard by Oscar Hammerstein, who was about to open an opera house in London, and he signed her in 1911.

She made her London début in "Rigoletto" and was acclaimed by London critics. After several seasons at the Hammerstein opera house she made a world tour with the Quinlan Opera company.

MRS. D'LAMARTER, WIFE OF CHICAGO COMPOSER, DIES

Mrs. Alice DeLamarter, wife of Eric DeLamarter, musician, composer, and assistant conductor of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, died yesterday in the family's summer home in Winnetka. She had been ill for more than a year. Private funeral services will be held tomorrow, with interment in Joliet. Mrs. DeLamarter was the former Mrs. Alice Youngmain. She married Mr. DeLamarter in 1925. Besides her husband she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ruth Silliman of Denver.

John J. Kelly, Former Oil Plant Head, Dies

Funeral services for John J. Kelly, a Chicago resident for more than 40 years, former superintendent of the Standard Oil company plant at Whiting, Ind., will be held tomorrow in the St. Thomas Episcopal church at 3801 South Wabash avenue. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery, Hammond. Mr. Kelly, who was 74 years old, died on Saturday in his home at 1120 East 54th street. He is survived by four daughters and two sons.

WILLIAM H. JENSEN, 65 years old, 6220 North Paulina street, an employé of the Cook county public service department, died yesterday in Grant hospital. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the chapel at 3905 Lincoln avenue. Burial will be in Rosehill cemetery. Mr. Jensen was a member of the Masonic order. He was active in the German-American Citizens league and the 50th ward Democratic organization.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Home from a brief vacation in England, where she inspired such headlines as "Famous Radio Auntie from America Visits London," Ireene Wicker will return to her Singing Lady program over W-G-N and NBC at 5:30 this afternoon with many an interesting tale and new songs for her juvenile audience.

Ireene found much to praise in the British system of broadcasting and said Britons are considerably interested in America's way of doing things in radio.

On the credit side for British radio she listed a great deal of very excellent music. Practically all of the Salzburg festival highlights have been relayed from Austria for British listeners. The British Broadcasting system makes available to its customers the finest music in England. On top of that much good music is brought in directly over the Paris and Berlin stations. Plenty of propaganda comes in from Reich stations, but also choice music.

Ireene also was enthusiastic about the dramatic productions of British broadcasting houses. "The British are not nearly so lackadaisical about timing their programs as we have been led to believe in America," Ireene continued. "Tea time is still important to them, but it doesn't mean that radio operations are suspended for half an hour. Of course a program could be a minute or two late in getting started at that hour. If there is a silence of a minute or so on their receivers, listeners do not feel that some catastrophe has befallen Broadcasting house."

ROBERT FRANKS, EXECUTOR FOR CARNEGIE, DIES

West Orange, N. J., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Robert A. Franks, who was executor and trustee of the Andrew Carnegie estate and who had been vice chairman and treasurer of the Carnegie corporation of New York since its formation in November, 1911, died today at his home. He was 73 years old.

During his years as financial secretary and representative of Mr. Carnegie, the power of attorney possessed by Mr. Franks was one of the most extensive ever issued. In June, 1901, the steel master wrote to him: "I cannot tell you how much I value you; one to whom I intrust untold millions without a thought."

Born in Liverpool, England, Mr. Franks came to this country in 1883 in the company of Andrew Carnegie, who had returned to England on a visit. The Franks and Carnegie families had long been friends.

CHIEF RABBI KOOK DIES; PALESTINE'S JEWISH LEADER

JERUSALEM, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Chief Rabbi Abraham Isaac Ben Salomo Salman Ha-Kohen Kook, 70, spiritual leader of modern Palestine, died today after a lingering illness. Funeral services for Rabbi Kook, who represented the Ashkenazic or western Jews, will be held tomorrow. He had been ill since the first week in July.

Rabbi Kook was one of the most active figures in the life of Palestine, to the upbuilding of which he contributed greatly during the last thirty years. His first spiritual post in Palestine, to which he went in 1904, was at Jaffa. It was at that time he and a few other Jews started to build what is now the city of Tel Aviv on the sand dunes on the outskirts of Jaffa.

Drunkenness Is a Disease!
This FREE Booklet Explains Facts That Every Person Should Know

HERE is a treatise written on the disease of inebriety and its cure, written especially for the Keeley Institute. It is based on fifty years' experience, embracing the treatment of more than 400,000 patients, including men and women from all walks of life.

It tells you "why" the medical profession recognizes drunkenness as a disease; what famous medical authorities say about the disease of drunkenness . . . and "how" drunkenness can be cured. The booklet is free, and mailed in a plain envelope. Write at once for your copy. NOW!

SEEK LOAN FOR SOCIAL CREDIT PLAN IN ALBERTA

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 1.—(AP)—When the Aberhart social credit government takes over administration of Alberta Tuesday, its first job will be to raise $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 in the good old fashioned way.

It was considered probable today that William Aberhart would be forced to appeal to Premier Bennett at Ottawa for funds because the treasury is almost dry and ordinary borrowing channels are closed.

Aberhart said he would have to clear up the finances of the province before making a start on his new credit system, the basis of which is a monthly credit dividend of $25 to every man and woman in Alberta.

Aberhart reiterated his conviction there was no cause for alarm in the financial position of the province, either for holders of savings certificates or bonds. His government is pledged to pay 100 cents on every bond and certificate and he insists he will redeem that pledge.

SURVEY SHOWS WHY CHICAGO LEADS IN STEEL

Facilities Point to Further Growth.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The institute's survey, in which steel production was classified by areas instead of states, disclosed that the Chicago area actually surpassed the Pittsburgh district in production of steel last year. The Chicago area includes Milwaukee, Kenosha, Waukegan, Indiana Harbor, and Gary, while the Pittsburgh district comprises ten counties forming the southwestern part of Pennsylvania.

Comparative Steel Figures.

During 1934 the Chicago district, with a steel ingot capacity of 14,139,804 tons, produced 4,699,404 tons, while the Pittsburgh area, with a capacity of 13,921,404 tons, produced 4,396,876 tons.

The analysis points out that Pennsylvania appears to be gradually losing its leadership in the production of finished steel to the Illinois and Ohio regions. One of the most important influences in this trend, it is said, has been the recent construction of new flat rolled steel plants in districts closer than Pennsylvania to the consuming areas. These are the Michigan and Detroit automobile centers and the Illinois and northern Indiana industrial sections.

The American Sheet and Tin Plate company now has under way enlargement and modernization of its sheet and tin plate plant at Gary which, it is said, will make this establishment the largest of its type in the world. Inland Steel in recent years has greatly enlarged its sheet mill at Indiana Harbor, making it one of the most efficient in the country.

Give Reasons for Growth.

Chicago steel men cite a number of reasons for the district's present importance and for its continued expansion as a steel producing center. First, this center is ideally situated for the assembly of the raw materials which go into the manufacture of steel, and second, it is in the center of a vast market for steel.

Situated on Lake Michigan, the region can obtain its ore and limestone direct by low cost water transportation and it can get its coal either by water or rail, or a combination of both. Thus the Chicago area is one of the most advantageously situated in all the world for the gathering of these raw materials.

However, this advantage would mean nothing if a market for the output of the steel mills were not at hand. But this market is here and for the following reasons:

Center of Largest Rail Network.

Chicago is the center of the largest railroad network in the world. The railroads, although their requirements have been limited because of the depression, will again come into the steel market in big volume, steel men say. The United States is some 3,000 miles wide and 1,500 miles in depth. Because of these great distances railroads are vital in the national defense and as such they must be maintained for the transfer of supplies and men should the need arise.

Chicago and the area close to it manufacture vast amounts of farm implements. Huge plants are located here and at points along the Mississippi river and in Indiana.

In the structural field, steel men say that the industry must look for two things: How much pioneering has been done in a steel center's natural market? What lines of industry are there to take this type of output?

Expansion Is Westward.

In the first instance the middle west and the great area extending to the Rockies is far less developed than the east. Thus, the growth of the country must be westward.

Regarding the second there is a vast market for structural steel in the varied manufacturing enterprises located in this region.

Then, there is the automotive field. Chicago and its vicinity possess many big builders of parts for automobiles—forgings, frames, castings. The region is easily accessible to Detroit, both by water and rail, which absorbs vast quantities of these supplies.

Steel men point out that it is more economic to have steel mills in strategic points which can easily serve all types of industry. This permits the steel industry to spread its output and provides a safeguard against the results of a single industry slowing down and cutting its orders.

Finally, Chicago is recognized as the center of the trucking industry which transports goods over the nation's highways. Expansion of the highways will mean a demand for reinforcing materials, mesh, bars, etc. This must be accompanied by orders for structural steel for bridges and culverts.

Brazil Orders 14 Planes from Waco Air Company

Troy, O., Sept. 1.—(AP)—Waco Aircraft company officials announced recently receipt of an order from the Brazilian government for 14 more planes to be used for airmail service on a new line along the Atlantic coast and Amazon river. The order brought to nearly 200 the number of ships sold to Brazil in the last few years. The new order approximated $160,000, company officials said.

Steel Output Holds Steady in Last Week

Steel operations last week were maintained at 52½ per cent of capacity, says the magazine Steel, as fresh commitments in the latter part of the week, mainly for the lighter steel products, lifted operations in some centers, thereby offsetting an easier tendency earlier in the week.

While the production rate at Chicago declined 3 points to 57 per cent, gains in other districts made up for this loss. At Pittsburg operations rose 1 point to 44 per cent, at Cleveland 5 points to 56 per cent, at Birmingham 5 points to 40½ per cent, at Wheeling 2 points to 78 per cent, and at Youngstown 2 points to 62 per cent. Other districts held their recent gains.

The journal says temporary suspensions for Labor day may affect steelworks activity early this week, but that producers consider this day as a dividing line, beyond which they expect renewed demand for the fall manufacturing season.

Auto Makers Place Orders.

Producers already have substantial order backlogs from automobile manufacturers, against which releases are expected early this month. The Ford Motor company is expected to buy 60,000 to 70,000 tons of flat rolled steel about Sept. 10, in addition to its recent orders for 100,000 tons, not all of which have been specified, according to the review. Manufacturers are giving up present models reluctantly, but must buy more material within a few weeks to get in production on the new series as scheduled. Assemblies last week totaled 49,000, off 1,500 from the preceding week, while the total of 220,000 for August was the lowest this year.

A striking recovery was shown in daily average steel ingot production during August after falling five consecutive months. Operations for the month averaged about 51 per cent, the magazine says, and preliminary estimates indicate output was up 23 per cent. Daily average pig iron output also made a definite gain, amounting to about 6 per cent after a two month decline.

Federal Inquiries Received.

Structural shape fabricators were encouraged by the first inquiries, in Indiana, Michigan, and New York, on the government's $4,800,000,000 public works program, according to the review. From now on these projects are expected to spread to other states and to develop substantial tonnages within thirty days. Shape awards last week totaled 25,000 tons, or almost double those of the preceding week.

Enactment of the Guffey coal bill has resulted in the virtual decision by pig iron producers to advance prices after giving melters an opportunity to cover fourth quarter requirements. Pig iron prices have been frozen since July, last year, while scrap prices on the average have advanced $1.96 a ton this year.

Last week the magazine's scrap composite rose 4 cents to $12.37 a ton, the iron and steel price composite advanced 6 cents to $32.78 a ton, and the finished steel index was 10 cents higher at $54.10 a ton.

The journal reports the Ethiopian crisis and the strained relations between the United States and Russia have resulted in a tightening of available supplies of ferromanganese from abroad, causing a stronger price situation.

VIR.-CAROLINA CHEMICAL HAS GAIN IN PROFIT

Richmond, Va., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Net profits of the Virginia-Carolina Chemical corporation for the year ended June 30, 1935, after deducting $554,364 for depreciation and depletion, amounted to $1,277,578, compared to a net profit of $492,377 for the preceding year, according to the annual report mailed today to approximately 13,000 stockholders. The corporation assets are valued at $30,276,040, with New York and Richmond investors holding large blocks of the company's prior preference stock.

Despite increases in operation, advertising and selling expenses over the preceding year, ascribed to operation under the NRA fertilizer code, the corporation's selling expense per ton "was the lowest in the history of your corporation," A. L. Ivey, president, wrote. "Our administrative expense was not only the lowest per ton," he added, "but also the lowest in the aggregate amount since the organization of the corporation."

The improvement in earnings was seen in all general divisions of the corporation, including its affiliated companies.

The annual report announces that the annual stockholders' meeting will be held here Oct. 9. The corporation statement as of last June 30 showed $6,525,441 in cash on hand, on deposit or in transit, compared to current liabilities of only $360,739.

Files 15 New Charges Against Shanghai Bankers

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, Sept. 1. — Fifteen charges of embezzlement totaling over $62,000 [American] were filed yesterday by District Attorney Felthan Watson in the United States court for China against Frank J. Raven, Albert Hamilton Driscoll, and John Warner Brown, officers of the American-Oriental Finance corporation, which is affiliated with the defunct American-Oriental bank.

France to Reopen Free Wheat Mart for Farmers

PARIS, Sept. 1.—(AP)—A free wheat market for the farmers of France will reopen tomorrow as a part of Premier Laval's scheme to raise agricultural prices. Farming interests have been awaiting with suspense this latest move of the government to bolster the French wheat market, presently in a state of collapse.

SIZE OF WHEAT CROP IN DOUBT; IMPORTS NEEDED

U. S. Forced to Buy Canadian Grain.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Although the country's wheat crop has been harvested there remains some uncertainty as to production returns. The last of the private estimates will be released tomorrow and the government's roundup of crop conditions, with estimates based on Sept. 1 conditions, will be issued in another week. When these figures become available the situation will be more clearly defined.

The last government report forecast total wheat production at 608 million bushels. It is believed in the grain trade this figures will be pared down in the next report. There remains no doubt that the United States will be a market for Canadian wheat during the present season. On the basis of the last government report the crop was about 25 million bushels below domestic requirements and this deficiency may prove to be even greater.

First Private Report Made.

The first of the private estimates was made public last Saturday. Production of all wheat was estimated by James E. Bennett & Co. at 559 million bushels. This same firm on the basis of present conditions predicts a corn harvest of 2,144 million bushels. Compared with last year's returns the indicated corn crop is highly favorable. A month ago, however, the government forecast the crop would produce 2,272 million bushels.

During the last four weeks corn crop on the western edge of the producing belt has deteriorated steadily. Adverse conditions have reduced the prospects in Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska and South Dakota. In the heart of the corn belt—Illinois, Indiana and Iowa—conditions have been favorable.

Iowa Corn Spotty.

The crop in Iowa is spotty but for the state as a whole the outlook is good. Illinois' prospects are excellent and Indiana is looking forward to a good harvest.

The crop got a late start and before the season is out it is expected frost scares will be experienced. With reasonably favorable weather, however, the returns should prove satisfactory.

New crop corn futures gained more than a cent a bushel in the Chicago market last week, while wheat was losing about a cent a bushel. Trading was quiet during most of the week but prices showed sudden strength Saturday when the Bennett report was released.

NATIONAL INCOME RISES 10 TO 15 PCT. DURING LAST YR.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—A world economic review prepared by the commerce department reports a 10 to 15 per cent increase in American national income in 1934. Many problems await solution, the report indicated, but "economic conditions in the United States improved further" last year. This nation, the report said, had demonstrated a "basis" for additional recovery.

"An outstanding phenomenon of the year," it added, "was the increase in the income of the agricultural population notwithstanding one of the most severe drouths in our history."

Problems carried over into 1935 were given as a continued large volume of unemployment; national debt increases because of relief measures; price disparities; low construction activity, and restricted capital goods business.

In the United Kingdom, the report said, general conditions continued good, but in France a decline in business activity was noted. German agricultural development was reported "relatively unfavorable" as was foreign trade, and industry became more dependent on the domestic market. In Russia, "as measured by soviet standards," progress was made in all fields of activity.

Bank Journal Finds No Sign of Early Boom

The business outlook is favorable, but there is nothing in the present situation to justify an early boom, according to the September issue of Banking, publication of the American Bankers association.

"If anything of that kind occurs in stocks, land, and general price level, it would be unfortunate," the magazine comments. "There have been several false dawns since 1930, but the courage now in evidence seems quite different from previous instances of whistling in the dark. It rests to a large degree on temporary relief from anxiety and a realization that the American system of private enterprise is not in jeopardy for the time being.

Postpone Day of Reckoning.

"It also rests on a human willingness to postpone the day of reckoning with federal deficits, prospective taxation, the presence of millions of citizens supported by public funds and wielding tremendous power, and with other matters almost equally serious.

"Whether confidence is the cause or effect of improving conditions is unimportant; it is enough to know that the two have been going along together.

"Statistically, the position of the country is well up from the low points of 1932-33, and is rising toward what should normally be a period of substantial growth in national wealth and higher living standards.

"In previous depressions recovery was usually induced by a combination of economy in government, the development of new industries, the easing of credit, and the availability of land for pioneers. The situation today is different.

Federal Spending Sets Record.

"Good land for homesteading is scarce, and so are pioneers. The government is competing with business and spending more money than ever before. In the face, therefore, of unprecedented difficulties and hazards, private business must eventually absorb the unemployed and also find the money to pay for relief and emergency spending."

Fortunately, the review states, one industry described by the "inadequate word 'housing'" is emerging according to predictions. The large number of businesses and products affected by this industry is cited.

"While the banking act of 1935 is distinctly a compromise, it is also distinctly constructive," the publication asserts. "It has preserved intact all the good points in the federal reserve system as developed in over 20 years of practical operations and has corrected some of the weak points which the operations of 20 years have disclosed.

Demands for Credit Met.

"It has met all legitimate demands for liberalization of credit while retaining safeguards for credit control and sound collateral for the currency. The act has met all legitimate demands for the centralization of credit and currency in keeping with the trend of the times. It has strengthened supervisory powers where more strength was needed, and its general effect is to establish a more compact and manageable banking system without depriving unit banks of privileges they have enjoyed and valued. It is by no means a perfect banking instrument, but it is an improvement upon the system it succeeds."

Edward E. Brown to Preside at Banking Commencement

Edward E. Brown, president of the First National Bank of Chicago, will deliver the address and present diplomas at graduation exercises of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Banking Sept. 9. More than 200 chapters of the institute, meeting at the same time in various cities of the country, will listen simultaneously to a radio address to be given over a national network by Dr. Rufus B. von Kleinsmid, president of the University of Southern California.

Says Foreign Field Offers Good Spot for U.S. Aviation

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Poor's Publishing company has released a special survey of the aircraft industry in which it is contended that the foreign field is a bright spot for manufacturing of airplanes, engines and aviation equipment. The total volume of aircraft exported in 1934 was $17,662,938, nearly double that of 1933 and 37 per cent of the country's total production.

DIVIDEND PAYMENTS IN AUGUST EXCEED TOTAL PAID IN 1934

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—Dividends declared in August were larger in the aggregate than in the preceding month and a year ago. The improvement, however, was not general, increases in several lines of industry slightly offsetting smaller payments in other classifications. Shareholders were voted $258,294,458 in dividends by 674 corporations in August, compared with $172,504,763 declared by 785 companies in July, and $247,470,283 by 627 firms in August, 1934.

Of the fifteen groups into which the payments were divided, eight showed larger totals this year for August than in the same month of 1934. The greatest gains were scored in the copper, motor equipment, tobacco and railroad categories. Smaller payments were featured in the public utility, chain stores, and food and packing classifications.

Outstanding favorable actions taken on dividends last month were the raising of the regular rate on General Motors common from 25 to 50 cents and, in addition, declaring a 25 cent extra dividend; an increase in the Du Pont rate to 90 cents quarterly from 65 cents, together with an extra payment of 35 cents; resumption of dividends on Douglas Aircraft common, with the payment of 75 cents; an initial dividend of 30 cents, on Atlas corporation common, and a back dividend of $7 on Container Corporation of America 7 per cent preferred.

Unfavorable actions included a reduction in the quarterly rate on standard brands common from 25 to 20 cents.

AAA SENDS OUT $30,886,763 IN CORN HOG PAYMENTS

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—The AAA said today it had sent $30,886,763 worth of checks to corn-hog producers during August as first payments under the 1935 adjustment contracts.

Claude R. Wickard, chief of the corn and hogs sections, said 448,856 checks were mailed from Washington in the period starting July 27, when distribution of first payments was begun, and ending Aug. 30. Approximately $85,000,000 will go to farmers in the first instalment.

The final instalment of about $10,000,000 falls due after Jan. 1. Wickard said 517,017 corn-hog contracts—more than half the 1935 contract total—already have been received here for auditing and final acceptance.

First payments to date saw producers in eight states receiving more than a million dollars. Iowa led the list with $8,100,334 and was followed by Nebraska, $3,576,802; Missouri, $3,183,333; Indiana, $2,833,023; Minnesota, $2,350,294; Kansas, $1,938,911; Ohio, $1,473,748, and Illinois, $1,266,602.

ITALIAN DEBTS TO BRITISH FIRMS NEAR 10 MILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—British exporters saw hopes of a settlement on debts due from Italy recede further into the background tonight when the board of trade issued its weekly statement on the position of the Anglo-Italian payments account. The statement showed nearly $10,000,000 is still due.

At the request of the Italian Exchange institute figures were added to the usual board of trade statement showing the amount owed by British firms to Italians. These figures show that the total outstanding indebtedness is far less than the sum due to British firms. Against $3,651,000 owing Italy there is $9,744,000 due Britain.

NEW SECURITY OFFERS LOWEST IN 3 MONTHS

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—New securities publicly offered here in August made the smallest total in three months, but were larger than a year ago. Bond issues, with but few exceptions, were for smaller face amounts, while stock issues marketed came to only a fraction of the total for July.

The combined total of both classes of flotations was $230,278,000, of which $223,878,000 represented 29 bond issues and $5,400,000 two stock issues, compared with $531,264,000 for July, when 40 bond issues accounted for $505,319,000 of the total and two stock issues $25,945,000.

Advance Date of Auto Show to Aid Labor

New York, Sept. 1.—[Special.]—By holding the annual automobile show in November, two months earlier than usual, the automobile industry will greatly revise its seasonal curve of business this year, according to automobile executives. It is expected that in the fourth quarter of this year, normally the slowest from the standpoint of production, the output of cars will actually exceed that of the third quarter, and will be twice as large as it was in the fourth quarter of last year.

Production of cars and trucks in the United States and Canada this year will total about 3,700,000 units, it is estimated. This compares with last year's output of 2,904,100 units.

Fourth Quarter Production.

In the fourth quarter of last year production totaled 402,000 units. This year's gain in production in the final quarter will be made partly at the expense of the third quarter of the year and partly at the expense of the first quarter of next year.

The aim of the earlier automobile show is to level off the peaks and valleys of employment in the industry. In response to the suggestion of President Roosevelt the automobile manufacturers agreed to hold their annual show in November instead of in January. The individual manufacturers will introduce their new models, in accordance with this agreement, in the two month period before Nov. 2, when the show opens, but can delay the presentation until two months after the show.

Expect All to Coöperate.

If individual manufacturers delay the offering of the new models until after Jan. 1 the success of the early presentation will be endangered, automobile executives believe. A company which offered its new model several months after its competitors could not only adopt features of design which had found popularity, but could add new principals which would place the competitors at a disadvantage. However, it is believed that the entire industry will coöperate in making the early automobile show a success.

TRADE IN STOCK MARKET LIVELY DURING AUGUST

Volume Largest for Month Since '32.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—Although prices ended only slightly above where they were at the beginning of the month, August was an exceptionally good month for stock business. The biggest turnover for one day was on the 26th, when 2,426,000 shares exchanged hands, and Friday of last week was the smallest day, when well under a million shares were traded in. During 27 days of trading it was the most active August since 1932.

In spite of congressional handicaps, of spotty crops and of preparations abroad for another war, the summer has been progressive.

Looking Into Future.

A slight taste of what may come was had last week. For nearly a month the government bond market has acted tired, and the banks, which principally have supplied the treasury's needs, have found their rôles as investment trusts in government bonds less profitable.

Coming at a poor time the treasury offered a four year 1½ per cent note issue of the Federal Farm Mortgage corporation, guaranteed unconditionally. The amount asked was $100,000,000 and the treasury, asking for bids, was able to get only 85 per cent and a price of 99, when government credit has been riding higher.

Dislike Auction Sale.

Actually the week's dud in treasury finance seems to have fallen because of poor choice of method, rather than because of the weakening of government credit. It was an auction sale, whereas the market had declared its preference for a set price.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS POINT-OF-SHOPPING ADVERTISING!

Newspaper advertising has one asset which no other advertising has!

It is point-of-shopping advertising—consciously sought and read when the man, woman or child is definitely looking for something to buy.

Numerous checks of reading habits demonstrate that newspaper readers give as much attention to advertising as to news columns.

Sales of retail stores total millions of dollars daily because the retailers are able to describe and picture merchandise, give its price and tell where it may be bought with least effort and loss of time.

Newspaper advertising creates buying action. It is local. It is sought. It is read at the time the prospect is actively planning to buy!

Building Journal Asks End to Federal Meddling.

Terming administration pump priming "insane spending," the American Builder in its current issue urges the government to halt its interference in everybody's business, ostensibly to benefit some at the expense of others. The plain purpose of almost every measure passed at the last session of congress was to influence votes, the journal charges.

"Since May, 1933, nearly every important 'recovery' policy of the government excepting the national housing act has retarded recovery," the review continues. "Vast expenditures to prime the pump have clogged, not primed, and piled up billions of national debt, most of which members of the 'middle class' will have to pay in taxes. Until the Supreme court killed it NRA hindered revival of all durable goods industries, including home buildings."

Taxpayers Seek Sound Investment.

The magazine says that building and buying of homes are done by intelligent, thrifty taxpayers who can be "sold" only by making the cost of building or buying a good investment.

"In nearly every instance that the government has interfered in any industry it has increased the cost of production, ostensibly in the interest of labor, by increasing hourly wages," the magazine says. "It has injured every class, and especially labor, by preventing the large increase of production and employment in the durable goods industries that otherwise would have occurred. But for this retarding influence the depression would be virtually over in the United States—as in England and many other countries."

Opposes Federal Subsidies.

The magazine takes a stand against government subsidies to increase residential construction and asks the administration to give home building a fair chance to revive itself, by terminating all unnecessary spending and other policies that increase building costs.

"The administration deserves credit for having supported and helped make the act effective," American Builder adds. "However, recent reports from Washington declare the next 'big push' will be to increase residential construction. Subsidies are hinted at. The building industry should oppose any 'push' that involves increased use of taxpayers' money. That would be the best way to demoralize industry and hinder the revival in construction now under way.

Shows Upturn in Building.

"Contracts for residential construction in the first half of 1935 were 70 per cent larger than 1934 and 100 per cent above 1933. In July they were 120 per cent above 1934 and 150 per cent greater than in 1933.

"When the home building industry is making such progress it may well regard with suspicion and apprehension any proposal for a 'big push' emanating from Washington, whose experiments, reforms, and gigantic spending already have needlessly prolonged the depression two years."

Jesse B. Smith to Push Drive to Boost Flour Use

Jesse B. Smith is to become full time president of the Millers' National federation, effective Oct. 1, according to an announcement made yesterday by George Livingston, executive vice president of the association. In accepting the new position Smith will leave the Shellabarger Mill and Elevator company, with which he has been connected for more than 35 years. Smith will supervise the nation-wide campaign to increase flour consumption.

Building Contract Awards Run Far Ahead of Year Ago

The Standard Statistics Co. says building contract awards during the first two weeks of August made the best comparative showing thus far this year, running 56 per cent above those for the like period a year ago. Residential contracts increased 120 per cent.

Signs of Recovery.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—One index of business recovery is film advertising, a costly but extremely effective medium. It is therefore the first to feel a reduction in the advertising budget.

Herman A. DeVry, Inc., motion equipment manufacturer, reports the largest volume of orders in its history for motion picture equipment from big business firms. The latest order was for 25 complete sound units for the International Harvester company, bringing that firm's total to 67 pieces of equipment. Goodyear ordered 45 sixteen millimeter projectors, while Firestone, Armstrong Cork, and Standard Oil have given quantity orders recently to augment their talkie advertising campaigns. As these units cost $500 apiece, and the sound films many thousands more, these purchases indicate a gratifying confidence in the immediate business outlook.

The Error Was Pardonable.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—I was a little surprised to see the large headlines in this morning's TRIBUNE containing a misstatement of fact. Your headline read "U. S. Gives City 32 Million Dollars." Should not the "U. S." have read "W E"? EARL A. MANN.

FOREIGN NATIONS MAY REGISTER BONDS WITH SEC

4½ Billion in Securities Is Subject of Study.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—[Special.]—While comment is being withheld, the belief in government and diplomatic circles now is said to be that after a period of negotiations which will fully inform foreign interests of the requirements, most of the 4 billion 500 million dollars in bonds of foreign governments and political subdivisions which are listed on the stock exchanges will obtain permanent registration with the securities and exchange commission.

Such an accomplishment was materially helped by the action of the securities and exchange commission last week in extending the date when permanent registration must be applied for and granted, if the trading privileges are to continue, until March 31, an extension of three months.

Officials Withhold Comment.

Except for the formal announcement that the commission was ready to explain or clarify any of the requirements of the registration form, SEC officials have withheld comment. This announcement, however, has opened the way for discussions concerning the scope and detail of information which is required by the questions asked, and in this connection the SEC has authority to use its discretionary powers.

This does not imply that the government is prepared to withdraw the present registration form or accept information which does not supply what it believes is necessary to give full protection to investors in the United States. In some quarters, however, it has been interpreted as meaning that in the end a situation will work out where, generally, the foreign nations will meet the conditions finally determined.

There are several aspects to the situation from the point of view of the foreign interests, one of them the effect that refusal to meet the conditions and thus bring about delisting of the bonds would have upon the reception of new issues which eventually, it is believed, will be marketed in this country by some of the foreign nations.

Time Extension Sought.

Stock exchange members, as indicated by the visit here of Charles R. Gay, president of the New York Stock exchange, to seek an extension of time before the permanent registration requirements became effective, are anxious that every opportunity be given to the issuers to negotiate and eventually to seek registration.

The more general belief in investment circles, it is said, is that a forced delisting of any appreciable amount of the bonds, which would then be thrown into the over-the-counter markets, would result in considerable confusion in trading in the securities, and possibly a fall in the quoted prices of some of them, which would be adverse to the interests of United States holders.

With a six months' breathing spell granted for negotiations, the feeling in financial circles here is that because of the important economic and financial issues involved a satisfactory solution of the problem will be reached.

U. S. MAINTAINS PLACE IN TRADE WITH ARGENTINA

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Facing strenuous competition in Argentina, richest of South American markets, Uncle Sam is holding his own against the Japanese business threat and a general European trade drive.

As Argentina increased its purchases from abroad in step with its gradual economic improvement, United States sales rose to about $22,000,000 for the 1935 half year in comparison with $19,000,000 for the first half of 1934. Great Britain, foremost purveyor to Argentina, retained its front rank position with sales amounting to $33,700,000 in an increase comparable to that of the United States.

Japan, which in 1934 and 1933 failed to penetrate the Argentine market as she had done in Chile, Peru and the other west coast republics of South America, edged into the field in a big way with sales totalling $7,000,000. The Japanese trade invasion made itself felt mostly in textiles.

Argentina maintained her usual favorable foreign trade balance by virtue of increased exports. The biggest export gain was in shipments to the United States which, during the first seven months of the year totalled $48,500,000.

Traction Lines Carry More Passengers During July

The report of the American Transit association for July says there were substantial increases in the number of revenue paying passengers carried on city, interurban, and rapid transit lines throughout the United States and Canada. The largest increase was that of 10.5 per cent in the surface lines in cities of 100,000 to 250,000 population.

Leonard, Successors as Trustees to Chicago Trust Company and Harold G. Townsend at one hundred three per cent (103%) of the par or face value thereof and accrued interest to November 1, 1935, and that upon presentation of said bonds, and the appropriate coupons appertaining thereto, for cancellation at the office of the Corporate Trustee, Central Republic Trust Company, Chicago, Illinois, on or after November 1, 1935, the redemption price of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon up to November 1, 1935, will be paid to the person entitled to receive the same, and that from and after such date interest thereon will cease to accrue.

WEST VIRGINIA WATER SERVICE COMPANY,
C. C. MacDONALD,
Secretary.

DECLINE IN U. S. BONDS FEATURES WEEK'S MARKET

Company Liens Unsettled, but Lose Little.

New York, Sept. 1.—(AP)—Another period of declining prices for United States government issues attracted the major share of attention in the bond market last week.

Domestic corporation loans, unsettled by a variety of news developments in the closing days of congress, registered minor losses along with other financial markets, but on the whole recessions were small and the list displayed strong recuperative power on each dip.

There was little in the way of specific news to affect any one group more than another with the exception of gossip concerning the merger of several railroads now in receivership. Bonds of the systems mentioned in these rumors picked up a point or so, but the movement was not general.

New Haven Rail Issues Rise.

New Haven issues also were beneficiaries of special news developments and moved ahead rather vigorously when announcement was made by the management that interest and maturities would be taken care of next month.

Public utility bonds were under pressure after congress passed the modified version of the holding company bill, but attracted enough support on dips to hold losses within bounds. Selective buying even lifted some issues moderately.

Failure of the treasury to receive enough bids to cover the $100,000,000 Federal Farm Mortgage corporation offering was easily the high spot of news developments affecting government finance. Trading in government bonds accounted for more than the average part of the week's total sales of around $67,000,000, par value.

Debate Causes for Decline.

While government bond dealers have criticized the "auction" method of raising new money for the treasury, it was believed in well informed quarters that their dislike of this procedure was only partly the cause of the undersubscription. It was due, most quarters believed, to the unwillingness of banks and other investors to extend active positions on a large scale while government obligations were declining.

The recovery on Thursday, said by some to have been partly due to official support, was followed by renewal of nervousness, accentuated by the absence from Wall street of many brokers and traders, who began the Labor day holiday early.

Several refunding issues were put through or whipped in shape for offering, including one by the Philadelphia company.

LABOR BOARD HEAD OUTLINES GROUP'S POWER

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—(AP)—J. Warren Madden, chairman, reminded workers tonight that the new labor relations board's powers were "expressly limited" by the constitution to practices affecting interstate commerce. His first discussion of the Wagner labor disputes law apparently sought to draw an early distinction between interstate and intrastate powers—a difference which overthrew NRA and has threatened other New Deal laws.

"The board's powers are expressly limited to the prevention of unfair labor practices 'affecting commerce,' and 'commerce' is expressly defined as interstate or foreign commerce, except as to territories and the District of Columbia," Madden said.

"The consequence of these limitations set by the constitution upon the powers of congress, and by the terms of the act itself, is that the powers of the board will not apply to a number of situations where there are unfair labor practices but where these practices do not affect nor tend to create a situation which will affect the free flow of commerce."

The steel, automobile, and rubber industries are understood to be ready to challenge the Wagner act's constitutionality if the new board makes any ruling against them. Counsel for these industries have contended that manufacturing is not a part of commerce, and, hence, congress is without power to regulate their labor relations.

Sterling Brewers, Inc.

Answer: Sterling Brewers, Inc., Evansville, Ind., was reorganized in June, 1933, to succeed Sterling Products company. The company's experience has been somewhat better than that of most of the companies that were hastily organized when production and sale of beer was legalized in 1933.

Sales for the first sixteen weeks of 1935 were $262,000, against $246,000 in the corresponding 1934 period. Net sales for 1934 were $3,223,000, against sales of $1,030,000 for 1933. Net income in 1934 was $284,000, or 57 cents a share, against profit of $73,000, or 15 cents a share, for 1933.

On Dec. 31, 1934, current assets, including $248,000 cash assets, totaled $479,000 and current liabilities were $300,000. There was no funded debt. Capitalization consists solely of 500,000 shares of $1 par capital stock.

An initial dividend of 7½ cents a share was paid on Dec. 20, 1934. Another of equal amount was paid July 20, 1935. The stock is speculative at present.

Subject to Confirmation.

Investors' Guide: Upon request I received from a bond house quotations on real estate bonds which I own. Heading the quotations was this sentence, "Subject to confirmation, we will pay . . ." Just what does this mean?—D. F. R.

Answer: When quotations are furnished "subject to confirmation" it means that the broker does not guarantee that he will be able to fill all orders at the prices quoted. He merely invites the client to place an order at the prices mentioned, but will not assume any liability that the order will be filled at that price unless he confirms the order.

The bulk of offers to sell or offers to buy by brokers are made in this method in order to guard themselves against fluctuations of the market during the period between making of the offer and the acceptance.

Eversole Metal Mining.

Investors' Guide: I have in my possession several thousand shares of Eversole Metal Mining company. What is its condition and what is the value of the stock?—E. H.

Answer: Eversole Metal Mining Company., Inc., was incorporated in Arizona on March 25, 1907. Since then it has never filed annual reports or paid corporate taxes. Accordingly, it is impossible to find any trace of the organization. We are unable to find any market for the stock and regard it as worthless.

BURNHAM'S

ACT NOW

It is to your particular advantage to register now even if you cannot start your course until later. Call, phone, or write at once.

The easy-to-learn Burnham System quickly enables you to become a skilled beauty operator. Plenty of living models. You learn by doing rather than by studying. Each teacher a specialist. Fewer pupils per teacher; 64 years' knowing how to teach gives you a flying start.

SEE FOR YOURSELF WHY MORE GIRLS ENROLL IN BURNHAM'S THAN IN ANY OTHER BEAUTY SCHOOL.

BURNHAM'S AWARDS TRIPS TO PARIS TO STUDENT. Geneve Huffman, winner of semi-annual Burnham scholarship for efficiency while in training, sailed June 19 on S. S. Manhattan with all expenses paid. Burnham's offers opportunities not found elsewhere.

HOTELS AND APARTMENT HOTELS.

The Bryn Mawr Apt. Hotel
BRYN MAWR AT KENMORE-AV.

1. EXCELLENT LOCATION.

2. APARTMENTS.
[Have to be seen to be appreciated.] The apts. are tastily furnished and the rooms are unusually large [some 22 ft. long]. Only a woman really appreciates the following features: Separate kitchens large enough for 2 to work in—high grade linens—attractive china and silverware—large outside bathrooms done in ivory—full length mirror in bathroom door—6x8 ft. dressing closet—innerspring mattresses—drapes and furniture that are colorful—24 hour hotel service.

3. WHO LIVES HERE?
The vast majority of our guests are conservative and home-loving people. Many of them looked in more than 20 buildings before they finally decided in favor of us.

4. MONTHLY RATES AS LOW AS:
1 ROOM AT $45.
2 ROOMS AT $60.
3 ROOMS AT $95.

Come and see what there is about the Bryn Mawr that makes it so well liked.

NEAR NORTH SIDE
It's wonderful to live where you can get home early to dinner, and when you go out in the evening, still get your full night's rest and is only a short walk to the office in the morning. Studios with high ceilings, perhaps a bungalow, apartments that are unusual, all with fireplaces and not so far from the lake. We are glad to make little changes that you personally may suggest.

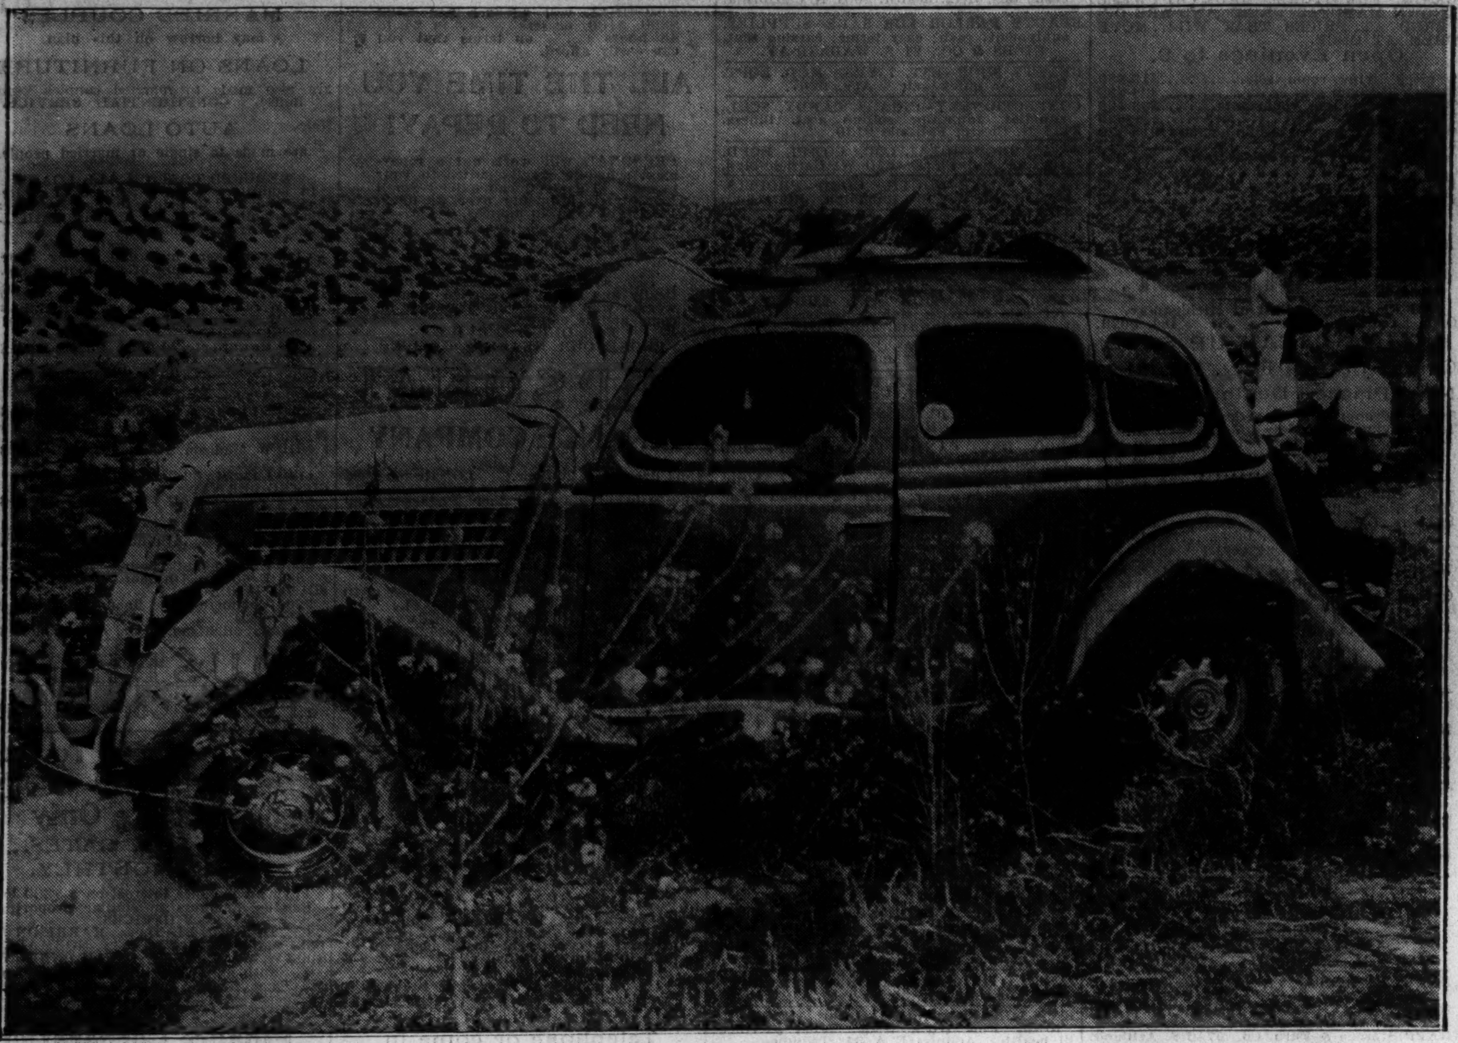
Exclusive Pictures of Automobile Crash Which Killed Mrs. Harold L. Ickes and Injured Three Others



DITCHED AUTOMOBILE IN WHICH MRS. ICKES WAS KILLED—Photograph taken by Attorney John Irving Pearce of Chicago immediately after accident Saturday which caused the death of the wife of the secretary of the interior. The scene is on Route 64 at Velarde, N. M., 40 miles north of Santa Fe. Secretary Ickes left Washington yesterday for funeral in Chicago tomorrow. The car overturned four times and two of the victims were hurled through the top.
